

Possible tax increases worry state officials

By KELLY SIMMONS
DTH Staff Writer

A federal proposal for an increase in cigarette and alcohol excise taxes has state government officials concerned about the future of North Carolina's tobacco industry.

The Reagan administration is studying the possibility of doubling excise taxes on cigarettes, beer, wine and liquor to increase revenues by $3 billion in 1982 and $5 billion in 1984. This is in an effort to curb a growing 1982 budget deficit and fulfill President Ronald Reagan's pledge to balance the budget by 1984.

The current federal taxes are 16 cents per package of cigarettes, $18 per barrel of beer, 34 cents per gallon of wine and $21 per gallon of liquor.

"An increase in cigarette taxes would affect North Carolina more than any other state," said John Cyrus, director of the North Carolina tobacco affairs division of the state Department of Agriculture. "This much increase in the price of cigarettes will have a far reaching effect on consumption," he said. As consumption drops, the demand for tobacco will drop, Cyrus said. He said this would reduce the quota for the year set by the secretary of agriculture and would cut the income of North Carolina tobacco farmers.

The increase proposal also would have an impact on brewers around the country. Alcohol is already the fifth highest taxed industry in the United States.

The major effect of the added tax would be an increase in the cost of alcohol to the consumer, which would reduce the amount of sales, said Chet Gardner, a spokesman for the U.S. Brewers Association. "The increase will have an effect not only at the federal level but at the state level as well," he said.

Various individual states have proposed additional alcohol tax increases as well. Consideration of an increase in state taxes on alcoholic beverages recently has been studied in North Carolina as a way to provide funds for the state's highway fund.

Nuclear war, arms race topics for today's speech, debate, film

Nuclear war and the arms race will be the subjects of a day-long series of speeches, debates and films at UNC on Wednesday, said National Affairs Committee Chairman Al Perry.

The activities are planned to bring greater understanding of the issues to students, and are being held in conjunction with similar events scheduled at universities across the country, Perry said.

The Rev. Robert Seymour will speak in the Pit at noon on nuclear war, Perry said. "He's a very articulate spokesman for the anti-war cause."

At 1 p.m. the movie "The War Game" will be shown in Room 102 of the Carolina Union. The film is about nuclear war, Perry said.

A debate on the subject of arms control is scheduled for 2 p.m. between Dr. Jeffrey Obler, a professor in the political science department, and Dr. James Leutze, chairman of the Peace, War and Defense curriculum.

David Clinard, a visiting scholar from the United States Arms Control Agency will moderate the debate, Perry said. "His background should allow him to bring out some interesting questions." The debate will also be in Room 102 of the Carolina Union.

A slide show is planned for 4 p.m. by William Kincaid, executive director of the arms control association, Perry said. His talk, which will concern security strategy and the new technology, takes place in Room 102 of the Union.

Marilyn Braun, the executive director of the Greensboro/Guilford Co. Civil Defense will discuss civil defense at 7:30 p.m. in Room 103, Berryhill Hall, Perry said.

"The whole thrust of these events is to give students a non-partisan discussion of nuclear war and the arms race, and help provide a better understanding of the issues," Perry said.

Student dwellings robbed

More than $3000 worth of merchandise was stolen from UNC students last week in two separate break-ins reported to the Chapel Hill Police Department Friday. Both incidents occurred at Kingswood Apartments in Carrboro.

Graduate student Frank Moore reported his Kingswood apartment was broken into and merchandise worth $750 was stolen from it.

The theft occurred sometime between Thursday morning and Friday night, police said. Moore told police he did not discover the theft until Saturday because the stolen items had been in a hidden location.

Police said entry was probably gained through an open window. Both larcenies are still under police investigation.

Saudis

In Washington, President Ronald Reagan was informed about 9:30 a.m. EST that Israeli jets had entered Saudi airspace and left "on their own accord," Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speaks said. He would not comment further.

Another point of contention by the Israelis is a Mideast peace plan put forward by Saudi Prince Fahd, calling for establishment of a Palestinian state on land now occupied by Israel, with East Jerusalem as the capital. Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government is concerned over Washington's expression of interest in the Fahd plan.

There was no Saudi description of the number or type of planes involved. Both Israel and Saudi Arabia use American-built aircraft. The Saudis fly F-5Es and the Israelis have the more advanced F-15s and F-16s — aircraft which Saudi Arabia is due to receive.

