

Health officials say Hotel Europa pastries possible transmitter of viral hepatitis

By SARAH RAPER Staff Writer

Orange County Health Department officials issued a general advisory statement last weekend to persons who ate pastry at the Hotel Europa restaurant between April 6 and April 20, said Jerry Robinson, director of the department.

"There was one employee in a kitchen separate from the main hotel facilities confirmed as having viral hepatitis type A," he said. A call from the co-workers' physician was the first information the health department received about the situation. Robinson said there is a low-risk possibility of transmission of the disease through the uncooked portions of the pastry, such as the whipped cream. Because there is no specific immunization against hepatitis, Robinson recommended a human-immune globulin, available at hospitals, the local health department and Student Health Services. "Once you start showing the symptoms, it's too late," he warned. The incubation period lasts 15 to 50 days, he said. Robinson said the health department has received many inquiries from concerned persons, but has reported no illnesses. Bob Page, public relations consultant for the Hotel Europa, said the health department notified the hotel of the problem late Saturday night. "We called a meeting with the health department Sunday and we have been cooperating with their investigation," he said. Page said all pastries were destroyed as a precautionary measure. The two employees who contracted the disease have not been in the hotel since April 20.

"The hotel is not legally responsible because it has not violated any health laws and is not guilty of neglect," Page said. "We're responding to this problem out of concern for our employees and customers."
