

Six UNC swimmers qualify for nationals

By TRACY YOUNG

Six UNC swimmers, including five women, qualified for the national tournament and one, Sue Walsh, broke a collegiate record here Friday against South Carolina. The Tar Heels won both ends of the meet, the women 80-33, and the men 65-48.

"What was so impressive about the women's win is that we could use each woman for time," coach Frank Comfort said. "No woman swam more than three times. It could have been a different meet."

Walsh's 2:01.64 in the 200 yd. backstroke broke Arizona State swimmer Cheryl Gibson's record by nearly three seconds. Gibson had a 2:04.36 in the event. Comfort called Walsh's swim "one of the finest dual meet swims I've seen in my life."

"I guess I was really surprised," Walsh said. "The training trip (over Christmas to North Palm Beach, Fla.) was a lot harder in comparison to the work we had been doing. When we got back, I was really tired and not expecting to swim that fast."

Carolina's Cami Berizzi also qualified for the nationals in the 200 yd. backstroke with her second place time of 2:05.26, fourth fastest in the country. Berizzi qualified for the national tournament a second time when she finished the first leg of a 3:56.54 medley relay in 58.04. Other swimmers in the event were Jenny Strickland, Barb Harris and Amy Pless.

"Cami Berizzi is one of the best swimmers in the country and is the backbone of the team," Comfort said.

Harris' 52.01 clocking in the 100 yd. freestyle added another national qualifier for the Heels, and the final woman qualifier for the national tournament was Gayle Hegel, who finished first in the 400 yd. individual medley with a time of 4:28.04.

The Tar Heel women won five other events. Walsh and Hegel captured the 200 yd. freestyle and 200 yd. breaststroke, respectively, while Amy Pless won the 50 yd. freestyle.

Berizzi was a triple winner for the meet when she, Harris, Kathy Smith, and Julie Bassichis took the 400 yd. free relay. Carolina's Janice Dalrymple won in one meter diving.

While the Carolina men won seven of their events compared to the women's nine, only Eric Ericson qualified for the national tournament. Ericson's 51.32 first leg of the 400 yd. medley relay led his team to a 3:30.50 first place finish.

Also swimming in the relay were Tim Sutton, Dirk Marshall and Mark Welker.

"In a men's meet, 57 points is all you go for," Comfort said. "If I get 57 points before you do, then the meet is mine. I thought it would go to the last relay for us to get it."

"The two divers who finished second and third, John Dameron and Barry Thomas, and Tom Mecklenburg, who placed second in the 200 yd. breaststroke, clinched the meet for us. They got us to 58 points."

Ericson also placed first in the 200 yd. backstroke, while Dave Hansen was a triple winner for the meet with victories in the 200 yd. freestyle, the 100 yd. freestyle, and the 400 yd. free relay. Other swimmers in the relay were Sutton, Geoff Castle and Ken Warren.

Craig Bartlett's wins in the 200 yd. freestyle and the 500 yd. freestyle rounded out the Carolina victories.

Comfort called Bartlett "one of the best swimmers we've recruited for Carolina. His wins were absolutely crucial for us."

Both sets of swimmers meet East Carolina Thursday in Greenville.

Wrestlers stomp ASU as b-ball fans cheer on

Students poured in and out of Carmichael every hour on the hour for basketball ticket checks, but by the time UNC heavyweight Tommy Gorry scored a superior decision to seal the Tar Heel win over Appalachian State, the majority stayed to cheer.

And they had plenty to cheer about. Led by pins by 134 lb. Harry Barnabae and 167 lb. All-America Jan Michaels, the seventh-ranked Carolina matmen easily defeated the Mountaineers 40-6, for their third dual-meet victory in a row to raise their record to 3-2 on the year.

"The crowd got real excited and it looks like we're starting to catch on a bit," Coach Bill Lam said. "What's important is that they cheered at the right time, and that just helps the kids."

