For the record

Because of a typesetting error in a photograph, UNC football player Kelvin Bryant was misidentified. Bryant is a senior tailback. The DTH regrets the error.

In the story titled "CGC committee to ask for study of BSM finances" (Friday, Nov. 12), The Daily Tar Heel incorrectly quoted Gerald Fonville as saying, "Most people of this or any other organization, when they don't know something, will just go out and get it." In fact, Fonville said, "Most people of this or any other organization, when they need something, will just go out and get it." The DTH regrets the error.

The majority of schools in the UNC system indicated they were already revising their cooking policies, Dixon said. "Some (schools) indicated they were moving in the direction we would like them to, not only because of our letters, but through their own experiences," he said.

"All the institutions realize this is the proper direction to go in before we have someone injured in an accident we should have kept from happening."

cooking

The pressure will still be on the Chancellor's Food Service Advisory Committee to provide a viable food service on campus, Harpster said.

Deputy Insurance Commissioner Ken Dixon said he had placed no deadline for any changes in cooking policy to be made. "For me to expect them to have everything working in this short period of time would be unrealistic of me. We don't try to make recommendations that are not realistic," he said.

"We do see a need to indicate a time limit to them maybe somewhere down the line, and if a fire occurs from a prohibited appliance, we would recommend that the student pay the damage costs after that date."

"Probably in May or June, we'll see which ones need a push," Dixon said. "If they need pressure, we'll give it to them. We try to do things in a cooperative manner, but we are the ones that have the final responsibility, so we can't shrug it off."

"We'd been having cooking problems at various universities in the system," Dixon said. "We're concerned that the same basic treatment should apply to all."

Dixon said he expected all UNC-system schools receiving recommendations to remove the specified high heat appliances from the bedroom areas. "We just want those appliances out of the bedrooms," he said. "We're trying, by prohibiting use of these appliances, to prevent problems at the schools that have no problems yet."

The Insurance Commission may be more lenient about schools providing full kitchens for students as long as they follow recommendations concerning high heat appliances, Dixon said.

BRIEFLY

The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — A Federal judge ruled Monday that the Selective Service regulations requiring draft registration were invalid, saying the government did not follow proper procedures when it enacted the law.

U.S. District Judge Terry Hatter Jr., ruling in the case of a 21-year-old draft resister, said the time and place requirements of the presidential proclamation establishing registration and a July 19, 1980 Selective Service regulation setting up the manner of registration "are invalid" because they did not comply with a required time period for notification.

Hatter's ruling came after the government refused to turn over certain documents and evidence which the defense had sought and refused to permit White House counselor Edwin Meese III to testify in the case of David Weind.

MOSCOW — Leonid I. Brezhnev, the steelworker's son who guided the Soviet Union to superpower heights, was buried Monday in Red Square.

His successor as Communist Party chief, Yuri V. Andropov, pledged in an eulogy to pursue Brezhnev's policies at home and abroad, and offered in a meeting with U.S. Vice President George Bush to "build relations" with the United States.

Andropov warned, however, that the Soviets would "give a crushing rebuff to any attempt at aggression."

Brezhnev died of an apparent heart attack last Wednesday at age 75. Within two days, the Communist Party Central Committee had selected the 68-year-old Andropov, a former chief of the KGB secret police, to take his place as party general secretary, most powerful post in the Soviet hierarchy.

The presidency, the second position held by Brezhnev, has not been filled. Most analysts expect it to go to another senior member of the ruling Politburo, opening an era of collective leadership.

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — A criminal court judge on Monday ordered five national guardsmen to stand trial in the murder of four American Roman Catholic churchwomen nearly two years ago.

Judge Bernardo Rauda Murcia, who conducted the nine-month equivalent of a grand jury probe, ruled there was enough evidence for a trial against the guardsmen. Details of the indictment have not been made public yet.

The Reagan administration has demanded that this and other cases of alleged government brutality be stopped as a condition for continued U.S. aid.

The three nuns and a lay worker, who had been working with Salvadoran peasants, were detained and shot dead by a national guard patrol 30 miles outside the capital Dec. 4, 1980. Some showed signs of rape.
