

Reagan arrives for Cancun talks

The Associated Press

CANCUN, Mexico — President Ronald Reagan arrived Wednesday in Mexico for the first summit conference of 22 rich and poor nations, saying the road to prosperity for the hungry and impoverished nations of the Third World is lighted by private enterprise, not massive foreign aid.

Shortly after settling into his hotel suite on this island resort, Reagan conferred with Chinese Premier Zhao Ziyang. "Although this is a first meeting between us, it should be characterized as old acquaintances at first sight," the Chinese leader told the president.

As he stepped from Air Force One on his arrival, Reagan was embraced by Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo and accepted a 21-gun salute before he and his host went into a private meeting at the airport. It was the first of five separate meetings the U.S. president planned with other conference participants during his first day at this resort island, whose beaches he predicted he would see "only through windows."

The president and Lopez Portillo talked for 35 minutes. Reagan told the Mexican leader, "We're here to listen and learn and do what we can," White House spokesman David Gergen said.

Gergen quoted Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. as saying Reagan and Lopez Portillo both expressed optimism about the conference's outcome.

The conference's formal sessions begin Thursday. As he left the White House Wednesday morning, Reagan said he might have been too harsh last week when he said he would be entering a "hostile atmosphere" at Cancun.

"We go to Cancun with no illusions," Reagan said in a brief departure statement. "The problems of hunger and poverty are severe and deeply rooted. They cannot be solved overnight. Nor can massive transfers of wealth somehow miraculously produce new well-being."

"Our message in Cancun will be clear: The road to prosperity and human fulfillment is lighted by economic freedom and individual incentive."

He promised continued U.S. support to help "free people build free markets" in the Third World.

As soon as a reporter asked the president a question about the hostile reception he anticipated, an aide signaled the pilot of the presidential helicopter to start his engines. Reagan answered the question saying he may have been too harsh in his choice of words. He tried to answer another query about the summit, then abandoned the effort to the roar of the jet-powered aircraft and stepped aboard for a brief flight to Andrews Air Force Base, where he boarded Air Force One for the flight to Mexico.

En route to Cancun, Reagan issued a statement aboard the plane accusing the Soviets of trying to drive a wedge between the United States and its European allies. He affirmed America's commitment to the defense of Europe, which will have several nations represented here.

Reagan's remark last week about the possibility of a limited nuclear war stirred jitters in Europe and an angry retort from the Soviet Union, which declined an invitation to the summit.

The International Meeting on Cooperation and Development represents the first conference of the developed nations of the Northern Hemisphere and the less developed nations south of the equator. The participants don't predict breakthroughs, as many leaders with profoundly different outlooks tackle the ambitious project of plotting global economic progress.

News in Brief

Date set in child-slaying case

ATLANTA (AP) — A judge today denied a defense motion to suppress evidence taken from Wayne B. Williams' home and car and ordered him to stand trial Dec. 28 in the murder of two young blacks.

Williams, a 23-year-old black free-lance cameraman, is charged with murdering Nathaniel Cater, 27, and Jimmy Ray Payne, 21, two of the 28 young blacks whose deaths are being investigated by a special police task force here.

His attorney, Mary Welcome, argued at a hearing Tuesday that fibers and dog hairs taken from Williams' home and car during a June 3 search should be excluded from the trial because an affidavit used to secure the search warrant was faulty.

The fibers and dog hairs are considered crucial to the prosecution's case against Williams.

In a single order covering six defense motions, Superior Court Judge Clarence Cooper agreed to order prosecutors to notify their witnesses that they may consent to be interviewed by defense lawyers.

Cooper also said he would reserve rulings on a motion seeking to suppress statements of witnesses whose memories have been refreshed by hypnosis.

Earthquake rocks Long Island

OLD SAYBROOK, Conn. (AP) — An earthquake jolted a large portion of Connecticut and the eastern part of Long Island Wednesday, but there were no reports of damage or injuries.

Vladimir Vudler, a geophysical analyst at the Weston Observatory in Weston, Mass., said preliminary observations put the quake at 3.7 on the Richter scale.

The U.S. Geological Survey in Denver placed the quake's strength at 3.3 on the scale. The tremor occurred at 12:49 p.m., said Pat Jorgenson, a spokesman for the survey.

The quake was centered in Long Island Sound, about 10 miles south of Old Saybrook.

Strikes continue to disrupt Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Thousands of rebellious workers walked off their jobs Wednesday, defying the Communist Party's orders to end protests, and new strike alerts were reported throughout Poland.

Leaders of the Solidarity labor federation gathered in Gdansk to discuss a possible nationwide warning strike.

More than 150,000 workers staged a one-hour warning strike in Zielona Gora province because of a management dispute, and 12,000 Zyrardow textile workers, mostly women, maintained their sit-in for the ninth day.

Workers at an equipment building factory in Wroclaw expressed their anger over food shortages by calling for the resignation of new Communist Party chief Wojciech Jaruzelski, Solidarity union sources said.

Domenici says big deficit likely to remain in 1984

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The chairman of the Senate Budget Committee said Wednesday that without further congressional action the nation would face an accumulated deficit of $200 billion to $250 billion over the next three years.

"A balanced budget is going to be very difficult to achieve in 1984," Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., said at a breakfast meeting with reporters.

Eliminating the deficit in 1984 has long been a goal of the Reagan administration. But Domenici said balancing the budget in three years might not be as important as reducing the deficit from year to year and demonstrating a clear trend toward balance.

And he repeated his own commitment to shrinking the deficit with a combination of more spending cuts and higher taxes.

"I'm willing to consider all excise taxes and all expenditures," as possibilities for help in reducing the deficit, he said.

But at the same time, he conceded that Congress was unlikely to approve legislation this year raising taxes or cutting benefit programs such as Medicare or food stamps.

Domenici has played a key role in the private negotiations involving Republicans in Congress trying to develop an alternative to Reagan's latest austerity package that will meet with the president's approval.

GOP leaders in the House and Senate met Tuesday, but reached no agreement.

Domenici's comments were the latest indications that budget deficits for 1982, 1983 and 1984 fiscal years may far exceed President Reagan's official forecast.

Reagan proposed a new, $16-billion package of spending cuts and tax increases last month to help balance the budget in 1984. But administration officials have said in recent days they were considering asking for additional tax increases to hold down the deficits.

Without any new measures, the administration's official forecast is for budget deficits of $59.1 billion this year, $62.9 billion in 1983 and $58.8 billion in 1984 — a total of $180.8 billion.

Domenici said his own "most optimistic" figures are of deficits of $60 billion this year and $70 billion in each of the next two, or a total of $200 billion.

But he also said the combined deficit could easily rise another $50 billion over three years if the administration's assumptions about the economy prove too optimistic.

Asked about Domenici's comments, Office of Management and Budget spokesman Edwin Dale said, "We certainly acknowledge the possibility of things turning out worse if the economy doesn't work out as well as predicted."

OMB Director David Stockman said Tuesday, for example, that a "worst case" deficit for the current year would be $80 billion.

Interviews to be held

The following employers and graduate school representatives will be on campus to discuss job opportunities and academic programs on the dates indicated.

Students can sign up for appointments with these representatives eight days ahead of the visit in the University Placement Services, 211 Hanes Hall. A resume is necessary at the time a student signs up for an interview. This is put in the folder accompanying the sign-up sheet.
