NASA plans Thursday launch

The Associated Press

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Columbia's four-man crew, the largest ever to assemble for space flight, began final preparations Tuesday after NASA decided to ignore a "creeping" helium leak and launch a less-than-perfect shuttle Thursday morning.

Countdown was going smoothly for Columbia's first commercial venture after four test flights. Liftoff was set for 7:19 a.m. EST; the weather forecast was favorable.

After a night of monitoring the ship's faulty back-up helium regulator, engineers said the leak was slower than expected and NASA officials elected to bend mission rules and launch.

"We are compromising by saying the leak rate is acceptable for flight," said countdown director Stanley

Gross. NASA's rules say the shuttle won't be launched with a faulty back-up system. Helium is used to pressurize fuel lines and Gross said the leak would go away in flight.

The decision to ignore the leak avoids a weeks-long delay. A quick fix would not have been possible and the shuttle, mated to its fuel tank and two solid rocket boosters, would have been taken back into its assembly hangar.

On-time launch is particularly important to NASA since the agency's shuttle is carrying its first commercial payloads — two nearly identical communications satellites that will be released from the cargo bay and rocketed 22,300 miles into space.

NASA is receiving about $11 million each from its customers — Satellite Business Systems of McLean, Va., and Telesat Canada, Inc. The agency isn't making money on the flight, however. The cost of flying the shuttle on its 5-day mission is about $150 million.

The launch "window" — the time during which the vehicle can be launched — is only 33 minutes, much shorter than usual. The need to be at a precise point at a precise time for the satellite launches is one of the new constraints.

The four astronauts who will ride Columbia on its fifth leap into space flew to Cape Canaveral from their training base in Houston.

Vance Brand and Robert Overmyer, the shuttle's commander and pilot, flew together in one plane; William Lenoir and Joe Allen, who will handle the satellite launches and take a spacewalk, were aboard the other.

Poland's martial law regime vows to crush Solidarity protests

The Associated Press

WARSAW, Poland — Communist Poland's martial law regime vowed to crush nationwide protest strikes set for Wednesday and declared it will do anything to "ensure peace."

The government seized underground

Solidarity radio transmitters and a printing press Tuesday and was reported putting former union activists into "protective custody" or detention for 48 hours.

Warsaw appeared calm, however, and official and unofficial sources in several other large Polish cities reported no overt police presence on the eve of the protests.

"We hope all citizens will understand that respect for law and order is in the interest of state and society," government spokesman Jerzy Urban told a news conference. "If it is necessary, the government will use all measures to ensure peace."

"It is difficult for the authorities to anticipate what will happen tomorrow (Wednesday)," Urban said. "But there is no reason to worry too much. We are calm and determined."

Urban underlined a warning from the Council of Ministers Monday, saying the government was determined to ensure peace. "The measures will depend on the scale of the disturbances," he said.

Although Urban linked the outcome of events to the duration of martial law, he also suggested that a weaker showing by strikers would not slow official pledges to try to lift military rule by the end of this year.

BRIEFLY

The Associated Press

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — As many as 2,000 Afghan civilians and 700 Soviet soldiers perished in a tunnel jammed with buses and trucks when a fuel truck exploded, Western diplomatic sources said Tuesday.

The diplomatic sources and Afghan rebels said victims burned to death or were asphyxiated after the truck collided with another vehicle last week in the 1.7-mile-long Salang pass tunnel in the Hindu Kush Mountain range 70 miles north of the capital, Kabul.

Guerrillas, who recently have ambushed several convoys on the main highway that passes through the tunnel, denied any role in the explosion, which is believed to have occurred Nov. 2 or 3.

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Parliament, in an overwhelming vote of confidence Tuesday, empowered Lebanon's new government to rule by decree for the next six months.

The 58-1 vote will allow the government to introduce radical reforms in security, defense, taxation, reconstruction and education — a long overdue process held up since the 1975-76 civil war.

Prime Minister Shafiq Wazzan, a Moslem who formed the 10-member Cabinet on Oct. 8, requested decree powers from Parliament last week.

WASHINGTON — The National Academy of Sciences, citing "design flaws" in research techniques, proposed Tuesday yet another delay in the long-awaited investigation into whether Agent Orange damaged the health of Americans in Vietnam.

The proposal was likely to frustrate Vietnam veterans, many of whom were gathering in Washington for a four-day salute culminating with Saturday's dedication of a monument honoring those who served and died in the war.

A committee of the National Research Council, an arm of the science academy, said the pilot Agent Orange study should be delayed until preliminary results are compiled from an Air Force study.

Veterans have been pressing the government for answers about whether exposure to the toxic herbicide increased the likelihood that they will get serious diseases or have children with birth defects.

SANTIAGO DE COMPOSTELA, Spain — In an emotional finale to his 10-day Spanish trip, Pope John Paul II pleaded Tuesday for peace in Europe and offered the services of the Roman Catholic Church as mediator between East and West.

There was no indication he was aware of news reports that a Basque separatist plot to assassinate him had been uncovered and foiled.

The pope later took off for Italy, ending the first visit by a pontiff to Spain.

PITTSBURGH — U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop said Tuesday that video games may be hazardous to the health of young people, who he said are becoming addicted to the machines "body and soul."

Koop, a Philadelphia pediatric surgeon who became surgeon general in January, said "more and more people are beginning to understand" adverse mental and physical effects of video games on preteen-age and teen-age children.

"Everything is eliminate, kill, destroy, let's get up and do it fast," Koop said.

He described symptoms brought on by the game as "tensions, sleeplessness in kids and dreams that have to do with the things they have been doing all day."

Among the topics presented Saturday will be human rights education, working against the death penalty, and campaigns and special actions. The last topic will include information about AI worldwide campaigns to publicize human rights conditions in particular countries.

Sunday's seminar will include talks about human rights abuses in Central America, and AI's role in the U.S. South.
