

Yack gets new editor

By TAMMY WRIGHT
Staff Writer

The Media Board selected Greg Dinkins for editor of the 1982 Yackety Yack and Davis March for Carolina Quarterly editor Monday.

Danny Kester, a sophomore from Goldsboro, was appointed business manager of the Yack and Dani Thompson, a freshman from China Grove, was selected for business manager of the Quarterly.

Dinkins, a junior from Yadkinville, said that he hopes to increase subscription sales, student portrait participation and campus representation. "The Yack has been very successful over the past two years. Any further progress will be small."

Dinkins, who previously served as a photographer for the Yack, called the yearbook a document of the University and of the lives of its students.

The Yackety Yack is a visual exploration of UNC. He said that he wants the book to be truthful and accurate.

March, an English graduate student from Chicago, has served as interim editor for the Carolina Quarterly since December. He said the Quarterly is a university magazine that features literary figures and literary reviews. The magazine publishes works of UNC students and faculty three times a year and is a professional journal of the arts. It is operated by students and distributed nationally, he said.

"It provides experience and opportunity for students interested in the world of publishing," he said.

The next issue of the Carolina Quarterly will be published April 6 and can be purchased at the Bulls Head Book Store and Student Stores.

The Media Board also extended the deadline for applications for Alchemist editor and business manager and Cellar Door business manager until Friday. The Media Board will choose a new Cellar Door editor today.

Job offer may lead to suit

By FRANK ZANG

Jeffery Whone, who was offered the job of Orange County finance director in February but has since seen the offer withdrawn, has reportedly said he is considering a lawsuit in the matter.

Whone could not be reached for comment Tuesday night.

The Orange County Board of Commissioners withdrew the offer Monday and offered the job to Interim Director Kathy Battern.

Whone, of Monroe, Conn., was originally appointed to the position on Feb. 17, but the board withdrew that offer because of his indecision about taking the job.

"We were notified that he had reconsidered his acceptance of the position," board member Don Willhoit said.

Whone called board chairman Anne Barnes on Feb. 27 to reject the job offer. He then wanted to reaccept the position on Feb. 28.

In an hour-long executive session Monday, the board decided to reject Whone's reacceptance of the job and to choose Kathy Battern as finance director.

"I think she'll do a good job," Willhoit said. Battern had previously applied for the position and had been serving as acting county finance director since Neal Evans resigned in November.

Willhoit said Whone was concerned whether the job was just a political appointment fluctuating with changes in the composition of the Board of Commissioners, or a stable position.

Whone is presently the comptroller for the city of Monroe, responsible for auditing city accounts and certifying expenditures.

"If I'm doing a good job, I don't need to worry who the board members are," Battern said.

Battern said experience is her best asset. She has been the financial director for the Chapel Hill housing authority and a financial analyst for Orange County in the recent past.

Battern said she was personally disappointed when originally turned down for the job. But professionally, she realized a number of people with good credentials had applied.

The transition between new finance directors has been very smooth because of the exceptional staff, Battern said. She said her biggest project at first would be setting up the county budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Willhoit said the finance director is responsible for managing the financial operations and cash flow of the county. The job includes distributing funds to different organizations.

Battern will draw a $25,908 salary, which is an increase of $1,224 from last year. Whone was originally offered $24,684 for the job.

Former finance director Neal Evans earned $35,000 annually but he also served as assistant county manager, Battern said. The Board recently decided to separate the two positions.

Symposium to offer housing

The new Southern Park of Heaven? booklets, a housing guide to the Chapel Hill and Carrboro areas, will be distributed at the symposium for students searching for off-campus housing scheduled for tonight at 7 in Great Hall.

The booklets can be picked up also at the Student Consumer Action Union in Suite B of the Carolina Union or at the Union information desk on Thursday.

The symposium, sponsored by University Housing, SCAU and Student Government will include an explanation of why UNC is unable to house all students and answers to questions about apartment payments, leases and other policies. Representatives from SCAU, the housing department, Student Legal Services, Chapel Hill Housing Authority, Granville Towers, Duke Power Company, Southern Bell, area realtors and apartment complexes have been asked to attend.

Anyone interested in information about off-campus housing in the Chapel Hill area may attend.

The quickest way to get emergency money.

An emergency stop for repairs can wipe out even the best-heeled traveler. Luckily, all you need is the price of a phone call to get you the money before your car gets off the lift. Here's what to do when you need money in a hurry.

1. Call home. Report the situation, and tell the folks they can get emergency cash to you fast by phone.

2. Ask them to call Western Union's toll-free number, 800-325-6000 (in Missouri, 800-342-6700), anytime, day or night. They charge the money and the service fee to their MasterCard® or VISA® card. A Western Union Charge Card Money Order, up to $1,000, will be flashed to the Western Union office or agent nearest your emergency.

3. Pick up your money—usually within two hours—at the local Western Union office or agent. There are 8,500 nationally, except in Alaska. Conveniently, about 900 locations are open 24 hours. It's that easy.

Be sure to remind your parents about our toll-free number. It's all they need to call Western Union to the rescue.
