Soccer team loses to Blue Devils; Volleyball takes 2nd in tourney

The Duke men's soccer team, depending on a solid defense and heavy fan support, overcame a furious UNC rally to take a 3-2 win over the Tar Heels and second place in the Atlantic Coast Conference yesterday.

"The margin of our close conference losses often seems to be penalty kicks and they always seem to be dubious," UNC coach Anson Dorrance said.

Duke controlled the tempo of the game from the beginning, keeping the ball in Carolina territory most of the first half. The Blue Devils had 14 shots on goal to UNC's two at halftime.

Down 3-0 midway through the second half, the Tar Heels found the intensity they had been lacking earlier. With 24:49 to go in the game, freshman Ken West broke free, dribbled the ball all the way from midfield and scored UNC's first goal.

Junior Tim Ensley narrowed the gap to 3-2 with another goal with 19:40 to go. From then on, though, the contest became a defensive battle with neither team clearly dominating the other.

Weekend Roundup

"Once we got the first goal, it really sparked us," senior Rick Marvin said.

"Considering what we were expected to do, we had a great season. The high point was beating Clemson," added Marvin. Clemson, ranked third in the nation, is the conference champion. Duke is now second, N.C. State third and UNC and Wake Forest are tied for fourth.

The match was more than a battle for second place in the ACC. It was also to determine the recipients of the bid for the nationals. The loss puts UNC out of the running for a bid. "Clemson and Duke are shoe-ins for bids," Dorrance said.

"State should get the third bid."

Dorrance gave credit to seniors Rick Marvin, Adam Abronski and Geoff Drayton. "Our three seniors have nothing to be ashamed of. They have a .500 record against Clemson. Not many graduating classes can brag that."

This past weekend's NCAIAW State Tournament was a tense one as the number-one seeded UNC Volleyball team finished second to second-seeded North Carolina State in Chapel Hill.

UNC head coach Beth Miller said that the Tar Heels' secondplace finish and good performance during the regular season would give Carolina a good chance at getting an at-large bid to the regional tournament.

"If we played better, we could have won the tournament," Miller said. "It was a toss-up between us and State. They played better at that particular time."

The Heels beat ECU Friday night in the first round of the tournament and met State for the first time Saturday afternoon.

A tough match from the start, Carolina fell to the Wolfpack in the first game 13-15. While neither team was ever ahead by more than a few points in the first game, the Tar Heels captured the second game 15-4 in less than half the time it took for the first to be played.

The final game of the match was by far the most tense. Carolina's Donna Meier suffered an ankle injury at 8-6, and there was a State injury with the score 8-7. A questionable call at 9-7 caused further frustration for the Heels who were ahead 13-9 before State prevailed 15-13.

Miller said it was hard to lose Meier in the State match. She added that they are still not sure of the extent of the injury.

Appalachian surprised Carolina in their match by providing some stiff competition. The first game was a close one, and Appalachian won 15-10. Regrouping themselves, the Heels rallied to capture the next two games and the match 15-5, 15-10, but not without a good fight from Appalachian.

"I think we had a letdown," Miller said. "We were not playing our best volleyball, and Appalachian was playing very well. I give the girls credit for hanging in there. They were playing as much for pride as for anything else."

In the finals of the tournament, Carolina and State were once again on opposite sides of the net. The match was the best three of five games, and it was another close one. State was the eventual winner 15-8, 14-16, 12-15, 15-9, 15-9.

The UNC Wrestling team won five individual titles on its way to a team victory in the Monarch Tournament in Norfolk, Va., this weekend. The Tar Heels led the team scoring with 1201/2 points. Clemson finished second with 931/2 points and host Old Dominion was third with 82. Individual winners for UNC included Bob Monaghan (121), Dave Cooke (129), C.D. Mock (137), Bill Gaffney (161) and Jan

Michaels (170). In a disappointing conclusion to its season, the Men's Cross Country team finished tenth in the District III regional meet Saturday at Greenville, S.C., failing to qualify for the national championships. Only four of 37 teams made the field for the nationals; East Tennessee State, Tennessee, Clemson and Florida State.

