CAMPUS CALENDAR

ents must be turned into the box outside the DTH offices in the Carolina Union by 1 p.m. if Public service anno they are to be run the next day. Only announcements from University recognized and campus organizations will be printed. All announcements must be limited to 25 words and can only run for two days. In the event that the Calendar does not run because of space limitations, groups should turn in announcements at least two days in advance to ensure they run at least once.

TODAY'S ACTIVITIES

The University Relations Committee will meet briefly in Suite C of the Carolina Union at 3:30 p.m. Come speak French at the Petit Quebec at 4:30 p.m. at Mol-Maguire's in the NCNB Plaza.

IVCF Off-Campus will meet at 6 p.m. Join us for a covereddish dinner and discussion: "Feed my Sheep." Bible Church basement, Mason Farm Road, Albert Long (UNC four-sport letterman) will speak at 7 p.m. in the Granville South lower lobby. Topic is "Jesus ... the Man." Refreshments at 6:45 p.m. Granville IVCF chapter meeting. Everyone is welcome.

COMING EVENTS

Attention all current or prospective drama majors and interested parties: departmental meeting for questions, answers, introductions, etc. will be held at 4 p.m. Monday in the Paul Green Theatre.

Be a tutor - make a difference! Organizational meeting at 5 p.m. Monday in the Campus Y. For more information call the Y. The Catholic Newman Center at 218 Pittsboro St. will host Sister Eunice, a medical missionary sister from Lumkin Lumpkin, Ga., at 7:30 p.m. Monday. She will talk about her ministry to people living in areas of rural poverty. Admission is Nikki Giovanni, the princess of black poetry, will speak at 8 p.m. Monday in Memorial Hall. Applications for the reception afterward are available at the Union desk and are due noon to-

Freeman J. Dyson from the Institute of Advanced Study will speak on "Non-Nuclear Defense Technology" at noon Mon-day in 207 Hamilton Hall. You are invited to bring a brown bag lunch - coffee will be provided.

All ATESEC officers must attend a crucial meeting from 7 to 10 p.m. Monday. Nick Rawe will be in attendance, leading part of the meeting

American Atheists will discuss the rationale behind having an atheist organization. All are welcome. Meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Carolina Union.

The UNC Outing Club will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in the Carolina Union. Check at Union desk for room number. All interested are welcome!

Delta Sigma Pi will hold the first pledge meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in 222 New Carroll. Any problems or questions, call Laura Austin, 933-5116.

Campus Y Community Link informational meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday upstairs in the Y. Refreshments will be served. Come on out and become a friend to an elder.

The Kappa Omicron Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc. will be holding its formal Fall Rush at 7 p.m. Sunday in the Great Hall of the Carolina Union. All interested ladies are encouraged to appeal.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Be well at the New Well, located on the second floor of the Student Health Service building. For more information, call 942-WELL. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday

The Graduate Management Admissions Test is Oct. 22. Applications must be postmarked by Monday. Applications are available at Nash Hall.

The UNC Judo Club practices Monday and Wednesday 7 to 9 p.m. in the Fetzer Gym wrestling room, beginning Monday. Beginning and advanced students are welcome. For information, call 942-4382.

Homecoming queen and parade applications are available in the CAA office, Suite A and the Carolina Union desk. Student Consumer Action Union is accepting applications for committee chairs and members. Come by Suite B of the Carolina Union for applications and informa Playmakers Repertory Company is looking for a drummer for its production of As You Like It opening Oct. 6. Call Kim Kearsley at 962-1132.

Learn to sail. Sign up for sailing lessons Tuesday through Friday in the Pit.

Diamond Gals: Anyone interested in becoming a UNC Varsity Baseball Diamond Gal please call Judy (967-0263), Ann (967-5562) or Terri (929-4039 by Friday before 11 p.m.

Do you play Dungeons and Dragons, Traveller, Gamma World or Dragonquest? Interested in a D and D tournament and a judged costume contest? If so, sign up for Wrath of Con in the Pit from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. Monday through Friday.

College Bowl, The Varsity Sport Of The Mind, is returning for the 1983-84 season. Applications for moderator, scorer, timer and checker will be accepted through noon, Sept. 16. Forms available at the Union Desk. Watch for further infor-

The final application deadline for students planning to apply for admission to the junior physical therapy class, fall 1984 is Oct. 1.

The Sexuality Education & Counseling Service is accepting applications for new counselors. Applications are available at the Union desk and in Suite B of the Union. Training will be

By ROBYN NORWOOD Staff Writer

Jan Miles is bored. The field hockey season started a week ago and Miles was there, ready and waiting. So she waited.

