

Freshmen can sign up for spring seminars now

By CAROLYN WORSLEY
Staff Writer

Freshmen may enroll now for courses offered next spring through the Freshman Seminar Program. Eighteen seminars in 12 departments are listed for the spring.

The seminar program allows freshmen the chance to study a specific topic or problem in a small group. Each course is worth three semester-hours credit and is counted as a General College elective. Class sizes are limited to 15 students.

"The very small classes allow the student more discussion than larger classes," said Donald Jicha, associate dean of General College. He said another value of the seminars is the courses are taught by full-time faculty members who have a special interest in the seminar's subject and a talent for undergraduate teaching.

"Our courses frequently go across divisional boundaries," Jicha said. He cited the two history seminars as examples. History 9, Section 1, "Sport in Ancient Greece," covers one area of history which an instructor could not cover in depth in a regular history course, Jicha said. History 9, Section 2, "History of Sports and Recreation in America," deals with a topic that is of interest to students although there is little opportunity to offer the subject as a course in a regular department, he said.

Freshmen may register now for a seminar by contacting the secretary outside room 308 South Building to receive a permission slip for completion by his adviser. Permission from the instructor is not required for any seminars except History 9, Section 1, "Sport in Ancient Greece," and Physics 9, Section 1, "Wines and Vines." Instructor permission slips can be obtained from a secretary or adviser in the General College.

The list of freshman seminars for spring 1979 is as follows:

Classics 9, Section 1, "Ancient Explorers," 11 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

English 9, Section 1, "British and American Detective Fiction," 9-9:50 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

English 9, Section 2, "The Poet's Search for God," 9:30-10:45 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

English 9, Section 3, "Love and Courtship in Shakespeare," 11 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

English 9, Section 4, "Medieval Heroes," 12-12:50 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Geography 9, Section 1, "Travels Through the American Landscape," 2-3:15 p.m. Monday and Wednesday.

Geology 9, Section 1, "Earth Resources for the Future," 2-2:50 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

History 9, Section 1, "Sport in Ancient Greece," 8-9:15 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

History 9, Section 2, "History of Sports and Recreation in America," 2-4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Linguistics 9, Section 1, "Native Languages of North America," 2-3:15 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

Music 9, Section 1, "Music and the Other Arts," 2-3:15 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

Philosophy 9, Section 1, "Problems of Philosophy," 2-3:15 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

Physics 9, Section 1, "Wines and Vines," 2-3:15 p.m. Monday and Wednesday.

Physics 9, Section 2, "Exploring Prehistory with Physics," 2-3:15 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

Political Science 9, Section 1, "Religion and Politics," 2-5 p.m. Wednesday.

Sociology 9, Section 1, "Sport and Society," 8-8:50 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

Zoology 9, Section 1, "Ecological Processes," 1-2 p.m. Tuesday and 1-4 p.m. Thursday.

Zoology 9, Section 2, "Social Insects," 3-6 p.m. Monday.

News in Brief

Iranian military moves to quell violence

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's two-day-old military government, trying to quell violent opposition to the monarch's authoritarian rule, announced the arrests Tuesday of 32 former ministers and ranking civil officials.

At the same time, officials at Reza Pahlavi Hospital said retired air force Gen. Ali Mohammed Khatami, dismissed as managing director of Iran Air, died from a gunshot wound received Sunday. The officials said they believed the wound was self-inflicted, but a member of the general's family said he was attacked at his house in a Tehran suburb by unidentified youths.

There was no indication when Tehran's daily newspapers would resume publication. All but one of them ceased publication Monday because of censorship imposed under martial law. The only publishing paper was a small economic daily, but the country was kept informed by official announcements over state-controlled radio and television.

The government warned that persons violating martial law regulations would be dealt with severely. Forty tanks were moved into the capital from garrisons on the outskirts of the city to bolster armor already on guard at key points.

Soviets mark Bolshevik anniversary

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union marked the 61st anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution with a huge Red Square military parade Tuesday, but Western military observers said they saw no new weapons in the show.

Thousand of troops marched through the snow-dusted square under the gaze of the Soviet leadership. This year's display of military hardware featured 200 vehicles of 15 different types, rumbling tanks, armored personnel carriers, rocket launchers and surface-to-air missiles.

Detectives assigned to probe fire

FAYETTEVILLE (AP)—A team of detectives was assigned full time Tuesday to investigate a mobile-home fire Monday night in which five children were smothered by smoke and died in their beds.

Police said they are probing a delay between the time Ernest Harvey McEachern, 24, father of three of the children, ran from the burning trailer, and the time when the blaze was reported.

Staten Island ferry slams into seawall

NEW YORK (AP)—A Staten Island ferry carrying 2,000 passengers across fog-bound New York Harbor crashed into a concrete seawall at the tip of lower Manhattan on Tuesday, tossing the passengers about and peeling the steel deck back like a sardine can.

