

Fogelberg concert a success with fans

By ED LEITCH
DTH Staff Writer

Dan Fogelberg performed to a near-sellout crowd at the Charlotte Coliseum Friday night. It was his only performance in this area in at least five years.

Fogelberg and his band, bass guitarist Kenny Passarelli, drummer Russ Kunkel and Joe Vitale (who switched back and forth between percussion, flute and keyboards), treated the audience to about two and a half hours of selections from each of his albums, with the disappointing exception of Homefree. Fogelberg gave a fine performance and was well received.

During his first set, however, Fogelberg appeared tired and displayed a disappointing lack of charisma. He hardly smiled during the band's flawless renditions of "Tullamore Dew," "Phoenix" and "Wishing on the Moon." Fogelberg explained his odd behavior as he was switching from electric guitar to piano, saying he was "fighting off a throat infection," and he urged everyone to bear with him.

His voice strained to reach the high notes in "Heart Hotel" as he played the piano part note for note as it was recorded on his Phoenix album. Switching to acoustic guitar, he sipped a hot drink and began a solo version of "Crow," an eerie acoustic number from Captured Angel. His rough-sounding voice made this song even more effective.

Before he began "Longer" he told a group of rowdy listeners to his left to be quiet and let him sing; when they persisted during the song he told them to shut up.

A 20-minute break improved his mood immeasurably and he came back smiling and enjoying himself. Drawing numbers from his earlier, stronger albums, Fogelberg performed with spirit and finally looked happy to be there. He boogied with his backup and traded a few guitar licks with his lead guitarist and piano player on the country-rock tune "Morning Sky."

The high point of the concert was the performance of "The Last Nail," possibly the strongest song Fogelberg has recorded. Instead of cold symptoms, Fogelberg displayed genuine emotion as he played the song with intensity suggesting the girl who inspired the song still played heavily on his mind.

Dan Fogelberg performs Friday ... plays to near sellout crowd

Naturally, the crowd insisted on an encore; Fogelberg reciprocated with "There's a Place in the World for a Gambler." He suggested that the audience help him out and a great many people did sing along (me included).

As the words to the refrain died down, the houselights came on and Fogelberg beamed as he received his standing ovation.

Language groups meet

Conversation, food make for fun

By STEVE MOORE
DTH Staff Writer

Eat, speak and be merry in any language is the theme of several group gatherings around campus.

Groups within the French, Spanish, and German departments all sponsor parties, teas, and other functions for anyone who wants to practice a foreign language.

Every other Friday from 4:30-6:30 p.m., a group of students, French teachers and French natives go down to Molly Maguire's, a bar and restaurant in the NCNB Plaza.

Paula Lapaire-Kamenish of the French department said she took a group of students for the summer to the University of Quebec. On the way home, she said, they decided to "get together and have a real laid-back, French-speaking beer-drinking party."

"We usually have close to 50 people that come," she said. Though Molly Maguire's congregations began this way, Lapaire-Kamenish said that anyone who wants to practice French is welcome.

Even Spanish teacher Carlos Martin, who is just learning French, frequents Molly Maguire's. Martin said that he also participated in the Spanish Club which meets in 312 Dey Hall from 4-5 p.m. Thursdays to speak in Spanish.

Joe Munz, president of the Spanish Honor Society, said that snacks were served with coffee, and on occasions, sangria.

Munz said that about 25 people showed up regularly with five to ten of those being native Spanish.

Maria Mabrey, president of the Social Spanish Club, said, "Most people get out of it the chance to practice Spanish, but even a chemistry major who can speak some Spanish can come."

Kaffeeklatsch is an informal group organized by sophomore Jane Kaplowitt who thought it would be a good idea for German students and teachers to get together. The Newman Center allows them to use the conference room and kitchen there from 3-5 p.m. Thursdays.

Kaplowitt said that students from German I came as did native German professors. She said that they served home-baked goods and other snacks with tea and coffee.

German I student Johnny Holton said that coming to Kaffeeklatsch helped him in his classwork.

"When you learn something and don't use that, you'll lose it," Holton said. "After coming I feel more comfortable with the material I'm supposed to know."

Other people had different reasons for coming to these foreign language get-togethers.

"It's a great opportunity to get familiar with the students," German teacher Larry Margoliese-Malin said.

Spanish major Nancy Bernhoft said, "The people are very nice and the natives really make an effort to draw those who don't speak (Spanish) as well into the conversation."

Linda Beevers, a Spanish teacher, said that she met with the Spanish Club because it gave her a chance to socialize with her fellow teaching assistants.

Herve Boesch, a native Frenchman, said that he went to Molly Maguire's because "it's interesting to meet American people who want to speak French and I try to get as much information from the Americans concerning their ways of life."

Another native of France, Evelyn Bourgade, said that she went every time because the people were friendly and it was fun.

Freshman Lisette Rafols said that the Spanish Club was also a good way to meet people. At her first visit she said, "I've met a lot of interesting people. I will definitely come back."

Campus Calendar

Public service announcements must be turned into the box outside DTH offices in the Carolina Union by noon if they are to run the next day. Each item will be run at least twice.

