Carter nominated for Nobel Prize

WASHINGTON (AP) — Resolutions proposing that President Carter be awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for his Middle East peace efforts were introduced Monday in both houses of Congress.

The Senate resolution, introduced by Delaware Republican William Roth, supported the Camp David summit agreements and placed the Senate on record as favoring the Nobel award to Carter, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

A similar suggestion was made in the House, where Rep. Ronald M. Mottl, D-Ohio, wrote the Nobel committee asking that Carter be given the prize "for his leadership in laying the foundation for a permanent and lasting peace."

Two American presidents, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson, have received the Nobel Peace Prize. Henry Kissinger received the award in 1975 while serving as secretary of state.

Meany attacks anti-inflation measures

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said Monday that workers would be victims of employer-enforced wage controls under the Carter administration's proposed plans to combat inflation.

In an address on the first day of the week-long United States Steelworkers convention, Meany said he is convinced the program, reportedly to include voluntary wage and price guidelines, would penalize the victims of inflation because it could not guarantee a balancing slowdown in rising prices.

A number of administration economists contend that large union wage settlements in recent years have been inflationary. They say some wage gains have exceeded 10 percent a year, keeping workers more than abreast with rising inflation.

Meany said, though, that rapidly rising food, housing and energy costs are the roots of inflation and that wages have only been trying to keep pace.

State allows joint nuke-plant ownership

RALEIGH (AP) — The N.C. Utilities Commission agreed Monday to allow 20 state communities to buy part of Duke Power Co.'s planned Catawba Nuclear Station.

The commission estimated that the purchase will save the municipalities $1.7 billion over the 30-year life of the plant. The plant is expected to be in operation in 1983.

The towns involved are Albemarle, Bostic, Cherryville, Concord, Cornelius, Drexell, Gastonia, Granite Falls, High Point, Huntersville, Landis, Lexington, Lincolnton, Maiden, Monroe, Morganton, Newton, Pineville, Shelby and Statesville. They have formed an agency called the North Carolina Municipal Power Agency Number 1.

New YMCA opens

The Chapel Hill-Carrboro YMCA opened its new $1.5 million facility today on Airport Road. The new structure now houses a 25-yard pool, a sauna and an exercise room, but construction won't be finished until next spring when gymnastic equipment will be added to the center.

HRC lecture to focus on arms race

The Henderson Lecture Series continues at 7:30 p.m. today in Connor lounge with "The Arms Race and SALT," a lecture by Joseph Krugel.

Krugel, assistant professor of political science at Duke University, was a member of the U.S. delegation to the Strategic Arms Limitations Talks from February 1970 to August 1972.

Krugel's credentials include three published articles related to SALT, "Arms Control at the Crossroads," "Arms Talks: Problems" and SALT II: The Search for a Follow-on Agreement."

Interested persons are invited to attend the speech and the reception following in Alexander lounge.

events I have experienced since I have been in political office."

Carter said the talks had produced "far more substance than anyone dreamed," and he added, "It's not just an outline of general principles. It gets to the heart of every single issue that has divided Israel and Egypt."

Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who conferred with Sadat at the Egyptian embassy for more than an hour on Monday, said the Middle East situation has changed for the better, no matter what happens in coming months.

"Everything in the Middle East has a fragile quality, but this is a major achievement," Kissinger said. He said Carter "deserves the gratitude of the American people and the gratitude of the world."

Vice Chancellor Temple gets OWASA nomination

UNC Vice Chancellor for Business and Finance John Temple has been nominated to fill a vacant position on the Orange Water and Sewer Authority board.

OWASA board member Florence Garrett nominated Temple last week to fill the seat vacated by retiring Allen S. Waters of Chapel Hill.

Garrett said she suggested Temple because of his knowledge of the University water system, his work with OWASA during past water crises and his familiarity with engineering and financial matters.

Also nominated were Charles C. Antle Jr., OWASA associate director of administrative data processing, and S.N. Bryant, OWASA director of engineering and construction. They were suggested by OWASA Chairperson Jonathan Howes.

OWASA will send the recommendations to the Chapel Hill Board of Alderman. Since the open seat was held by a Chapel Hill appointee, the decision will be made by the Chapel Hill aldermen.

Friday defends public TV

The Associated Press

UNC President William C. Friday is quick to rise to the defense when assertions are made that public television in North Carolina lags behind that in other states, including South Carolina.

"It's remarkable that so much gets done with so little money," said Friday of the UNC record of operating educational television in North Carolina since 1954.

"No one has brought to me the evidential base for tearing it away from the University," is Friday's reply to moves to take the state's public television operations away from UNC.

Friday notes that when University administrators responsible for the network appeared before a Governor's Task Force on Telecommunications in August, their presentation was followed by prolonged applause.

Still there have been complaints about the network: it doesn't reach substantial areas of the state; it is mostly a carrier for the Public Broadcasting System; very little is produced in North Carolina; and the network is a stepchild of the University.

Friday admits all these allegations except the last one. He noted that former UNC Vice Chancellor Billy Carmichael was responsible for its creation in North Carolina, going out in the business community to raise funds to get it started because state funds were not available.

Since then, Friday said, not enough money had been put into the network to enable it to keep up with the advances made in other states.

That is being remedied partly by a recent appropriation of $5 million to improve the signal and get public television into every school in North Carolina, the president said.

Anyone who heard the reports from representatives of the networks in Pennsylvania, Nebraska, and South Carolina would concede that public television in North Carolina has fallen behind that in some other states, said former state Rep. Herbert Hyde, of Asheville, chairperson of the task force on telecommunications.

"We've not pushed it or funded it as South Carolina has—and that's very unusual," Hyde said.

ORANGE COUNTY, CHAPEL HILL, CARRBORO and HILLSBOROUGH PROPERTY TAXES

have been consolidated on one tax bill and may be paid by a single check mailed to

ORANGE COUNTY TAX COLLECTOR

106 E. Margaret Lane
Hillsborough, N.C. 27278.

While mailing is the easiest and most efficient way to pay municipal and County taxes, they may also be paid directly to a collector at the Orange County Courthouse in Hillsborough or at the Chapel Hill Municipal Building at 306 N. Columbia Street in Chapel Hill. Any taxpayer in the County, without regard to municipal residence, may pay taxes at either location although mail payments should be addressed to Hillsborough as noted above.

This consolidated tax billing and collecting system has been started through a cooperative effort of the participating governments to provide more convenience for the taxpayer while reducing the total cost of operating separate billing and collection functions in each unit.

If you resided anywhere in Orange County on January 1, 1978, and owned real and/or personal property located in Orange County on that date, you are required to list and pay taxes on that property. If you are in that category and have not received a tax bill by September 11, 1978, you should notify the Tax Supervisor in Hillsborough. Failure to receive a tax notice does not relieve you of the responsibility to pay your taxes.
