

Wake Forest quarterback Jerry McManus recovers one of four Deacon fumbles Saturday.

Wake surprises Carolina

Voight said he doesn't hold the coaches responsible for any lack of enthusiasm on the team, which is now 1-3 in the ACC. "It's a two-way sword—players and coaches."
In the first half Wake opened with an 87-yard drive, notched by quarterback Jerry McManus's four-yard pass to running back John Zeglinski. They, along with running back Clark Gaines, accounted for 204 of Wake's 347 yards on the ground. McManus also completed nine of 11 passes for an additional 116 yards.
The Carolina defense kept Wake in its own territory for the rest of the first quarter, and Carolina put a tying 7-7 score on the Kenan Stadium board with a second quarter touchdown. The 92-yard push consumed over six minutes, as Voight went high-stepping into the end zone from 15 yards out. The teams exchanged punts until halftime and each went into the locker room with nine first downs and 142 yards rushing.

Early in the second half, the Deacons had first down and goal at the six-yard line. Bobby Gay, Bill Perdue, Duke Thompson and Ronnie Dowdy made key hits on Gaines and Frank Harsh, as the defense repelled Wake on fourth and inches from the goal. The ball went to UNC, but four plays later Johnny Elam's punt fell into the hands of Zeglinski, who circularly spun off a tackler at almost midfield, followed his blockers and scored on a run down the UNC sideline. That put Wake ahead 14-7, and deflated the UNC defense, which gave up another TD early in the fourth quarter for 21-7.
Down a pair of touchdowns, the UNC offense still stayed with its ground attack in a critical fourth quarter drive that began with 10:39 left in the game. On third game and five at the Carolina 35, Voight picked up a first down but it was ruled no play because of a UNC holding penalty. That mistake was a fateful turning point.

Instead of first and 10 and approaching midfield, the Heels faced third and 19 at the Carolina 21. A few minutes later, Carolina got the ball again with 5½ minutes remaining, but fell short on a passing drive that went from its own 34 to the Wake one-yard line, where Voight was then thrown for a four-yard loss. Carolina's two points on a safety came with about a minute left when Wake got a bad snap from center on a punt. Voight said the four-yard loss was because he didn't hear what audible Paschall had called, and that in the drive with the holding penalty, a passing attack should not have necessarily been used. "When you're losing, you've got to do what you do the best and stick it down their throats."

"If you have a missed play, it means that you must try that much harder the next time around."

Zeglinski zigzags past Carolina Blue

by Jim Thomas
Assistant Sports Editor

Following Carolina's embarrassing 21-9 loss to Wake Forest Saturday one die-hard fan tried to console himself as he trudged out of Kenan Stadium.

Turning to his companion, he said, "Did you hear about Zeglinski's 'Polish Army'?" They sat over in Wallace Wade Stadium (Duke's stadium) for an hour before they finally figured out the game was over here. The joke brought a smile from his friend's face but both realized it was a weak effort. Wake Forest football jokes and Polish jokes are now things of the past, especially where John Zeglinski is concerned.

Zeglinski was a one-man show Saturday as his "Polish Army" had plenty to cheer about once they arrived. The Deacon halfback scored three touchdowns and piled up almost 200 yards in kickoff returns, rushing, punt runbacks and pass receptions.

Two of his touchdowns came on passes from quarterback Jerry McManus. The first was a four-yard reception in the first quarter, concluding an opening 87-yard drive in 12 plays, to give the Deacons a 7-0 lead. The second was a 22-yard pass in the fourth period. Zeglinski's third touchdown was a 45-yard punt return after UNC's Roc Brauman seemed to have him stopped for a loss. But Zeglinski kept his balance and streaked down the left sideline to break a 7-7 tie.

"I used his momentum to spin him around," Zeglinski said afterwards, "and luckily he fell off. Once I reached the wall of blockers the rest was easy."

While Zeglinski's performance sparked the Deacons, both coaches were quick to praise the play of McManus.

