Statistics department head dies

Funeral services for Dr. George E. Nicholson, 53, head of the UNC statistics department, were held Sunday in the University Methodist Church.

The Reverend Langill Watson officiated.

Nicholson, who had been the head of the department since 1952, died Friday following an illness of several months.

Medical examiner Robert Harrington attributed the cause of death to a self-inflicted bullet wound.

"This is a great loss to us," said Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson. "Professor Nicholson meant a lot to the students, the faculty and the whole life of the University."

A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., Nicholson received his B.S., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees from Chapel Hill.

After receiving his doctoral degree here in 1948, he joined the Statistics Department as a professor. During his tenure at the University he served on the Faculty Council, the Chancellor's Advisory Committee and the Graduate School Administrative Board.

He was also a member of the Governor's scientific Advisory Committee, the N.C. Board of Science and Technology and the Computer Advisory Committee of the N.C. Board of Higher Education.

Nicholson was a member of the Institute of Mathematical Statistics, a fellow of the American Statistical Association and a member of the Psychometric Society. He was also a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Nationally recognized for his excellence in statistics, he worked for the U.S. government during World War II on a number of projects. For his efforts he was awarded the Medal of Freedom by the U.S. Air Force.

Since the war he has served as a consultant to the government on guided missiles and on weapons evaluation committees in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Nicholson is survived by his wife, Mrs. George E. Nicholson; three sons, Britain and Patrick, all of Chapel Hill, and George E. Nicholson, with the U.S. Air Force in Formosa; his mother; one sister and two brothers.

The family has requested that those desiring to do so should make memorials to the Mollie Nicholson Fund of the University Methodist Church. Miss Nicholson, the Nicholson's only daughter, was killed in an automobile accident in South Carolina two years ago.

News in brief

U.S. attorneys to speak

Four U.S. Justice Department attorneys will speak today at four UNC classes and in the Student Union to promote discussion of department policies.

Informal discussion sessions will be held at 8 p.m. in rooms 202-204 and 214-215 of the Union. Prof. Henry Landsberger's 1 p.m. sociology 52 class in Carroll Hall will be open to the public.

Landsberger helped to coordinate the attorneys' visit in conjunction with the School of Law and Carolina Union, according to Toby Cozart, chairman of the Carolina Union Current Affairs Committee.

The four attorneys, who are touring the country, are Tim Oliphant, special attorney, Criminal Division; Organized Crime and Racketeering; Robert Johnson, senior trial attorney, Civil Rights Division, Criminal Section; Institutions Unit; William M. Lenck, assistant chief's council, Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs; and Steve Glasgow, trial attorney, Pollution Sections, Department of Lands Division.

AFROTC offers more grants

The Air Force ROTC is offering more scholarships to students interested in the Air Force flight program.

A scholarship AFROTC cadet receives tuition, fees, books, uniforms and a $100 per month subsistence allowance. After graduation, he would be commissioned as second lieutenant and attend a one-year flight school. The obligation would be for four years after flight school.

Eligible for the scholarship are all two-year AFROTC applicants who complete an officer qualifying test and are in good physical health. Freshmen not in ROTC may qualify for a three-year scholarship. Prior servicemen may apply for a two-year scholarship, provided their graduation precedes their 25th birthday.

Anyone interested in applying for one of the scholarships should contact Capt. Dennis Gilchrist at the Air Force detachment in Lenior Hall or call at 933-2074.

PICTURE YOURSELF AS A PAULIST.

First, picture a religious Community. A Community founded by an American convert in, and for, the benefit of North America. Picture a founder who was a century ahead of his time. A man with a vision that came true. A man with a belief that a Community could be modern and flexible enough to meet the needs of the Church in every age as they arise. A Community that wouldn't lag behind the times on leaden feet. A Community that would communicate through the spoken and printed word and one that wouldn't be hampered by specific activities when new needs arise.

Next, picture the men in this new Community. They would be flexible. Each one would use his own individual talents in his own way and would be given the freedom to do so.

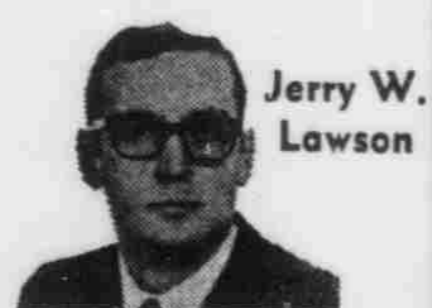

These are the Paulists. The modern religious Community. Keeping pace with the times. Concerned. Involved.

If you can picture yourself as a Paulist, why not write for more information to: Rev. Donald C. Campbell, C.S.P., Vocation Director, Room No. 400 paulist fathers.
