Lost and found

Progress report on some ads

By SHAROYN MARSHALL
 Staff Writer

The blocks of fine print usually read: "Lost black leather Bible, ballet shoe and bus pass. Former personally important. Please call 967-1140."

You'll find them in every newspaper and even in some magazines. They're the lost and found ads.

Recently, several persons who placed lost and found ads in The Daily Tar Heel between Sept. 28 and Nov. 6 were telephoned at random for progress reports. In most cases, the finders were the ones to get the calls, but the losers weren't as fortunate.

Take Scarlett Rush, for example. She guesses she lost her gold serpentine bracelet about two or three weeks ago. But, she hasn't heard anything about it. "I assume that whoever found it either sold it or is wearing it," she said.

And, Judy Poole is still searching for Mr. Wiggles, her 6½-year-old Persian cat who left home one afternoon about a month ago.

She's received a couple of calls concerning cats, but they've all been the wrong ones. Once, Poole said, someone advertised a cat they found that fitted Mr. Wiggles' description, but it was the wrong gender.

How about lost class notes when an exam draws near? Tim Dienes, a junior from Brevard, found himself in this situation, but strangely enough, the notebook with his math and statistics notes turned up in time for him to study and take the exams.

Coronation Ball to honor Miss BSM

The Black Student Movement will hold its annual semiformal Coronation Ball Friday at 8 p.m. in Great Hall of the Carolina Union to salute the winner of the 1980-1981 Miss BSM contest, who will be crowned during the ball.

The Coronation Ball will begin with recognition of black organizations on campus, such as black fraternities and sororities, said Wanda Montgomery, BSM cultural coordinator.

"We will have our salute to Miss BSM, the parade of candidates and a spotlight dance for Miss BSM," she said.

Four candidates were nominated for the position. They were Sharon Adams, Kathryn Pointer, Carolyn Sims and Sandra Tate.

"Miss BSM is a representative of the Black Student Movement," Montgomery said. "She serves as an official hostess at BSM functions. She also undertakes some special projects to benefit the organization."

Following the spotlight dance, Artiste, Inc. a live entertainment company, will perform.

"Everything will be set up nightclub style and Artiste, Inc. will be doing a variety show," she said. "People will be able to dance, and the emcee for the company is a standup comedian."

Tickets will be on sale in the Carolina Union today, and they will also be available at the door. The cost is $5 per couple and $3 for a single ticket, she said.

Marijuana debate on 'Line'

On WXYC's "Open Line" Sunday, Melanie Sill, editorial assistant of The Daily Tar Heel and Paula Pearson of WXYC will discuss legalization of marijuana.

They will talk with John Ganga, North Carolina Yippie and organizer of Sunday's Smoke-In, and Mario Perez of the UNC department of psychiatry. Perez has conducted studies on marijuana for 10 years.

"Open Line" is a live talk show which airs at 8 p.m. Sundays. Listener calls and comments will be accepted during the program.