But there was nothing to do. No shots on goal. No saves. No goals. Nothing. It won't last.

The North Carolina field hockey team shut out Virginia Commonwealth Sept. 9. For Miles, who holds school records for both saves in a game and saves in a season, it was a slow game.

The season accelerates tonight with a 7 p.m. meeting against James Madison on the Astroturf Field. And by Sunday morning at 11 a.m. it will be going at full tilt when UNC runs into Penn State, also at home.

Things have been looking fine for the Tar Heels so far with last year's leading scorer, Louise Hines, knocking in two goals in the ## season opener and the veteran defense holding

But if the Tar Heels aren't looking, James Madison could mar their record. "We're a little "I think last year we surprised them." After a

But almost before North Carolina can get off the field Friday, it'll be time for a Saturday morning practice. Later, for some, there may be a trip to Durham to catch Duke in action against Penn State.

And then Sunday morning, Penn State. down of a year, Penn State was second.

But when the lens zooms back in on 1983, Penn State coach Gillian Rattray sees a team with only three returning starters. Graduation casualties were heavy in University Park, and included Brenda Stauffor a 1084 Olympian and the 1982 Player of the Year.

What Shelton sees is a team that defeated her Tar Heels by a 6-1 score last year. And a team that she remembers North Carolina played evenly against in the second half - each team scored one goal.

"I think they (Penn State) are counting on two relatively easy Division I wins," Shelton said

But if anyone's counting, North Carolina has the edge in some crucial categories. Experience for one. And while Penn State and Duke battle it out Saturday in Durham, chances are a few Tar Heels will be watching.

Traditionalist Rattray still has her team practice on grass.

"Last year they whooped us," Shelton said of the loss to Penn State.

UNC finished 13th in the final 1982 poll. The first 1983 poll isn't due out for more than a week.

"It would be a big step for us to beat Penn State before the first poll," Shelton said.

High school students will have to pass writing test

The Associated Press

North Carolina is one of nine states requiring 20 or more units for high school graduation. And this year, for the first time, the competency test will include a writing section.

"I think we're coming the full circle in terms of our attitude toward education," said Ms. Owen, a former teacher. "I see a new feeling that an education stressing the basics is a child's best hope for getting a good job and being successful. People should have realized this all along, but sometimes you wondered."

Page, the Duke professor, says he's not convinced.

"These new programs are encouraging, but the heart of the matter remains what's going on in the classroom, and we've got a long way to go there," he said.

Education quality won't increase markedly until students are forced to take more math, science and English courses and fewer electives, said Page. Also, the should be assigned far more homework, and realistic grading should be "rediscovered," he said.

"Keep the student working. That's the most important thing," he said. "Right now, the grading system is Mickey Mouse. Students can get by with anywhere from 10 minutes to half an hour of homework a night, then get A's and B's." In fact, he said, studies have shown that many students who do no homework have high C or low B averages.

Another point of contention is the monetary cost of improving education. Page says it should be minimal, but state Superientendent of Public Instruction Craig Phillips says a massive infusion of funds is needed to improve teacher pay, reduce class sizes, upgrade facilities and buy materials.

SHARE THE

COST OF LIVING.

During the General Assembly session earlier this year, Phillips bitterly complained that the public schools' funding requests were being slighted in favor of the state's 16-campus university system.

The public schools' top priorities remain increasing teacher pay and reducing class sizes, which means hiring more teachers. Although the ratio is an ideal one teacher and one aide per 26 pupils in kindergarten through the third grade, it slips to one teacher per 30 students in grades 4-6 and one per 31 in grades 7-12, Phillips said.

"Meanwhile, in the community colleges they average one teacher per 22 students," he said. "For us to achieve that, we'd need several hundred million dollars. Maybe we can't do it overnight, but we need to get started."

A task force is expected to present Hunt with a proposed legislative agenda before the 1984 short General Assembly session. Ms. Owen said the suggestions could deal with many of the topics Page stresses, such as curricula.

But Phillips said the biggest favors Hunt could do public schools would be pushing legislators to give them more money while lifting

BLOOM COUNTY

Friday, September 16, 1983/The Daily Tar Heel/5

North Carolina field hockey team takes on JMU Friday, Penn State Sunday

VCU scoreless.

bit concerned," said UNC coach Karen Shelton. 5-1 UNC victory, the element of surprise is gone. And JMU returns 10 of 11 starters.

The Lady Lions finished in the top four in the NCAA Division I championship last year. In 1981, they were AIAW national champions. In 1980, the same. And back in 1979, in a big let-

> OBVIOUSLY. THE WHOLE IDEA IS RIDICULOUS ...

