Ehringhaus wins campaign for United Fund

By LYNN EARLEY DTH Staff Writer

Ehringhaus Residence College residents united to win a campus-wide fund-raiser for United Fund, with a $305 contribution, Robert Bianchi, Residence Hall Association president said Tuesday.

Their donation combined with seven other residence areas' to pass the $1000 mark. The eight participating areas raised $1068.

Although Ehringhaus came out on top, the race was close. The event's coordinators computed the totals on a per capita basis and found two areas battling for first place.

"To figure that out we took the total amount and we divided by the official housing department occupancy counts," Bianchi said. "That mave us the cents per per-

Ehringhaus residents gave 0.459 cents per person and Scott Residence College residents gave 0.453 cents per person, for $343. Ehringhaus won by six one-thousandth of a cent, even though Scott had a higher total.

"We were just really pleased, especially with the South Campus participation," said Melissa Morgan, Governor of Scott Residence College.

Ehringhaus and Scott conducted similar fund-raising events. Both held raffles as their major activity. Ehringhaus presented dinner at Hugo's Restaurant in Hyatt Regency Hotel in Atlanta and a flight to Atlanta as their prize.

Ehringhaus' $305, Scott's $343 and the other areas' $420 will go to the 24 charities of the United Fund. Paige Grady, Publicity Chairman for United Fund in this area, said that the areas reached their goal. They set

Small revisions made in D bus route son.

By ANNA TATE DTH Staff Writer

A section of the D bus route on Durham Boulevard has been revised because of the opening of Hotel Europa last month.

With the change, the eastbound D bus will go through Eastgate Shopping Center, cross 15-501 bypass, follow the service road parallel to Durham Boulevard from the Ram's Plaza Shopping Center to Europa Drive and return to Durham Boulevard.

"The bus route change has been planned for over a year," said Bob Godding, Chapel Hill transportation director, "because of more and more construction in the area. But the change was only recently made because the service road along the boulevard has just been completed."

The three morning buses and the two afternoon buses will provide additional service along the extended service road, he said.

"There are only minimum modifications in the travel time schedule along the D route," he said. Godding estimated that one or two minutes would be added to the bus' regular route. Although the D route is extended. Godding said the change would not inconvenience riders. The pick-up stop at Pinegate would be moved up about 60 feet, he said.

The revised route will provide service for area business employees like the 160 people employed by Hotel Europa.

"Because of the probable increase in ridership, the change should actually help bring the costs of fares down," he said. Godding said the change would be a permanent revision for the D route.

Carrboro considers Franklin extension

By ALEXANDRA MCMILLAN DTH Staff Writer

The town of Carrboro is considering a westward extension of Franklin Street, Carrboro planning director Roy Williford said Tuesday.

"The extension could go to Jones Ferry Road or to Main Street or somewhere else. We're just making a study of our options now," he said.

When the study is completed, the find-route is chosen, the study will go before a public hearing to give citizens a chance to respond.

The Carrboro Board of Aldermen would then have to approve the extension. The N.C. Department of Transportation would have to give the route final approval, Williford said.

"I believe we should go ahead and encourage the Department of Transportation to do it (approve the extension)," alderman John Boone said. "I believe it's serve both Carrboro and Chapel Hill

"The extension was a number one priority with the old board, but I haven't heard whether the newly-elected board members are in favor of it or not," Boone added.

Newly-elected board members Hilliard Caldwell and Jim White said they had had no time or opportunity to study the issue.

"I do know that there is a terrible traffice problem there, but this is a major undertaking, and I need a chance to study much needed in Carrboro, and it will all the pros and cons before I make any decision," Caldwell said.

no actual money goal but did set some non-monetary ones.

"I think that we accomplished what we wanted to accomplish - which was to raise awareness and to raise some funds," Grady said.

The competition may become an annual event. "I think that it's something that will grow if we can keep it going," she said.

