Applications available for Union presidency

The Carolina Union has applications available for Union president at its information desk.

The applications are due Feb. 5.

The Carolina Union is the central programming organization on campus. The president appoints the members of the activities board and oversees all Union programs.

The president also will act as the chief spokesperson for the Union.

Applicants are asked to submit their applications and participate in an interview.

People interested in more information on the Union or the president's position should contact Jennifer Weiss, the present president, in room 200 of the Union.

For the record

In Monday's article "Four students announce candidacy for CGC seats," The Daily Tar Heel incorrectly identified the district 11 CGC candidate. His name is Mark Edwards. The mandatory candidates meeting for all representatives is at 8:30 p.m. in Great Hall of the Carolina Union.