The Tar Heels didn't seem to need any help Saturday, as they jumped to an early lead on 118 lb. Wes Hallman's 8-5 decision over ASU's Tom Moore.

After 126 lb. Bill Christie was outpointed by Appalachian's Thomas Hutchinson, Barnabae came back from a 3-2 deficit to pin Keith Moorehead 2:52 into the match.

"A lot of people don't understand a lot about wrestling except the pin," Barnabae said. "They get excited and it's a real good pick-you-up to get the guy on his back and stick him to the mat."

Freshman Pete Mankowich, in his second dual-meet win at Carmichael, grabbed a major decision over 142 lb. Mark Tuccillo, and immediately after 150 lb. Tar Heel Tim Platt had to be satisfied with an 8-8 draw with ASU's George Kotic.

Both 158 lb. senior Mike Elinsky and 177 lb. Danny Fisher took superior decisions, Elinsky over Rick Campo 15-3, and Fisher over Les Holbert 14-1.

Michaels, after a tough 6-0 loss to Peter Capone of Hofstra last week, roared back to completely dominate ASU's John Hampton 14-0 in the third period, before pinning him 6:32 into the match.

North Carolina's Robert Shriner won at 190 lbs. for forfeit, when he found himself alone at center-mat. Coach Lam was cited one point on a technical foul after arguing with the referee about the switching of some wrestlers in that match.

"You just don't argue with the official," Lam said.

Gorry then scored the superior decision 5-3 over Mountaineer Mark Browder to end the meet.

"They all did a good job," Lam said. "We left C.D. (Mock) and some of our starters out to give the younger guys experience, and it came out all right."

The grapplers' next home meet is at 7 p.m. Friday, Jan. 22 against Virginia Tech at Carmichael. The next ticket distribution match will be at 12 p.m., Jan. 23 against Old Dominion.

With 62 points, N.C. State outdistanced South Carolina (51) and North Carolina (34) to win their first men's track meet of the season and snap the Tar Heels win streak at 12. Duke rounded out the four-way meet with 16 points.

The women's team extended their streak, however, by easing past State 43-34.

Tar Heel women pound Georgia State

from staff reports

The North Carolina women's basketball team heads into conference action this week with Saturday's 91-63 pounding of Georgia State fresh on their minds.

"I thought we had the best all around team effort of any game we've played all year," coach Jennifer Alley said. "I was very pleased with the starters and the substitutes."

The Tar Heel win was part of the Wolfpack Doubleheader in Raleigh but the North Carolina squad only got to play once as Pittsburgh was late coming down because of bad weather.

Kathy Crawford led the Tar Heels with 17 points off the bench, while Henrietta Walls had 14 and Meredith White netted 12. Pam Hammond and Tresa Brown added 10 for the Heels.

"I don't know if we could have played that well if the (Pittsburgh) game had been played," Alley said. "But we felt good about ourselves at practice and I think it carried over into the game."

UNC fell behind 13-8 early in the game but scored six unanswered points to take the lead. The lead went back and forth until a steal and layup by Brown but the Heels ahead for good at 22-20.

Walls scored 12 first-half points to help the Tar Heels open up a 51-34 lead at the half. The lead never got less than 12 points the rest of the way and got as large as 31 at 90-59.

Dawn Castlin led the Panthers with 15 points and outside shooter Sheryl Martin scored 10.

The Tar Heels moved to 8-6 while the Panthers dropped to 7-9.

The North Carolina women don't have long to savour their victory. Duke travels to Carmichael Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to face the Heels in the conference opener. Three weeks of heavy conference battles follow although not all count on the conference schedule.

The No. 8 N.C. State Wolfpack upped its record to 14-2 with a hard fought 72-63 win over Pittsburgh.

Cavs beat Tigers

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Virginia's Ralph Sampson scored 22 points and pulled down 14 rebounds as the third-ranked Cavaliers waltzed past Clemson's Tigers 89-68 Sunday in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game.