Bianchi said, "I'm really excited. I hope that now we've set some sort of precedence and we can continue it from year to year." He added that future contests could raise more money because of more knowledge and advanced planning.

RHA will give $150 to Ehringhaus for entertainment at a party.

Senate struggling on spending bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate Appropriations Committee, working under a very strong veto threat from the White House, began Tuesday to redraft a massive, house-passed money bill to keep the federal government in business after midnight Friday.

President Ronald Reagan sent Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., a letter saying: "As we proceed with implementation of the economic recovery program, excessive appropriations measures simply cannot be tolerated — not now nor in the future."

Even before the panel began its work, sources said the White House had relayed word that the president was likely to veto the measure unless it contained a 5 percent across-the-board spending cut. There appeared little chance Congress would meet those terms, officials said,

Reagan may eliminate missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan was ready to propse to the Soviet Union that both superpowers virtually eliminate nuclear missiles from the European theater, State Department officials said Tuesday.

The president, it was said, would use a foreign policy speech Wednesday at the National Press Club to embrace the so-called "zero-option" approach as the goal for Soviet-American negotiations on restraining nuclear forces in Europe. Those talks open Nov. 30 in Geneva.

The option consists of an expected U.S. offer not to undertake the planned deployment of new U.S. medium-range missiles in Europe if the Soviet Union agrees to disassemble its own missiles, stationed in western Russia, aimed at European targets.

More deaths in Northern Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) - Two people were shot to death Tuesday and a third was seriously wounded in three separate attacks that prompted police to cancel all leaves throughout the violence-torn British province.

Earlier in the day a mob shouting "Murderer" and "Traitor!" surged through police lines toward Britain's Northern Ireland Secretary James Prior at the funeral of a Protestant legislator slain by the IRA. One person reportedly struck him in the head during the melee.

The angry crowd was protesting Britain's failure to crack down on the outlawed Irish Republican Army, which has been fighting for 12 years to drive the British out and unite the predominantly Protestant province with the mostly Roman Catholic Irish Republic.

Hillel sponsors screening for Tay-sachs gene

Tay-sachs is a fatal, untreatable disease. One in 200 of the world population and one in 25 of the Jewish population is a carrier of the gene that causes it.

The Hillel Foundation, 210 W. Cameron Ave., has scheduled a screening to check for this gene 3 p.m.-7 p.m. today.

Carriers of this gene are healthy and unaffected, said Robin Ifft, genetic counselor in pediatrics at North Carolina Memorial Hospital. But if two carriers become parents, she said, there is a 25 percent chance that their child will have this disease.

Children with the disease live only until they are four or five years old. These babies are born healthy, Ifft said, but after four in tert common nonchar to six months, signs of deterioration appear. Eventually the babies lose all functions of the brain and nervous system; they become blind and paralyzed.

"It is believed the gene originated in the Eastern European area," Ifft said. That is why the disease most often affects people of Jewish ancestry. Ifft said about 90 percent of American Jews had ancestors from that region.

The screening today is voluntary and involves only a blood test. Five dollar donations will be accepted to defray lab expenses, but no one will be turned away. "The test does cost quite a bit more if done through the hospital," Ifft said. CURDENT TO THE RUPSE ASSOCIATED PTPS9-2418C constraints federally for us to really watch these groups."

Mitchell cited motorcycle gangs as the most dangerous group in terms of recent activity.

"The biker groups have been organizing a lot more recently," he said. "And although these gangs have little following they are always a threat to cause a terrorist-type act."

Westra agreed with Mitchell in labeling the motorcycle gangs as the most dangerous group.

"They are the largest problem because of their propensity for violence," he said. Westra also said many motorcycle gang members were convicted felons who illegally carried and used firearms and explosives.

Mitchell also feared the possibility of increased violent activities by extremist groups.

"Terrorism is on the rise," he said. "We anticipate more problems from these groups, although that doesn't mean they will have a ground swell of support.

"All we can do is plan for the worst and hope for the best."