TODAY'S ACTIVITIES

The Southern Student Activist Network is extending an invitation to join its meeting to discuss local progressive student activities such as the Resolution on Militarism and the labor education series. Meet at 7:15 p.m. in 206 Union to arrange rides to the meeting in Durham which begins at 8 p.m.

The Christian Science Organization at UNC will meet at 2 p.m. in 205 Union. All are welcome.

Campus Governing Council-Student Affairs Committee meeting at 7:30 p.m. in 205 Union.

"On-Site Interviewing: The Second Interview at Company Headquarters," sponsored by University Placement Services, will be held at 3:30 p.m. in 210 Hanes Hall.

1981 UNICEF greeting cards are on sale in 104 Campus Y. Come by between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. any Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday until Nov. 25.

AXE will meet at 7:30 p.m. in 222 Venable Hall.

There will be meetings for all those interested in working with Cable TV for the Student Consumer Action Union at 4 p.m. in 224 Union.

Important AIESEC meeting at 4 p.m. in South Gallery Meeting Room. All are urged to attend.

AED will meet at 7 p.m. in 103 Berryhill Hall. Eric Cotham, a resident in trauma surgery, will speak. The Executive Committee will meet at 6:15 p.m. in NCMH cafeteria. There will be a rush meeting at 6 p.m. in 107 Berryhill for all interested pre-meds and pre-dents.

Are you faced with the dilemma of trying to establish in-state tuition status? Come to the N.C. Residency Workshop sponsored by the Carolina Union Special Projects Committee and the Student Consumer Action Union at 7:30 p.m. in 207-209 Union.

Minorities in Mass Media will hold a meeting for persons interested in joining MIMM at 7 p.m. in the Ehringhaus Dorm Colloquium. Chrystal Swain of WTVD, Channel 11, in Durham will speak. She is public service and internship coordinator.

The Graduate Student Fellowship of the Baptist Campus Ministry will have a meal and a program at 5:45 p.m. at Battle House. Dr. Jymon Ferrell will speak on "Dealing with Personal Problems."

UNC College Republicans will meet at 8 p.m. in 215 Union.

A workshop, "I Am Woman ... and Working," will be held at 8 p.m. in 100 Hamilton Hall. This workshop deals with what male-dominated employers are looking for when recruiting women. Representatives from Proctor and Gamble are speaking. This event is being sponsored by the Panhellenic Council.

Time management workshop — Are you going crazy because you can't get anything done? Learn to use your time more effectively at a workshop from 7-9 p.m. This is for graduate and non-students only. To preregister, call University Counseling Center, 962-2175.

COMING EVENTS

Joint UNC/Duke Physics Astronomy Colloquium presents Dr. Daniel Kleppner, from the Department of Physics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, speaking on "Spin Polarized Hydrogen" at 4 p.m. Wednesday in 265 Phillips Hall.

All junior political science majors interested in the Honors Program will meet at 4 p.m. Wednesday in 372 Hamilton Hall. If you cannot attend, please contact Stuart Rabinowitz during office hours.

The Carolina Union Board of Directors will meet at 5 p.m. Wednesday in 226 Union. All students are invited to attend.

Anglican Student Fellowship Holy Communion for the Feast of St. Simon and Jude is at 10 p.m. Wednesday in the Chapel of the Cross. Fellowship time continues after the liturgy. All are welcome.

UNC Coalition for Social Justice will hold a meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday in 221 Greenlaw Hall.

ECOS, the campus environmental group, will have Professor Dietrich Schroeder speak on nuclear energy in preparation for a tour to the Shearon Harris Nuclear Power Plant. His talk will be held in the Union at 7:30 p.m. The tour is Nov. 4, meeting promptly at 5 p.m. at Looking Glass Cafe to set up car pool.

Anyone is welcome.

Dr. Vladimir Tsvet of Duke University will speak of Soviet society and economy as seen through the eyes of Krokodil, a Soviet satirical journal, at 4 p.m. Wednesday in 205 Union. A slide show of cartoons from the Soviet journal will be presented. The speech is being sponsored by the UNC Slavic Club. All are welcome.

Academic Procedures Committee of Student Government will hold a staff meeting at 4 p.m. Wednesday in Suite C Union.

Academic Procedures Committee of Student Government will sponsor a reception for students and faculty from 3:30-5:30 p.m. Wednesday in South Gallery of Student Union. Refreshments will be provided.

The Pre-Career Experience Program has information on career-related summer jobs and internships. Register at an orientation meeting at 4 p.m. Wednesday in 106 Gardner Hall.

Law School representatives from UNC, Duke, Wake Forest, Campbell, North Carolina Central, South Carolina, Virginia, William and Mary, and Richmond will attend a Pre-Law forum from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Wednesday in Great Hall. Interviews will be available by appointment from 2-4 p.m. with sign-ups that morning. The UNC-CH Pre-Law Club invites all interested students to attend.

Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity is sponsoring a campus-wide Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF campaign on Thursday evening. Please give generously for the sake of the children.

El Salvador: The Myth and Reality of Land Reform will be a presentation at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Baptist Student Union's Battle House. John Cheyne, Relief Ministries consultant with the Foreign Mission Board, will be the speaker.

