Theft, forgery of checks end with arrests

By ROBERT KELLEY
Special to the DTH

The checkbook belonged to Larry Alford, head circulation librarian at Wilson Library, police said. Alford noticed the checkbook missing from his work desk after the library was broken into two weeks ago, he said.

Domino's Pizza manager David Wood told police he had received four of Alford's checks since the break-in.

The numbers on the checks remaining in the checkbook indicate that 10 checks were removed after the checkbook's disappearance, said Eric Upton of the Chapel Hill Police Department.

The checkbook was recovered when a Domino's delivery man became suspicious after taking a check from Weeks, Upton said.

Upton and campus police officer Rodney Carter accompanied the delivery man to the first floor TV room in Winston, where they arrested Weeks. They arrested Little on the third floor.

Carrboro task force formed to aid growth

By DEAN LOWMAN
DTH Staff Writer

Hoping to provide for the economic growth of downtown Carrboro, the Carrboro Board of Aldermen voted to create a Blue Ribbon Downtown Revitalization Task Force last week.

The task force will determine the problems and needs of downtown merchants and develop a comprehensive plan for enhancing the appearance of and stimulating business in the area, Alderman Jim White said.

"There's been a lot of concern among the merchants in the area about things like economic development, aesthetics, traffic problems and the possibility of putting electrical wiring underground," he said.

Downtown Carrboro includes East Main Street to Rosemary and Franklin Streets, North Greensboro from Main to Poplar Streets, South Greensboro to Carr Streets and the town hall complex.

"It's a good thing to get something going in that area," said Jim Steagall, owner of the College Cafe in Carr Mill Mall. "But it's up to the property owners whether anything really gets done."

Although the task force can only make recommendations for change to the Board of Aldermen, Carrboro planner Roy Willford said he felt the task force could assist the planning board in improving the downtown area.

"All we've (the planning board) done up to this point," Willford said, "is make up a survey of things like the vacancy rate and the condition of the buildings in that area."

"I believe we'll be able to work together and come up with a plan," he said. "But even so, it's going to take a lot of cooperation between the town and the downtown merchants."

The task force will be composed of two landowners in the downtown area, two citizens-at-large, two professionals from the town and two representatives from the planning board.

Also on the task force will be three persons from the town staff (economic development coordinator, planning director and public works director), two business persons from the downtown area and one person from the town's appearance committee.

"This will be a vehicle for us to work in," White said, adding that the town was considering seeking federal funding to help finance the revitalization.

"We had a revitalization committee a couple of years ago, but that kind of died out when it got to the what-are-we-gonna-do stage," he said.

"We need to go ahead with the comprehensive development plan. If we can't come up with a plan, then we'll have to go back to doing things on an (item-by-item) basis," White said.

Oil rig collapses; 84 missing

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland (AP)—One of the world's largest oil rigs sank today in a howling North Atlantic storm off the coast of Newfoundland and 84 workers aboard were missing and feared dead.

Rescue planes and ships battled poor visibility in rain and snow in a search for any survivors. The rig operator, Mobil Oil Canada Ltd., said bodies were spotted in the water where the rig had been operating 175 nautical miles east of St. John's.

The men had been ordered to abandon the rig when it developed a 15-degree list after a night-long beating in gale winds and snow, Mobil said. About nine hours later, Mobil issued an official statement that the Ranger had gone down.

Two lifeboats were sighted by search aircraft—one capsized and the other stern-down in the water. A partially inflated life raft also was seen, rescue authorities said.

For the record

In Monday's Daily Tar Heel, the story titled "Town Council seeks condo regulations" was incorrectly labeled as an analysis, while the related story, "Apartments converted to condos," was supposed to have been labeled as such. The DTH regrets the error.