Tar Heel finishers included John Clark 28th; Mark Whitney 35th; followed by Glenn Sparrow, Bret Ayers and Steve Dorsey. Todd McCallister was forced to drop out of the race after 41/2 miles because of stomach cramps.

Injuries hit two UNC players

Senior fullback Alan Burrus is doing well after surgery Sunday to repair damaged ligaments in his left knee, but will not play again for the Tar Heels this Burrus was hurt Saturday against Virginia, after gaining 93 yards on 11 carries. Another UNC player hurt Saturday is also considered to be out of action for the rest of the year, even if the Tar Heels receive a bowl bid. Senior linebacker Lee Shaffer suffered a broken leg and is expected to be recuperating for the next 24-30 weeks.

"There's no chance that either of them will play in a bowl game," Dr. Tim Taft said. "Alan will be in a cast for 10 weeks" and Lee will be in a cast of some sort for three to four months."

Taft said Shaffer, who has now finished his college career, should be able to play pro football, if he gets drafted.

Duke whips State 17-7, Clemson takes ACC title

The Associated Press

DURHAM - Sophomore quarterback Ron Sally, a replacement for starter Ben Bennett, engineered three scoring drives, and Mike Grayson rushed for 102 yards to lead Duke to a 17-7 Atlantic Coast Conference football victory over North Carolina State Saturday.

Sally replaced Bennett late in the second quarter and promptly took the Blue Devils 55 yards in nine plays. His 18-yard touchdown pass to Ron Frederick with 48 seconds remaining broke a scoreless tie.

Sally led the Blue Devils on an 88-yard drive late in the third quarter which ended when fullback Greg Boone circled left end for a 14-yard touchdown run with 1:12 remaining.

That put the score at 14-7 and Duke added a 33-yard insurance field goal by Scott McKinney with 9:09 left.

Duke raised its record to 6-4 and assured itself of its first winning season since 1976. The Wolfpack has dropped five in a row. N.C. State's ACC record fell to 2-4.

Maryland 7 Clemson 21

CLEMSON, S.C. - Quarterback Homer Jordan threw three touchdown passes to lead undefeated, second-ranked Clemson to a 21-7 victory over Maryland for the Atlantic Coast Conference championship Saturday.

Jordan completed 20 of 29 passes for 278 yards and was the Tigers' leading rusher with 58 yards. Meanwhile, wide receiver Perry Tuttle continued his assault on Clemson's record books by catching 10 passes for 151 yards and two touchdowns. The Winston-Salem senior, who keeps adding to his school record for career reception yardage, now 2,432 yards, eclipsed another Jerry Butler standard for number of career receptions with 142. Butler's record was 139 catches.

All of Clemson's scoring came in the first half, but it took Jordan nearly all of the first quarter to get the Tigers on the scoreboard.

He lofted the ball 14 yards over the head of the nearest defender into Tuttle's hands for the initial score.

Then in the second quarter, Jordan threw a 5-yard scoring pass to Tuttle and followed that with a 12-yarder to Jerry Gaillard for Clemson's final tally.

Richmond 22 Wake Forest 34

RICHMOND, Va. - Wake Forest quarterback Gary Schofield kept the Deacon's aerial game alive with three touchdown passes and Wayne McMillan added a running twist in their 34-22 college football victory over Richmond's Spiders Saturday.

Richmond, 3-6, kept the lead into the third quarter with a 4-yard run by star running back Barry Redden and a 2-yard run by quarterback Steve Krainock.

But Wake Forest, 4-7, caught up with a 1-yard pass from Schofield to Michael Mullen, another toss from Schofield to Dan Dougherty and then the pass that put the Deacons ahead for good from Schofield to Tim Ryan for 11 yards.
