Hark the sound of 1981 Tar Heel softball champions, clear in radiant shine

Before the 1981 intramural softball tournament champion is decided and football takes over the IM-Rec spotlight, let's congratulate the 1981 regular season softball champions.

MBA "Anchorage 7 for 1" won the all-campus softball championship between grad/ind, fraternity and residence hall men's competitive champions.

Regular season softball winds up the IM-Rec year as spring semester comes to a close, and results are often not complete by the deadline for the last Daily Tar Heel. 1981 regular season softball champs are:

Late entries accepted for Napoleon

Deadlines in "Napoleon" basketball, Ultimate Frisbee, opening of the tag football season and the return of archery competition highlight the IM-Rec week.

Napoleon deadlines were due Friday, Sept. 4, but late entries will be accepted for this Carolina tradition. The single-elimination tournament, open only to those UNDER 6 feet tall in sneakers, pits three men's or women's teams (no co-rec) in half-court games to 15 baskets or 30 minutes running time limit. Officials are used only for the semi-finals and finals so players in the early rounds call their own fouls. Play is set to begin Monday.

Archery will be played at James (Residence Hall) Field in a one-round, highest-score-wins format. Each archer must compete with another tournament archer and turn in attested score cards no later than Fri., Sept. 18. Each contestant will shoot six ends of six arrows each; three ends at 20 yards and three ends at 30 yards. Contestants may use personal equipment or check out basketball equipment.

Ultimate Frisbee, one of the three major types of frisbee competition, will consist of a one-day tournament format depending on the number of entries. Teams consist of seven players and no more than one canine, according to the IM-Rec handbook. The handbook also states that this fast-paced game is a combination of Carolina tag football, soccer and keep-away.

Entries for archery and ultimate frisbee are due TODAY.

Asst. IM-Rec Director Rob Frye has announced that 135 teams will compete in Carolina tag football regular season competition that started Tuesday, in addition to 25 co-rec outfits. Frye, who is directing tag football this year, said the 160 teams is roughly the same number as last year.

Further breakdown finds 101 men's competitive teams (frats, men's residence halls, grad/ind), 23 men's recreational, four women's competitive, seven women's recreational, 11 co-rec competitive and 14 co-rec recreational.

Instant scheduling is being used again this year, and has already begun. Team captains schedule each week for the FOLLOWING week of play. For the first week Frye reported teams signed up for almost 100 available time slots.

As with last year, teams must play a minimum of four games and win at least two of them to make the playoffs. An additional requirement is a 6.5 (out of 10) average sportsmanship rating, as given by the IM-Rec officials each week.

Questions regarding the new sportsmanship rating of instant scheduling should be directed to Assoc. IM-Rec Director Marty Pomerantz or assistants Janis Matson and Frye.

Frats consider point system change

Fraternity IM managers will meet tonight, 7 p.m., 304 Woollen Gym to discuss changing the current IM point system for the fraternity men's competitive division. Leaders of the smaller fraternities claim larger frats have an advantage in the current system because points are given for men's recreational divisions teams in an effort to award points for participation.

The UNC point system, according to the IM-Rec handbook, recognizes the unit in the fraternity and residence hall men's competitive divisions that best combines participation, achievement and sportsmanship throughout the entire school year. A trophy is presented to the winning unit in both divisions which signifies achievement.

Each year the system is adjusted in accordance with residence hall population shifts (percentages male/female) and to address any major questions, such as the case with the smaller fraternities.

Last season saw a year finale "Super Teams Competition" brought in that matched the top four frats, based on the point system, against each other in five sports and likewise for the residence hall top four. The two winners then met in a tug-of-war to decide the true "Super Team."

In last year's inaugural Super Teams, the DU, Pi Kappa Phi and Chi Phi frats competed in that division while Granville DW, Teague A, Teague B and Lewis competed in the residence hall division. DU defeated Teague A in the tug-of-war for the T-shirts and Super Teams trophy.

To date, the only new kink in the 1981-82 system is an added sportsmanship measure. IM-Rec officials now give teams sportsmanship ratings after each contest, and repeated low ratings will keep a team out of the playoffs.

Current residence hall units are as follows:

Henderson Residence College
(Alexander, Connor, Winston)
Morrison A (floors 1-4)
Morrison B (floors 5-7)
Morrison C (floors 8-10)
James A (floors 1-4)
James B (floors 5-8)
Graham
Granville AW (floors 2-3)
Craig
Elvinghaus
Teague A (floors 1-2)
Teague B (floors 3-4)

Avery
Lewis
Granville BW (floors 4-5)
Granville CW (floors 6-7)
Stowe Residence College (Old East, Old West, Carr)
Mangum
Grimes
Everett
Manly
Stacy
Granville DW (floors 8-9)
Granville South

Units are established based on population, male/female percentage and average participation in the IM-Rec program. The women's point system was discontinued, at the request of the women IM leaders, several years ago. There is an effort by ZTA sorority to establish a sorority league within the current self-scheduling system.

Final rankings for 1980-81 point system are:
