Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

CGC OKs Hoover as attorney general

By LIZ LUCAS
Assistant University Editor

The Campus Governing Council has approved Hunter Hoover, a junior zoology major from Asheboro, as the 1983-84 student attorney general. Hoover was appointed by Student Body President Kevin Monroe.

The duties of student attorney general are twofold, Hoover said. Primarily, the attorney general investigates any complaints, ranging from academic violations to harassment, and determines if there is enough evidence to warrant charging a person with a violation. The Honor Court will then hear the case if the person is charged, Hoover said, adding that it is not his duty to determine guilt.

The attorney general's other duty is to coordinate four assistants and approximately 30 staff members so that cases are fairly and accurately presented to the Honor Court, Hoover said.

Hoover said that he felt his background in the judicial branch of student government has helped prepare him for the duties of his new office. He served as a member of the attorney general's staff his sophomore year and as an assistant attorney general during the past year.

From his experience, Hoover said he saw two types of changes he would like to instigate in the judicial branch.

"I'd really like to make the honor system more visible on campus in a positive light," Hoover said. "I'd like to let people see the honor system here not just snatching people up for honor code violations. I'd like them to see that it bolsters academic integrity on campus."

There are several possible ways this change can be achieved, including a public mock trial for students and talks with different departments to better inform them of the honor system, Hoover said.

Hoover said he also planned to make several administrative changes in the basic functions of the office.

Hoover was appointed as attorney general after applying for the position and being interviewed by the student body president. Hoover then met with the Rules and Judiciary Committee, which later made a motion to the CGC for his appointment.

Council accepts petitions opposing extension

By PETE AUSTIN
Staff Writer

The Chapel Hill Town Council Monday night accepted a stack of petitions opposing the extension of McCauley Street and approved the closing of two local streets during upcoming community events.

Bernard Greenberg, a resident of Brookside Drive, presented to the council petitions containing 204 signatures of residents opposing the extension. Brookside Drive residents will be affected by the extension as much as McCauley Street residents because Brookside intersects the west end of McCauley, he said.

Over three-fourths of the 204 residents live on McCauley Street, he said.

Greenberg stated six reasons why the council should not approve the McCauley Street extension.

If the extension were approved, Greenberg said, parking would have to be prohibited on the street. Rosemary Street is a good example of this, he said. When Rosemary was extended, the town had to prohibit parking on parts of it. The Chapel Hill Transportation Board agreed that parking would not be allowed if the street is extended, he said.

Second, if the extension were approved, there would be an additional burden on traffic in the area, he said, causing an increase of accidents in the area. Many residents are concerned about the safety of their children as well, Greenberg said.

There would be an added burden on many residents of both Brookside Drive and McCauley Street because of the increased traffic, he said. Because their driveways enter directly onto McCauley Street, residents of this street often back into the thoroughfare, and extra traffic would greatly increase the risk of an accident, he said. McCauley Street is the only outlet that Brookside residents have, and added traffic would cause them delay and would be an unnecessary burden on them, Greenberg said.

"The noise pollution and fumes would prevent the residents from fully enjoying their homes," he said.

McCauley Street is only 28 feet wide west of Ransom Street, which is not wide enough to accommodate extra traffic, he said.

Finally, Greenberg said 99 percent of the residents of this area oppose the extension.

After the ovation from the audience subsided, the council voted unanimously to accept the petition opposing the extension of McCauley Street, which was recommended by the planning and transportation boards as part of the thoroughfare plan.

WASHINGTON — Senate Republicans who are deadlocked with President Reagan over cuts in his proposed 1984 defense budget reluctantly agreed Tuesday to a personal request from Reagan to delay decisive votes on the plan.

Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, said Reagan promised to look for ways to slow the proposed increase in military spending for next year and beyond.

But Domenici said Reagan made no specific promises to reduce his $238.6 billion 1984 Pentagon budget plan far enough to meet the demands of a broad majority of Republicans and Democrats on the committee.

At the same time, sources who spoke on condition they not be identified said House Democratic leaders have agreed on a budget blueprint calling for only a 4 percent increase in defense spending next year, more money for domestic spending than Reagan wants and a smaller deficit than forecast by the administration.

WARRENTON — The jailed leader of Warren County residents' protest against the state PCB landfill was taken to a hospital for tests Tuesday as his fast entered its 12th day.

Ken Ferruccio, chairman of Warren County Citizens Concerned About

PCB, was taken from the Warren County Jail to Warren General Hospital, sheriff's department officials said.

Deborah Ferruccio, his wife, said the test lasted about 20 minutes.

"As far as I understand, he's all right," she said.

Mrs. Ferruccio said Ferruccio has agreed to post bond and leave jail on March 21 to attend a rally, but that he had no plans to end his fast.

Ferruccio was arrested about two weeks ago on charges of stealing a landfill pipe and trespassing at the landfill site in Afton. He has been refusing to eat and to leave jail on bond.

WASHINGTON — The nation's industrial output rose for a third straight month in February, but the 0.3 percent gain was much smaller than in January, the government reported Tuesday. Unfazed by the apparent slackening, most economists said recovery from the recession was still proceeding.

February gains were recorded for output of cars and other consumer goods, for construction materials and for defense and space equipment, the Federal Reserve Board report said. Production of business equipment continued to decline.

Jack Lavery, chief economist for Merrill Lynch & Co., said the new increase "reinforces the notion that the recovery is very much a reality."

NEED HELP WITH YOUR STUDENT LOAN?

If you attended or are now attending college on a Guaranteed Student loan or a National Direct Student Loan made after October 1, 1975, you may want to consider spending a couple of years in the Army. Here's why.

If you qualify and train for certain Army specialties, the government will release you from 1/2 your loan debt (or $1,500, whichever is greater) for each year of Army active duty. Obviously, a three-year enlistment cancels your entire debt. A full 1/2 with the Army's exclusive two year enlistment. Plus, you may also be eligible for one or more of the Army's other generous educational incentives, enlistment bonuses or the Army College Fund, that can provide up to $20,100 to further your education even more.

To find out how to get the challenge and experience of serving your country plus get out of debt, call your local Army recruiter. Look in the Yellow Pages under "Recruiting."