The BSM fashion show featuring candidates for Miss BSM will be held at 9 p.m. Friday in Great Hall. The Fashion Show will be followed by a masquerade party from 10 p.m.-2 a.m. Wear a costume.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

The School of Journalism's Diagnostic Writing Examination will be given at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 1, in 104 Howell Hall. Students may not take JOUR 333-Newswriting unless they have passed the DWE or have received a grade of at least C in ENGL 30-Advanced Expository Writing. Students planning to take the DWE must register for it with the School of Journalism receptionist in 101 Howell Hall the week of Nov. 16-20.

Senior Class Committee Members — Stop by the office early this week to pick up Senior Class newsletters and Purdy's Halloween Party fliers to distribute. Thanks. Keep selling those T-shirts.

The New WELL (Wellness Education and Lifestyles Library) is now open Monday-Thursday from 2:15-5:15 p.m. in the Health Education Suite of SHS. Drop by and get the most out of your SHS fees.

Intramurals: Deadline for registering for Lifetime Leisure Golf Clinic to be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at Finley Golf Course and for entering the 15th Annual Co-Rec Sports Day to be held Wednesday at UNC-Greensboro. Faculty-staff volleyball begins today and deadlines for Co-Rec Super Teams and handball have been extended.

Come one, come all. In the Campus Y to sign up for the Dinner Discussion this Friday. Professor Thomas Stump will read an eerie ghost story or two.

Anyone who is interested in a bus trip to the Maryland game is encouraged to go by the Union information desk and sign up. The cost is $40. For more information call the CAA office at 962-4300.

Anyone interested in entering a homecoming queen nominee should come by the CAA office in Suite A of the Union for an application. Any student can be nominated. The entry fee is $25. For more information call the CAA office at 962-4300.

Applications for the 1982 orientation chairperson are available at the Union desk and in 08 Steele Building. Applications are due in 08 Steele Building by Friday.

Industrial relations majors are you in need of information but can't get an adviser's appointment? Come for peer advising for industrial relations majors from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday and from 9:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday in the Arts and Science Lobby of third floor Steele Building.

PQT (Professional Qualification Test), Nov. 14. Applications must be received in Berkeley, Calif., by Saturday. No fee required. This is a once-a-year test for liberal arts majors interested in working for the National Security Agency. Applications available in 101 Nash Hall.

Scholarships are available for the 1982-1983 academic year in Germany. Applications for German Academic Exchange Service scholarships can be obtained at the International Center. Students must have completed German 4 or its equivalent by the summer of 1982. German majors are ineligible; application deadline is Nov. 6.

Attention English majors: Sheets for making appointments with departmental advisers for pre-registration are posted on the bulletin board opposite 212 Greenlaw Hall.

Support ECOS newspaper recycling. Drop boxes are located at Alumni and Monogram buildings and behind Wilson Library.

The College of Arts and Sciences is now receiving applications for the annual competition for the Harry S Truman Foundation Scholarship. Winners in the national competition may be eligible to receive up to $5,000 annually for up to four years of undergraduate and graduate study. To be eligible as the University's two nominees, students must be currently sophomores and be juniors in the fall of 1982. They must have at least a B (3.0) quality-point average, must rank in the upper fourth of the sophomore class and must be willing to pursue an undergraduate and graduate major intended to lead to a career in local, state or federal government. Students interested in being considered as the University's nominees should contact Assistant Dean Lee Greene, College of Arts and Sciences, 319 Steele Building (962-1166) as soon as possible. The deadline for University applications is Nov. 2.

Pre-law job forum to be held

A pre-law job forum has been scheduled by the Pre-Law Club for 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Wednesday in Great Hall. Representatives from nine law schools will be on campus to offer information and a limited number of interviews to interested students.

Represented will be the law schools from UNC, Wake Forest, Duke University, Campbell College, N.C. Central University, University of Virginia, William and Mary, University of Richmond, and University of South Carolina.

Interested students should sign up for the interview sessions from 2-4 p.m.

forum

From page 1

He said the town should increase taxes by a small amount each year and not 41 percent at a time.

Messer said open government was important.

"(It is) because we have not had a free exchange of ideas we have poor fiscal management, low community pride and a lack of economic development," Messer said.

Drakeford said his opponents' accusations were untrue. He said he answered every phone call "whether the citizen is affiliated with me or not."

The results, he said, showed fair representation on the town boards.

Messer said that many of the town's one-time expenses such as its Orange Water and Sewer Authority and U.S. Census Bureau lawsuits were unnecessary.

Messer said he would have tried to work out something with OWASA without going to court.

Pressley said that because of poor leadership, the existing Board of Aldermen had polarized students and townspeople, and had worked to make a tax base supported only by permanent residents of Carrboro.

Drakeford said the town had increased tax revenues by increasing the tax base, pointing to only one tax increase in six years.

"It's something to be proud of," he said.

Use The Daily Tar Heel Classifieds!!

RENT FROM $234

ASK ABOUT OUR AUTUMN SPECIALS

CALL

TRIANGLE COMMUNITIES

967-2231

967-2234