

Curry's Tech team battles injury woes

By NORMAN CANNADA
Staff Writer

Injuries are a real part of college football, but Georgia Tech coach Bill Curry would rather have his share in smaller doses.

The Yellow Jackets come into Saturday's game with 10th-ranked North Carolina without the services of defensive ends Rick Olive and Lynwood Volley and starting center Dean Waters. In addition, several other top players are questionable for the game.

"It has a very real effect," Curry said in a telephone interview. "The players we have lost would affect any team, but we're young and don't have a lot of depth, so we're really in trouble. But we can't complain because every team has the same problems."

Fullback Ronny Cone is one Yellow Jacket who has managed to avoid injuries and play well in the process. Cone has averaged more than five yards per carry this season on a team that relies heavily on its passing game.

"We have a great quarterback in Mike Kelley, and with someone like him, you're going to pass a lot," Cone said by phone from Atlanta. "I carry the ball some but my main job is to protect the quarterback."

Cone switched to fullback this year after leading the Yellow Jackets in rushing as a tailback last season.

"At first, playing fullback was hard for me because I've been playing tailback all my life," Cone said. "But I'm happy now. I'm helping the team."

Georgia Tech is coming off a 17-8 victory over Memphis State last week. The win was the first for the Jackets in three tries.

"The most important thing that I saw from that game was that we did a better job on defense and in our kicking game," Curry said. "But I'm not satisfied with any of our play totally."

Cone saw another positive factor in last Saturday's game.

"We concentrated more against Memphis State than in any of our other games this year."

Cone said the Yellow Jackets were a different team from the Georgia Tech team that was playing last year at this time.

"The attitude of the players is a lot more serious around here this year," he said. "I think a lot of that has to do with the discipline Coach Curry has brought in."

When Curry was named head coach earlier this year, he brought with him an idea that football players had to have discipline. The reaction to the new rules has been good.

"It was hard to adjust to at first," Cone said, "but I think it's going to pay off. In the long run it's going to help our football team a whole lot."

Cone said Saturday's game with Carolina would be a great challenge for the Yellow Jackets.

Action from Thursday's field hockey game ... Tar Heels beat Pfeiffer 2-0

"It's going to be a really tough game. We're just going to have to play good football and make no mistakes. You can't afford to make any mistakes against a team like North Carolina."

The sophomore fullback said the Tar Heel defense was UNC's strong point.

"They have good athletes on defense," Cone said. "We're not going to try and move out anybody in particular. We want to move them all out if we can."

NOTES: The Tar Heels come into Saturday's game leading the Atlantic Coast Conference in total defense, scoring defense, rushing offense and net punting. Linebacker Lawrence Taylor was named lineman of the week in the ACC after his performance against Maryland.

The North Carolina field hockey team, showing complete domination over both the offensive and defensive ends of the field, scored a convincing 2-0 victory over previously undefeated Pfeiffer Thursday at Hinton James Field.

The Tar Heels, now 2-3, had 20 shots and allowed Pfeiffer only 6. Carolina rarely allowed the ball to come into the visitor's attack area during the afternoon.

Ann Donio got Carolina's first goal about midway through the first half on an assist from Mary Stewart. Kim Knickerbocker added an unassisted goal 13 minutes into the second half to provide the final margin.

"We were beating them to the ball," Donio said. "They had to adjust to our game."

"We worked better as a team than we had been," Donio added. "In some of the other games, we just had a lot of good individual performances."

Coach Dolly Hunter said the team put a lot of things together in the win. "We improved our firepower and our aggressiveness around the goal," she said.

Hunter was happy with the play of the front line players and was especially pleased by the performances of Knickerbocker and Donio. Hunter also said that defensive leader Joan Zabriskie played her best game of the season.

The Tar Heels managed to preserve the shutout by keeping the ball in its own attack end of the field late in the game.

The Tar Heels' next action comes at 3:30 p.m. Saturday on Hinton James Field, when the Virginia Cavaliers visit.

The Cavaliers come into the game with a 2-2 record.

"WHY DO THE HEATHEN RAGE?" Psalms 2:1 and Acts 4:25

It has been well said that there is only one road in this life; Heaven at one end, and Hell on the other end. The real important thing is which way are you going, which way are you traveling? In the Sermon on the Mount, Christ said the way to Heaven was "narrow and hard and few there be that find it," but the way to Hell was "broad and wide" and crowded! Have you ever definitely "turned about" — that is the meaning of conversion — and begun to "fight the good fight of faith" to walk the narrow way to Heaven?

Hear the Word of the Lord found in Luke 13:23: "Then said one unto Him (Jesus), 'Lord, are there few that be saved?' And He said unto them, 'Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able. When once the master of the house is risen up and hath shut to the door, and ye begin to stand without, and to knock at the door saying, Lord, Lord, open unto us: and he shall answer and say unto you, I know ye not whence ye are: then ye shall begin to say, we have eaten and drunk in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streets. But he shall say, I tell you, I know ye not whence ye are: depart from me all ye workers of iniquity. There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth when ye shall see Abraham and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the prophets, in the Kingdom of God, and ye yourselves thrust out. And they shall come from the east, and from the west, and from the south, and from the north, and shall all down in the Kingdom of God. And, behold, there are last which shall be first, and there are first which shall be last.'" ("When the saints go marching in, Lord, I want to be in that number.")

A few years back it was often that such passages of Scripture as just quoted were the subject of preachers' and evangelists' sermons. It appears now that most of them "don't do that any more." What is more important in this life than making your "calling and election sure" for eternity? The Apostle Peter said as long as he was living he thought it important to stir up his brethren to this end — 2nd Peter 1:10, etc. In recent years I have often heard preachers and evangelists who seemed to be greatly concerned about getting church folk to feel and believe they were saved. Maybe they are not, in view of the passage quoted above from Luke, and in view of the lives and conduct of many. The passage from Luke does not contradict Romans 8:35: "Who shall separate us from Christ, etc." Rather, it throws light on the true Christian who cannot be separated. Nor does this passage contradict Ephesians 2:8,9: "For by Grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast." Rather, it magnifies the Grace of God in producing a fruitful faith!

"STRIVE TO ENTER IN AT THE STRAIT GATE," continue faithful in well-doing, and in due season you will meet The Lord Himself in the Way, and come to rejoice in His Salvation and Presence.
