

News in brief

Legislature in low gear

Newly elected legislators will be sworn in at the Student Legislature (SL) meeting tonight.

The only other business on the agenda will be possible consideration of a resolution by Reps. Gary Rendsburg and Dave Gephart endorsing George McGovern for president.

Until the new legislature's committees are elected, SL can do very little business.

The committees cannot be elected until all new legislators have been sworn in. New legislators from districts where elections have been challenged in the student elections cannot yet be sworn in. The Student Supreme Court has enjoined SL from swearing in challenged legislators.

The resolution endorsing McGovern will be brought up for immediate consideration, without going through any of the legislature's committees. The body will have to vote, by a two thirds majority, to consider the bill before the bill itself is voted on.

Until the new committees are elected, all business in the SL will have to be handled in this way.

Committee elections have been planned for next week, but the elections can only be held then if all challenges to SL races now before the Supreme Court are thrown out, and the winners confirmed.

If any challenges are successful, committee elections will have to wait until the SL elections are repeated and the new winners sworn in.

SG presidents

A majority of North Carolina Student Government presidents support Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern, according to a recent poll taken by Robert Thompson, state student coordinator for the McGovern campaign.

All 49 student presidents in the state were questioned between October 16 and 27. Thirty-one, or 63 percent, supported McGovern, while eight, or 16 percent, chose President Richard Nixon. Eight presidents could not be reached or refused to comment, and two were undecided.

A further breakdown of poll results showed that 10 leaders, or 63 percent, in the 16 state-supported colleges and 21 leaders, or 64 percent, in the state's 33 private colleges support the Democratic nominee.

Eight student leaders could not be reached, and therefore were not included in the poll, Thompson said.

The poll "clearly shows the broad McGovern support of all campus leaders in North Carolina," he added.

Test forms due

Registration forms for the National Security Agency's Professional Qualifying Test are now available at the Placement Service in 211 Gardner. The test will be given December 9 on the UNC campus.

Any U.S. citizen and holder of, or candidate for, a bachelor's degree by February, 1974, is eligible to take the test.

Deadline for receipt of the registration forms is November 28.

Unity rally today

Students will be able to meet Democratic candidates for office in North Carolina and show their support for the Democratic ticket at a Democratic Unity Rally today in The Pit from 12:15 to 1:30 p.m.

The rally will be followed by an informal 15 minute gathering to allow students to meet and talk with the candidates.

Speeches by Chapel Hill Mayor Howard Lee, and former Democratic gubernatorial candidate Wilbur Hobby will highlight the rally, which is sponsored by the Young Democrats Club, the Orange County Democratic Party and campus groups campaigning for Democratic candidates.

If their schedules permit, John Ingram, candidate for Insurance Commissioner, and Jim Graham, candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture, will be present.

Local candidates for County Commissioner, State House and State Senate will attend the rally along with representatives of local and national Democratic campaigns.

Drexel to visit

David Drexel, Republican candidate for the N.C. House, will be on campus today in Room 217 of the Student Union from 1 to 3 p.m.

Anyone interested in Drexel's campaign is invited to come by and meet and talk with the candidate.

Dorm sign-up

The housing assignments office will open at 7 a.m. today, Friday and Monday to accommodate students who wish to sign up for new dorms for next semester.

Alderman, Alexander, Avery, Aycock, Graham, Lewis, Mangum, Stacy and Teague have already been filled, but students may put their names on a waiting list. As rooms become available, students will be assigned to them in the order in which they signed up.

Sign up for Cobb, Connor, Grimes, Mangum, Manly, Morrison, Parker, Ruffin and Teague will be held today.

Sign up for Alderman, Aycock, Ehringhaus, Everett, Graham, Kenan, Lewis, Melver and Stacy will be held Friday.

Sign up for Alexander, Avery, Carr, James, Joyner, Old East, Old West, Spencer and Whitehead will be held Monday.

No room changes may be made between November 8 and November 20 because the billing process will be in effect, although assignments will be made from the waiting list.