"I think McManus had his best game of the season," said Wake Forest Coach Chuck Mills. McManus, a transfer from Lees-McRae, completed nine of 11 passes for 116 yards and two touchdowns, rushed for 30 yards and kept three Deacon drives alive by recovering three of his teammates' fumbles. His two touchdown passes boosted his season total to 10, making him the first Wake quarterback to accomplish that feat since Norm Snead in 1960.

"McManus did a good job for Wake,"

UNC Coach Bill Dooley said. "He probably held one of the hottest hands I've seen in a long while."

"Overall, I'd have to say this was my best game," McManus concurred. "My passing percentage was working and the general play calling was good. But the line was really getting off the ball. We didn't pass any more than usual, we didn't bomb them to death."

Perhaps, the most crucial pick-up came with the score tied 7-7 early in the third quarter with Wake facing a third and seven on its own six-yard line. McManus rolled right in his own endzone and threw to split end Bill Milner just before he went out of bounds for a 14-yard gain to the 20.

V-ball reaches ASU semi's

The UNC women's volleyball team advanced to the semifinal round of the Appalachian State University (ASU) Invitational Tournament Friday and Saturday in Boone before being eliminated by Wake Forest. The Tar Heels won four matches and lost one in tournament play to raise their record to 17-8.

UNC went undefeated in its four-team bracket of the 16-team tournament to advance to the single elimination round. The Tar Heels, playing in pressure-packed games in almost every match, opened the tournament Friday by defeating Elon College and Western Carolina University. Carolina dropped the first game of the match with Elon 15-13 but won the next two 15-10 and 15-13. UNC then defeated Western Carolina by winning the first game 15-5, losing the second game 15-6 and taking the third 15-12.

Carolina defeated the last team in its bracket, Concord College, (West Va.), Saturday 15-4 and 15-10. In the first match of the single elimination round, the Tar Heels met East Tennessee State University (ETSU), the defending tournament champions. UNC defeated the favored Tennessee school in a closely-fought, three-game match. The Tar Heels defeated ETSU in the first game 13-11 as time ran out on the game clock. UNC lost the second game 14-9 and won the third game 15-13.

"The win over ETSU was our biggest of the tournament," said UNC Coach Beth Miller. "ETSU played very well and all the games we played were pressure-type games." The win over ETSU set the stage for the Tar Heels' third match this season against Wake Forest. The Deacons made it three in a row over the Tar Heels as UNC lost the first game 15-8, won the second 13-9 and lost the third 15-10.

Carolina plays its last tri-match of the season here Tuesday against Louisburg College and Guilford College at 6 p.m. in the Women's Gymnasium.

Harriers finish sixth in ACC

Duke's Robby Perkins captured first place and the Blue Devils had four others in the top 10 Saturday as they won the 22nd annual Atlantic Coast Conference cross country meet over defending champion and runner-up Maryland.

Duke had a team total of 23 points while the Terps gathered 38, N.C. State 114, Clemson 115, Virginia 122, North Carolina 133 and Wake Forest 189.

Number two Tar Heel runner Dave

Hamilton suffered a cramp with less than a mile to go, dropping him from 12th to 40th place as he walked over the finish line. Ralph King failed to challenge for the individual title and finished sixth.

UNC Coach Bill Lam lamented the Tar Heels' worst finish in this meet and the day when "everything went wrong. We ran the right kind of workouts and we should have been rested. It was more of a mental letdown." Lam said he will take only four runners to the upcoming District III meet.

Walter Spearman: I SHALL VOTE FOR JIMMY WALLACE BECAUSE:

He is the kind of man who would bring the various elements of Chapel Hill together in mutual work for the good of the town. He is old enough to have experience and young enough to have enthusiasm. He is enough of a successful businessman to understand sound finances but enough of a teacher-student to be willing to try new approaches. He has always placed human rights before property rights—and was a liberal political leader even before Anne Queen came to town. He has a sense of humor as well as a sense of duty; and he thinks politics as well as the environment should be clean. He is a Man for All Ages—especially the voting age.
