Patty's lawyers may appeal starting date of her trial

SAN FRANCISCO—Patricia Hearst's attorneys said Tuesday they will appeal a judge's decision to start her trial Dec. 15 if he refuses to reverse himself at a second hearing on her mental competence.

Al Johnson, attorney for the 21-year-old newspaper heiress, said she may be the first "mentally incompetent defendant in American jurisprudence knowingly put to trial."

He and his partner, F. Lee Bailey, said they will petition the Ninth U.S. Court of Appeals if Carter fails to alter his views at the Nov. 20 hearing in which the defense will seek to put court-appointed psychiatrists on the stand.

Bailey, who conferred with Carter Tuesday, said the judge distorted findings of the three psychiatrists and a psychologist who examined Miss Hearst in the San Mateo County Jail where she is held.

He said the psychiatrists supported defense contentions that she is "far from competent." Miss Hearst was kidnapped by the Symbionese Liberation Army Feb. 14, 1974. She later joined the group, but after her capture in San Francisco Sept. 18, she said she was brainwashed by the SLA.

Wallace enters presidential race Wednesday

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—Gov. George C. Wallace formally enters the Democratic presidential race Wednesday, claiming to represent the middle class and insisting he is healthy enough to serve if elected.

Wallace has scheduled a morning news conference to announce he will seek the nomination. He thus becomes the tenth Democrat contender to announce.

Wallace has been paralyzed from the waist down since he was critically wounded by an assassin's bullet in 1972, and he concedes his health will be an issue, although he says it shouldn't be. A two-week European tour last month was designed partly to show he is healthy enough to be president.

The race will be Wallace's fourth for the presidency, and the third as a Democrat. The first primary test of his appeal is expected to be in Massachusetts next March, where he hopes the busing issue will propel him to victory.

He plans to enter every primary after that, but will skip the nation's first primary in New Hampshire.

Wallace has led all announced Democratic candidates in the polls.

Ford criticizes Zionism resolution

WASHINGTON—President Ford Tuesday deplored the U.N. resolution calling Zionism a form of racism but indicated he will reject pressures to withdraw from the world body.

A State Department spokesman, however, announced the United States would retaliate for the Arab and Soviet-backed U.N. resolution by refusing to participate next year in the U.N. program "Decade for Action to Combat Racism," and refused to rule out the possibility the administration might also consider ending some financial support for the United Nations.

White House spokesmen issued Ford's comment one hour before the Senate—in an angry mood—unanimously approved a joint resolution urging Congress to "reassess further participation" of the United States in the U.N. General Assembly. The resolution, however, failed to win House approval.

"President Ford reaffirmed that the United States deplores the characterization of Zionism as a form of racism and believes that the adoption of this resolution undermines the principles on which the United Nations is based," White House spokesman William Greener said. "But he will not consider withdrawal."

Senate support for New York aid weak

WASHINGTON—A poll by UPI showed Tuesday that only 30 senators were ready now to vote for loan guarantees to keep New York City from defaulting on its debts but the city's cause gained ground elsewhere in Washington.

Three conservatives—Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns, House GOP Leader John Rhodes of Arizona, and Sen. James Buckley of New York—modified their previous opposition to federal aid to keep the city solvent and a House committee cleared away an obstacle to enactment of a loan guarantee bill.

Rhodes, breaking with President Ford, said he could support a plan to provide a short-term loan guarantee to enable the city to avoid bankruptcy. Ford has opposed any aid measures, proposing instead that Congress facilitate a bankruptcy proceeding.

Burns, addressing a caucus of House Republicans, appeared to soften his opposition to a loan guarantee, and said he would recommend action if financial markets "deteriorate" because of the prospect of a New York default.

GM official says company competes fairly

DETROIT—General Motors Chairman Thomas A. Murphy said Tuesday the giant auto company has nothing to fear from any government antitrust investigation because it has earned whatever share of the automobile market it holds.

"As long as we compete fairly, obey the laws and do the best job for the customer, I stand on our record," Murphy said in GM's first major response to reports of a possible antitrust suit. "I don't care who wants to inquire into it."

Murphy, in an interview with UPI, said GM officials have not been in touch with the Federal Trade Commission since reports began circulating over the weekend that the agency might recommend antitrust action by the Justice Department.

Murphy was critical, however, of the focus by the news media on an NBC report that he said "is basically rumor" but has a tremendous effect on the stock market and the economy. Neither the FTC nor the Justice Department would comment on what antitrust actions may be considered against GM.

Prosecutors investigate Gulf contributions

WASHINGTON—The Watergate special prosecutor's office said Tuesday it is investigating Gulf Oil Corporation's allegedly illegal campaign contributions to members of Congress between 1960 and 1972.

"There are still matters of investigation," a spokesman for the office said of the Gulf case.

The spokesman declined to be specific, but noted Gulf's problems in the 1972 election were covered in November, 1973, when the company and its chief Washington officer, Claude Wild Jr., pleaded guilty to violation of the federal campaign finance law in connection with $125,000 in contributions to the campaigns of Richard M. Nixon, Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., and Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.

The law prohibits the use of corporate money to finance campaigns of federal candidates.

UPI learned a former Gulf official told government investigators he delivered sealed envelopes allegedly filled with cash to at least 15 other present and former members of Congress between 1960 and 1972.