Room rent is due in full by December 15. Students may cancel room reservations until December 15. After that date, a fine of $25 will be charged if the room is not occupied second semester, even if the student has not paid room rent. No refunds will be made after the first day of classes.

Candidate series

Seven U.S. Presidential candidates will present their platforms tonight in a seven-program series over the UNC television network.

The 30-minute programs will be broadcast consecutively beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The line-up of candidates will be: 7:30 p.m., Louis Fischer, Socialist Labor Party; 8 p.m., Gus Hall, Communist Party; 8:30 p.m., George McGovern, Democrat; 9 p.m., E. Harold Munn, Prohibition; 9:30 p.m., Richard Nixon, Republican; 10 p.m., John Schmitz, American; 10:30 p.m., Benjamin Spock, People's Party.

The eighth candidate, Linda Jenness of the Socialist Worker's Party, has not yet agreed to participate.

The broadcast which is being presented in conjunction with the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) will be seen over the entire UNC-TV network, including Channel 4, Chapel Hill.

UNC-TV is one of 228 public-educational television affiliates across the country to which PBS has offered the seven half-hours.

Overseas work

With the semester almost over, many students are beginning to turn their thoughts toward Christmas holidays. The most ambitious probably plan to look for next summer's job over the holidays.

At tonight's meeting of the UNC chapter of AIESEC (International Association of Economics and Management Students), guest speaker Bill Hamlet will offer advice to those students who will be looking for summer jobs overseas. The meeting is at 7 p.m. in 107

Hanes Hall.

Hamlet, who is working on his master's degree in business administration here, worked in the Central Bank of Turkey in Izmir, Turkey, last summer as a participant in the UNC AIESEC program. He will discuss what it's like to work in a foreign country.

Hamlet was one of 5,000 AIESEC members from all over the world who traveled to another country last summer to take internships in semi-management positions. AIESEC is a Brussels-based international reciprocal job exchange program for students interested in business, economics and management. The program is designed to provide students with jobs which combine practical business experience with a chance to travel abroad. Membership is open to anyone who has one course in business or economics.

Since applications for taking part in the traineeship program are due in the middle of December, tonight's introductory meeting is mandatory for anyone planning to apply.

Class evaluation

A course evaluation booklet compiled last year will be distributed free at the Student Union information desk after noon today.

The booklet, compiled by the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity and Pi Beta Phi sorority, evaluates professors, their teaching methods, courses and course requirements.

Debating results

Northwestern University defeated Emory University in the Tar Heel Invitational debate held on campus last week by a 3-0 decision.

Around 70 teams from colleges all over the east coast entered the tournament - the largest entrance ever.

UNC entered several teams in the pre-elimination rounds, but as the host team, could not enter the elimination rounds.

Teams who won the pre-elimination rounds and advanced to the elimination rounds were: Northwestern, Seton Hall, Wake Forest, William and Mary, Cornell, Southern Illinois, Kentucky and Emory.

The next event to be participated in by UNC debate teams is the Wake Forest Novice Tournament.

Xmas card sale

The North Carolina Diabetes Association will sponsor a Christmas card sale now through December 10 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Samples of more than 400 different cards will be available at the NCDA central office, Room 3, in the Ogburn Building, 412 West Franklin St.

One half of the purchase price is tax-deductible.

Men don aprons

Men will be wearing the aprons Saturday night when local Democrats sponsor a benefit supper for McGovern-Shriver.

In an attempt to dispel the label of "male chauvinist pigs," Orange County Democratic men are invading the kitchen to cook for a covered dish supper which will be held at Chapel Hill's Community Church from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Coordinators for the event open to everyone are Richard Huddleston and Rev. James Riddle.

Tickets will be $3 for adults, $2.25 for students and $1.50 for children and may be purchased by calling McGovern-Shriver headquarters at 942-8702 or by calling Seth Effron at 933-6254.

According to the coordinators, the supper is being held Saturday, "so no matter how much ptomaine poisoning occurs, the 250 expected people should be able to make it to the polls on election day."