Officials said 173 persons were treated at five hospitals and dozens more were given first aid at the scene. The conditions of two people were listed as serious—one with a possible fractured spine and the other with a possible heart attack.

It was the first major ferry accident here in 20 years, and the city Department of Transportation announced it would open a board of inquiry in addition to the Coast Guard investigation.

Incumbents hold on; black gets court post

The Associated Press

Incumbents won easy re-election bids in all 11 of the state's U.S. congressional districts Tuesday as voters elected the first black ever to a statewide office in North Carolina.

Democratic Judge Richard Erwin of Winston-Salem defeated Republican Hickory attorney Joe Cagle Tuesday night to keep his seat on the N.C. Court of Appeals, becoming the first black to win statewide. Incomplete returns show Erwin with 58 percent of the vote to Cagle's 42 percent.

The GOP had focused its greatest congressional efforts in the 5th, 8th and 11th districts, but Democrats turned back challenges in all those races.

The highest hopes of Republican leaders was in the 11th District, where freshman Democratic Rep. Lamar Gudger turned back an upset bid by Curtis Ratcliff. In the 5th District, Democrat Stephen Neal defeated challenger Hamilton Horton, and Democratic Rep. Bill Hefner beat Republican Roger Austin in the 8th District.

Republican Rep. Jim Martin of Charlotte turned back a challenge by Democrat Charles Maxwell of Huntersville in the 9th District.

In the 10th District, Rep. James Brodyhill of Lenoir was unopposed and will serve a ninth term.

Brodyhill was the only unchallenged seat in the 11 districts. Republicans challenged all but one of the nine Democrats running for re-election. Andrews got no GOP challengers but was opposed by a Libertarian while running for his fourth House term.

Two seats—Hefner's 8th District and Neal's 5th District were considered targets for the GOP because the seats were occupied by Republicans until 1974.

That election was considered a reaction to Watergate, one of a number of electoral surprises for Republicans around the country in 1974.

Gudger's 11th District seat was considered vulnerable because the Democrat won with only 50.9 percent of the vote in 1976.

In a Supreme Court race, Associate Justice David Britt, a Democrat, won over Libertarian Party candidate Michael Read of Durham. Early returns showed Britt with 92 percent of the vote to Read's 8 percent.

In the race for the 18th District Superior Court bench, Democrat Edward Washington defeated Republican Darl Fowler. Washington took 60 percent of the vote in early returns, and Fowler had 40 percent.

Two other appeals court judges, Burley Mitchell Jr. and John Webb, faced no opposition in Tuesday's election.

Walter Brock was unopposed for a seat on the state Supreme court.

This year saw the Republicans hammering away at President Carter, especially on economic issues. Many candidates also singled out HEW Secretary Joseph Califano for special criticism over the tobacco issue.

Republicans found it difficult for a time to criticize Carter because of the Camp David Mideast accords. But as the economic situation worsened, the president was fair political game again. Even some Democrats tried to disassociate themselves from many of Carter's economic programs.

Despite strong efforts by Republicans, the 1979 General Assembly was expected to remain overwhelmingly Democratic.

Republicans fielded only 30 candidates for the 50 state Senate seats and only 57 candidates for the 120 state House seats. Nevertheless, state GOP executive director Todd Reece said he expected the GOP to score dramatic gains in the vote Tuesday.

Democratic state chairperson Betty McCain pinpointed Mecklenburg and Guilford counties as scenes of the hottest legislative races. Included in those contests was an attempt by Sen. Carolyn Mathis, who was elected to the Senate in 1976 as a Republican and switched parties in the middle of the 1977 legislative session, to win election as a Democrat.

Another interesting campaign in Mecklenburg was that of Sen. Jim McDuffie, who won the opposition of Equal Rights Amendments supporters when he backed down on a promise to vote for ERA in 1977. ERA backers claimed credit for McDuffie's defeat for renomination in last spring's primary.

ATTENTION COLLEGE STUDENTS

You may be eligible for a two-year Air Force ROTC scholarship. The scholarship includes full tuition, lab expenses, incidental fees, a reimbursement for textbooks, and $100 a month tax free. How do you qualify? You must have at least two years of graduate or undergraduate work remaining, and be willing to serve your nation at least four years as an Air Force officer. Scholarships are available to students who can qualify for pilot, navigator, or missile training, and to those who are majoring in selected technical and nontechnical academic disciplines, in certain scientific areas, in undergraduate nursing, or selected premedical degree areas. Non-scholarship students enrolled in the Air Force ROTC two-year program also receive the $100 monthly tax-free allowance just like the scholarship students. Find out today about a two-year Air Force ROTC scholarship and about the Air Force way of life. Your Air Force ROTC counselor has the details.
