

Lynn wins SE epee; Tar Heels place high

Nine members of the UNC fencing teams took part in the southeast sectionals of the Amateur Fencers' League of America (AFLA) May 23-26 in Tallahassee, Fla. It was not a team tournament, but Coach Ron Miller was pleased by the performances turned in by several UNC team members.

UNC assistant coach Dave Lynn, took top honors in the epee competition and will go to Los Angeles for the AFLA nationals. Lynn was the first ever UNC All-American in fencing. Kevin Gallagher reached the epee finals before being eliminated.

Travis Hanes, who took sixth place in the epee, captured second in sabre, while Dan Strait battled his way into the sabre semifinals before losing.

In the foil competition, Dave Lynn took fourth place, and Travis Hanes made it to the semis.

In the women's bouts, UNC's Alison

Barrett placed third in the senior foil, and Jody McKee reached the semifinals.

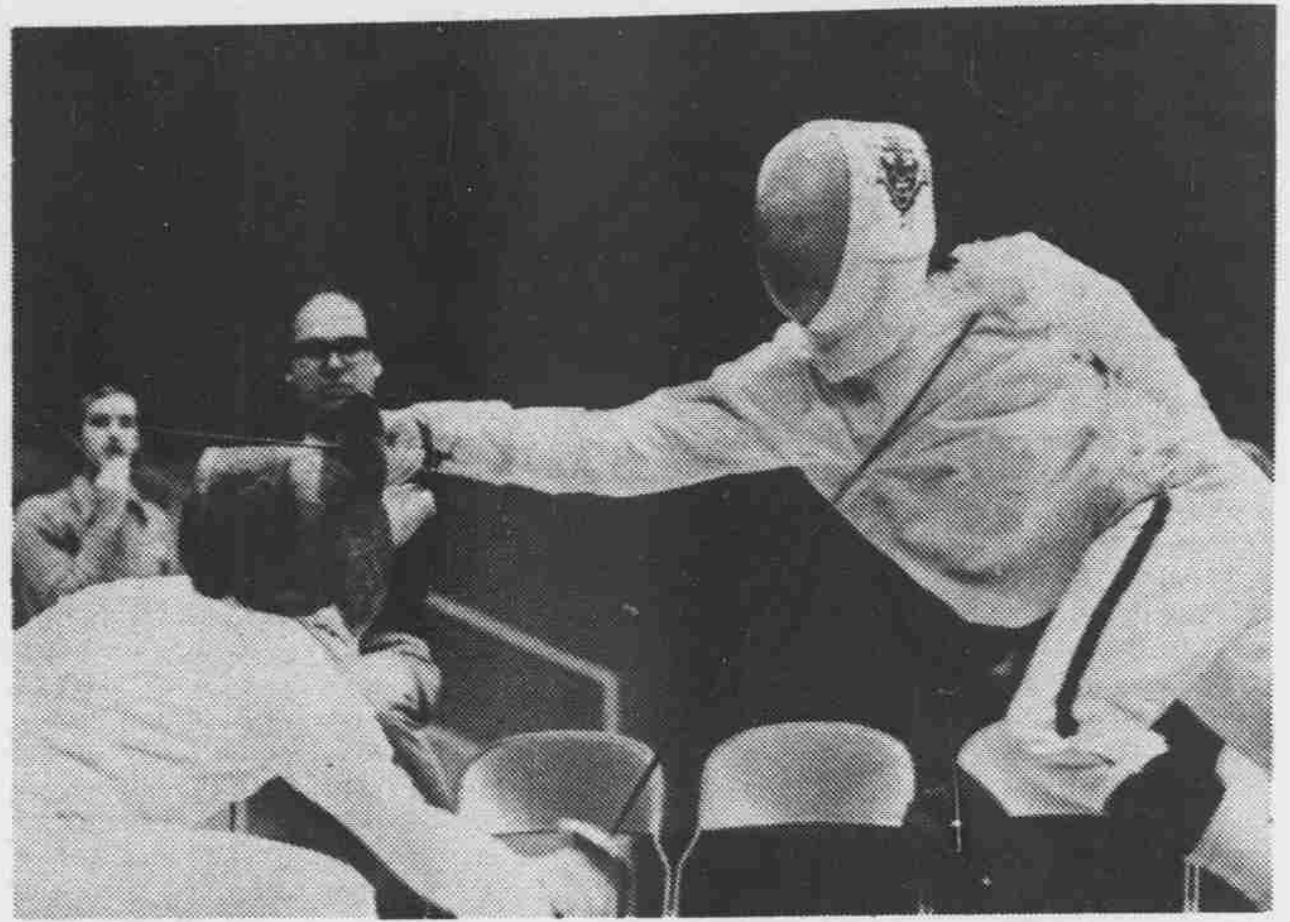

Kathi Kronenfeld, who placed fourth in the senior division, took top honors in the under-19 foil battles.

UNC's men's team, which has been ACC champs since the conference first adopted the sport in 1970, lost only one meet this past year—to national champs Wayne State.

Coach Miller feels the squad will be strong again next year. "We graduated five seniors, but we'll have enough to fill in adequately," he predicted.

The women's team, which had a 7-2 record this past year, and was ranked eighth nationally, also figures to be tough. Miller was especially optimistic after the fine performances of "our younger girls" at Tallahassee. Both Kathi Kronenfeld and Jody McKee are first-year participants.
