Gunmen kill top Spanish general, wound 1

The Associated Press

MADRID, Spain — Two men firing submachine guns from a motorcycle assassinated a top Spanish general Thursday as he was being driven to work on a busy residential street near Madrid's Arch of Triumph. The attack took place an hour after Pope John Paul II left the capital.

Gen. Victor Lago Roman, 63-year-old commander of the elite Brunete First Armored Division, died instantly, the Madrid civilian governor's office said. His soldierdriver suffered slight wounds.

Police said they believed the assassins were Basque terrorists, but there was no immediate claim of responsibili-

Socialist Premier-elect Felipe Gonzalez called the killing "a provocation." He said that if the attackers were trying to challenge "the new majority chosen by the Spanish people," his government would "use all means at the disposal of the democratic state to do away with the scourge of terrorism."

Gonzalez and his Socialist Workers' Party won an overwhelming victory a week ago in general elections that guaranteed them a majority in Parliament for the first time in Spanish history. Gonzalez said after the victory that "pacification" of the Basque region and banishing Spain's "coup mentality" would be Socialist priorities.

The victory was officially certified Thursday. The Socialists are scheduled to take power after King Juan Carlos convenes the new Parliament at the end of

The king, commander-in-chief of the armed forces and a backer of Spain's return to parliamentary democracy following the death of Gen. Francisco Franco in 1975, rushed to the clinic where Lago Roman's body lay.

He met later at his residence with Gonzalez, outgoing Premier Leopoldo Calvo Sotelo, the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, Gen. Alvaro Lacalle Leloup, and Defense Minister Alberto Oliart.

All later expressed their resolve to fight terrorism and support the armed forces.

DUBLIN, Ireland - Prime Minister Charles Haughey's 8-month-old minority government fell Thursday after it lost a confidence vote in Parliament by two Three Marxist legislators who have helped keep Haughey in office since February switched sides to protest the government's proposed cuts in health spending.

The Dail, or Irish parliament, voted 82-80 on a motion of no confidence introduced by the main opposition Fine Gael Party.

The collapse of Haughey's Fianna Fail administration means the Irish Republic must have its third general election since June 1981.

The new poll is expected on Nov. 25 or Dec. 2.

The government was ousted after the three legislators of the Workers' Party defected and voted with Fine

They were protesting cuts in state spending on health proposed by Haughey as part of a package of austerity measures designed to revive the Republic's nosediving economy.

COLOGNE, West Germany -Police Chief Juergen Hosse said Thursday authorities are seeking prosecution of nine Turkish leftists who called off their 16-hour siege of the Turkish Consulate after being promised they could ask for political asylum.

He also told a news conference that a 10th Turk was arrested on suspicion of helping to plot the attack and the seizure of about 80 hostages Wednesday.

Hosse did not specify what charges will be brought against the 10, who were being interrogated Thursday. The gunmen surrendered early Thursday and released the last 13 of their hostages unharmed,
