Tar Heels blow lead to lose again

By DAVID THOMPSON

UNC-Wilmington overcame a grand-slam home run by designated hitter Bill Gallagher to defeat the Tar Heel 8-7 in North State College Baseball League action Tuesday night.

"This game was just like the last two against Campbell and East Carolina," Coach Mark Scalf said. "We were not aggressive defensively. I was pleased with the way we swung the bats."

Trailing 3-1 in the fourth inning, UNC battled back. Pete Kumiega doubled and scored on a Todd Wilkinson single. Jeff Hubbard reached on an error. Jeff Scott was hit by a pitch to load the bases, and Jay Matthews hit into a fielder's choice at home before

Gallagher sent the first pitch off Mike Antle over the right-field fence for his first homer as a collegian.

Gallagher was appearing in only his second game as a hitter after arm troubles had forced him to give up a pitching career.

However, the Seahawks did not fold. In the fifth, Tim Whitehead doubled, Paul Murr was hit by a pitch, and both later scored on an Antle double, bringing the score to 6-5.

UNC-Wilmington scored three more runs in the sixth to cap the comeback. With one out, Tommy Phillips and Kelly O'Donnell singled, bringing in reliever Bruce Ashley.

Tim Whitehead greeted Ashley with an RBI single. Rightfielder Jeff Scott then misplayed a Paul Murr fly, allowing the tying run to score. Roger Hudson greeted Ashley's replacement John Marshall with a sacrifice fly to score Whitehead with the decisive run.

UNC rallied to score once in the sixth, but a ground out by Ronnie Broome with the tying run on second base ended the inning.

The Tar Heel loss left them with a 6-17 record with little hope of making the league tournament scheduled for July 23-25 at the league leader's (probably Campbell) home field. The top four teams in the league qualify for the tournament, and UNC is in fifth place.