Israel's military chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Raphael Eytan, recently confirmed that Israeli planes have flown reconnaissance missions over Saudi Arabia in the past.

The Washington Post quoted a high Saudi official as saying such vulnerability was a major reason for the kingdom's insistence on buying AWACS radar planes from the United States.

Israeli warplanes passed over northern Saudi Arabia before attacking and destroying Iraq's nuclear reactor last June 7.

not part of the zoning ordinance, but instead, was included in the landuse plan.

"This (3 percent assisted housing) standard is not a standard that has to be met at any given moment," Jennings said. "It is based on a 20-year land horizon."

Potter also said the public housing project would cause the neighborhood to reach a 30 percent high density level, and the zoning ordinance forbids neighborhoods more dense than that.

A high density level is defined as more than seven dwelling units per acre.

"Again, Mr. Potter is confusing the zoning ordinance with the landuse plan," Jennings said. "The landuse plan says that a balanced residential sub-community will have 30 percent high density and 70 percent low density."

Another standard that the town must meet to issue a special use permit is to comply with the town's comprehensive plan, which Potters said forbids a housing project in areas where there is already a concentration of minority residents.

"The Piney Mountain neighborhoods already has higher than 33 percent of minority residents," Potter said. "The addition of the public housing project will increase the minority population of the neighborhood higher than the average minority population of Chapel Hill."

Jennings said the association had manipulated statistics in coming up with the 33 percent minority figure.

He said the 1970 census counted 33 blacks in the Piney Mountain neighborhood, while the 1980 census counted 145 blacks.

But Jennings said part of the neighborhood, the Piney Mountain Road area, had been annexed since the 1970 census and the number of minority residents in the neighborhood has actually declined.

The town is expected to seek a halt to administrative proceedings at a court hearing scheduled for Nov. 12.

News in Brief

Nine firms charged with bid-rigging

RALEIGH (AP) — Nine electrical companies and some of their officials were indicted Monday by a Wilson County Grand Jury for allegedly rigging bids on an East Carolina University project.

The indictments charged that bids for the East Carolina Medical Education Facility in Greenville were rigged in December 1978. The indictments charged the companies with conspiring to commit the felony of false pretenses and with engaging in a combination and conspiracy of unreasonable restraint of trade.

Court upholds state law

WASHINGTON (AP) — States and local communities cannot shut down stores or theaters displaying sexually explicit materials before getting a court ruling that the materials are obscene, the Supreme Court ruled Monday.

By a 6-3 vote, the justices upheld rulings that a Washington state law that in some cases would have allowed such shutdowns without a court obscenity hearing was an unconstitutional "prior restraint" of free speech.

In separate actions, the court refused to protect parents of public school students from having to pay for school property vandalized by their children and agreed to decide whether the NAACP must pay for a 1960s boycott of white-owned businesses in Mississippi.

Plans continue for British council

LONDON (AP) — The British and Irish governments faced growing political opposition Monday to their planned Anglo-Irish Council — set up to launch a joint initiative for an end to 12 years of bloodshed in Northern Ireland.

But official sources in London and Dublin stressed that both Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and Prime Minister Garret FitzGerald of the Irish Republic planned to push ahead with the inter-governmental council to which they agreed at a London summit Friday.

The council, which eventually will extend to talks among legislators in both countries, formally patches up the relationship between the two nations. A chill has persisted, despite diplomatic relations, since the violent rupture 60 years ago when the Irish Free State — later the Republic of Ireland — split from Britain after a two-year guerrilla war.

New contraceptive idea studied

DURHAM (AP) — Researchers at Duke University Medical Center believe the contraceptive of the future — for men as well as women — may lie in a gland only slightly larger than a birth-control pill.

Dr. Michael Conn, a molecular endocrinologist at Duke, believes that by unlocking the secrets of the pituitary, a pea-sized gland beneath the brain, scientists can control human fertility with few of the side effects associated with hormone-based birth control pills.

To study the pituitary, Conn has received a three-year, $280,000 grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

The 1982 senior class is sponsoring a showing of George Roy Hill's Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid tonight in Gerrard Hall.

This popular western stars Robert Redford and Paul Newman in roles that stressed the relationship between two independent males. This kind of film became very popular in the American cinema, in part because of the success of Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid.

Shows are at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Admission is $1.50 and proceeds go toward the 1982 senior class gift fund.
