Factors of Andrews' re-election show voters' view of Helms' PAC

By J. CLINTON WEAVER
Staff Writer

Local political science professors agree that negative campaign advertising and Rep. Ike Andrews' recent guilty plea to a charge of driving under the influence were major factors in the incumbent Democrat's victory over challenger Bill Cobey in the recent 4th Congressional District election.

Charles Mercer, Andrews' campaign manager, cited many reasons for his candidates' victory. In a telephone interview, he said the win reflected a "backlash against the National Congressional Club's attempt to purchase the election."

But Claude Allen, press secretary for Cobey, said money had little effect on the outcome. He said Andrews received more help from labor unions outside the 4th District than Cobey did from the Club.

Mercer said Andrews' victory came with the help of the Democratic Party's unity campaign in counties across the state — particularly in Orange County.

Allen said Democrats used fear tactics in their campaigning. "Andrews played on the fear of the people," he said. "People were afraid of losing Social Security, of not having any money."

Both Allen and Mercer agreed that Andrews' DUI guilty plea did not hurt his reelection bid. "The people were willing to forgive him and concentrate on the issues," Mercer said.

"There was a lot of sympathy support for Andrews," as a result of the DUI, Allen said.

Dr. Jeffrey Elliot, of North Carolina Central University's political science department, agreed there was a sympathy factor. "The people felt he had made a mistake, that he had suffered enough, and they were willing to forgive him," Elliot said in a telephone interview.

Merle Black, an assistant professor in UNC's political science department, said, "I have the feeling everybody wrote Andrews off when the DUI happened. He turned it into a political advantage by saying, 'We're all sinners.'"

Black said there must be a change in Andrews' conduct for him to remain in office. "This is certainly not a pro-Andrews vote," Black said.

Instead, Black pointed to Cobey's negative advertising as a major factor in the outcome. He said the advertisements were "incredibly simplified."

"When the voters looked at Cobey, they didn't see anything substantial at all," Black said.

Elliot also pointed to Cobey's advertising strategy as a determinant. "Cobey portrayed Andrews as a big spending, liberal Democrat," he said. "Anyone who has studied Andrews' record knows that he is not."

"Cobey's campaign was completely negative," Elliot said. "He proposed few alternatives."

Black said the decision by the Congressional Club not to allow Cobey to participate in a debate which aired on public television hurt Cobey's chances.

"Cobey doesn't think very well on his feet and he is inarticulate," Black said.

Israeli official gives testimony on Beirut slaughter

The Associated Press

JERUSALEM — The Israeli military commander in Beirut indicated in testimony Sunday that Lebanese Christian militias were allowed to continue their sweep through Palestinian refugee camps there long after suspicions of a slaughter had surfaced.

Brig. Gen. Amos Yaron's testimony before a special Israeli commission investigating the Sept. 16-18 massacre at the Sabra and Chatila camps contradicted Defense Minister Ariel Sharon's account.

Yaron said he began receiving vague, fragmentary indications that something was amiss within hours of the Christians' entry into the camps in the afternoon of Sept. 16.

But he implied under questioning that permission to continue the slaughter was given by chief of staff Lt. Gen. Raphael Eytan at a meeting at 4 p.m. on Sept. 17 in Beirut.

Asked whether anyone spoke to the militiamen about how the operation was going, Yaron replied, "I believe the chief of staff even said some nice words to them about it."

Sharon told the commission Oct. 25 that the sweep of the refugee camps was ordered stopped at midnight on Sept. 17 — four hours before the meeting.

He said the militias, sent in to ferret out fugitive Palestine Liberation Organization guerrillas, were only allowed to stay until 5 a.m. on Sept. 18 to give them time to regroup and withdraw.

TEHRAN, Iran — Iranian forces pushed six miles across the border Sunday in their second invasion of Iraq in four months, Iran's Parliament speaker said.

The speaker, Hashemi Rafsanjani, told a news conference the invasion force reached Tib, an Iraqi town of 3,000, and an adjacent town, which he did not name. A producing oilfield also lies in that area of Iraq, 170 miles southeast of Baghdad.

There was no immediate comment from Iraq on Rafsanjani's report. If true, it is Iran's second invasion of Iraq in their 25-month-old border war. In July, the Iranians attacked across the southern end of the frontier and stormed toward Basra, Iraq's second-largest city, but they were driven back in heavy fighting.

BARCELONA, Spain — A baggy-eyed Pope John Paul II, speaking near the end of a grueling 10-day tour of Spain, called Sunday for urgent action to end the world recession and for a new economic order based on business-labor cooperation.

"The state cannot resign itself to support unemployment forever," the pontiff declared under rainy skies in Barcelona, Spain's second-largest city. "Creation of new jobs must constitute an economic and political priority."

In his speech to an audience in Barcelona's hillside Montjuich district, John Paul urged workers and business leaders to work together to reduce unemployment. The jobless rate in Spain is 14.6 percent of the workforce.

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union rolled a brawny display of military hardware through Red Square Sunday in Revolution Day festivities. President Leonid I. Brezhnev said "cool the hot heads of some imperialist politicians."

Soviet generals displayed two weapons never before seen at the parade — an improved surface-to-air missile and an updated armored personnel carrier reportedly in use against Moslem insurgents in Afghanistan. Hundreds of thousands of Muscovites jammed the cobblestone square to watch the show in 21-degree cold and brilliant sunshine.

Defense Minister Marshal Dmitri F. Ustinov, 74, presided over the military ceremonies marking the 65th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, which led to the founding of the Soviet state. He stood beside the 75-year-old Brezhnev atop the red marble mausoleum of revolutionary leader Vladimir I. Lenin.

Ustinov and Brezhnev both denounced the United States in tough speeches that showed no sign of easing the Kremlin's anti-American rhetoric.

NEW YORK — The National Football League strike talks collapsed Saturday night when a mediator pulled out in frustration, and a spokesman for the owners said the 1982 season is in "serious, serious jeopardy."

The players' negotiators said they would stay in New York in hopes that the talks could resume, but no further bargaining was scheduled and Jim Miller, a spokesman for the owners' NFL Management Council, said, "We're leaving."

"At some point, you have to lose the season," Miller said. "At what point do you still have a season? Is three games a season?"

Only two weekends of games were played before the strike began 47 days ago, and seven weekends — 98 games — have been wiped out since then. Seven weekends of the original schedule remain.

Mediator Sam Kagel left after ending face-to-face bargaining and resorting in shuttle negotiations in a futile effort to save the talks. He said he would return at the request of both the owners and the players.
