Permit needed

Sig Eps plan house

By JOHN CONWAY DTH Staff Writer

If granted a special-use permit by Chapel Hill Planning Board, Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity will begin constructing a new house this spring, said Ron Merritt, Sigma Phi Epsilon alumni board member.

The fraternity has proposed to build a 10,760-square-foot house at the southwest corner of Cameron Avenue and Pittsboro Street, now a fraternity parking area. The present house will be leveled, and a parking lot will be built in its place.

"The fraternity is in favor of the new house, and I think the community will be also," said Sig Ep President Joey Roberson. "It will be a vast improvement over the existing structure."

Roberson cited the deteriorating condition of the house as grounds for the proposed construction.

Merritt said the new house, a threestory, traditional brick structure with col#### umns would accommodate 43 men. The existing house fits 29. The additional occupancy will be a main source of financing the project, Merritt said. The new parking area will be paved. At a public meeting of the Planning Board, members of the United Church of Chapel Hill, adjacent to the fraternity on Cameron Avenue, voiced concern about landscaping changes.

"I came in to look at the plans the other day, and several things occurred to me. One was whether there has really been adequate provision to keep the oak tree back there," a church official said, referring to a tree on the border of the properties.

"We intend to save the tree," Merritt said. "We'll do everything we can before cutting it down."

will be reviewed by the board Feb. 2, and a public hearing on the board's findings will be held March 15. Action on the request will be formally discussed at a

Film cancellation spurs

damage to Union gallery

About $300 in damage was done to the Carolina Union gallery Friday night when a window was broken by a man who was apparently angry at the cancellation of a late-night film.

The concert film DOA had been scheduled for midnight but was cancelled at the last minute because of lack of interest and bad weather conditions.

The problem began shortly before midnight when eight to 10 people followed Lonnie Hawley, a Union staff member into the lobby in the Union as he went inside to check the lobby doors. Hawley said the group became unruly when he told them the movie had been cancelled. "There was a lot of verbal harassment," he said. Campus police officer Charles Jackson, who was patrolling in the Union, then came into the lobby and told the people to leave. A few minutes later one of the gallery win-documented that the questions are not leading in nature, Truelove said.

While someone is undergoing hypnosis the session must be video taped and sound recorded so the court can determine in its own mind that the questions were asked properly, he said.

"Hypnosis helps re-create sequences of events and helps in bringing out new facts," Truelove said. "We have yet to solve a case solely with the use of hypnosis."

Truelove recalled a case in California where hypnosis was used successfully on a bus driver of kidnapped children to discover who the kidnappers were. The Chapel Hill Police Department has been using hypnosis in house since last July, Truelove said. Truelove is currently the only officer with the Chapel Hill Police who knows
