

Gubernatorial candidate Knox says jobs equal education

Gubernatorial candidate Eddie Knox spoke to students Tuesday in the Carolina Union. He encouraged training for high-tech jobs.

By WAYNE THOMPSON
Staff Writer

Charlotte mayor and Democratic gubernatorial candidate Eddie Knox brought his "Jobs Equal Education" platform to 80 students Wednesday in the Carolina Union.

"God help us if we don't match up jobs with education today," Knox said as he unveiled his program to encourage the training of North Carolinians for high-tech jobs.

"If we stick to the rural traditions of North Carolina, most of you are going to be going off to Silicon Valley," said Knox. Silicon Valley is an area in California known for its abundance of computer industries.

Knox said one-third of North Carolina's manufacturing jobs will be done by machines in 1993. "Robots will do the things that your mom and dad have done for years," he said.

In order to prepare students for what he called the new "information age," Knox said North Carolina must develop sophisticated plans for the education of youth.

Though he said he did not know everything about education, Knox said as governor he would appoint an educational commission composed of academicians to come up with recommendations. Knox has publicly supported improving the state's community college system.

Like Gov. Jim Hunt, Knox believes one way to improve North Carolina's economy is to encourage out-of-state and international firms to locate their businesses in North Carolina. "In Charlotte, we've brought $200 million worth of investment (into the city) in a four-year period," he said.

The former two-term N.C. senator, who chews tobacco and also likes to do a little gospel singing every now and then, listed other accomplishments in Charlotte. "In Mecklenburg County our unemployment rate is 5 percent, compared to other counties where it is 18 percent or higher," Knox said.

But perhaps his most interesting feat as mayor was the clean-up of the West Trade Street area in Charlotte — a street previously known for its prostitution and adult book stores. "One DJ said he saw two of them (prostitutes) in the back seat of a car driving out of the city," Knox said.

"I've gotten rid of 90 percent of the massage parlors," he added as the crowd laughed.

Knox ended his speech on a more serious note. "I believe what leadership I give has to bring out the best of you," he told students. "We want you to become involved in North Carolina."

WASHINGTON — President Reagan will travel to Camp Lejeune on Friday to attend a memorial service in honor of Marines who were killed in Lebanon and Grenada, it was announced Tuesday.

After the service, the president and his wife, Nancy, will meet family members of the victims, according to deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes.

The president plans to address the base personnel and their families at nearby Cherry Point Marine Air Station before returning to the White House at mid-afternoon.

The Marines serving with a multinational peacekeeping contingent in Beirut are based at Camp Lejeune.

WASHINGTON — The hotly debated MX missile program overcame another challenge Tuesday as the House voted 217-208 to approve $2.1 billion to produce the first 21 of the intercontinental nuclear weapons.

In an hour-long debate, MX advocates said the Reagan administration has made sincere efforts in arms control, but opponents remained deeply skeptical. House members defeated an amendment by Rep. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-N.Y., that would have stripped the production money from a $247 billion defense spending bill.

The vote was the closest call that the program has had this year in the House. Members had approved production by a 13-vote margin in a military authorization bill in July and had freed impounded money for the project by 53 votes in April.

RALEIGH — In 85 of North Carolina's 100 counties, more people were working in September than in August, state Employment Security Commission chairman Glenn Jernigan said Tuesday.

Jernigan said the jobless rate fell in 85 counties, increased in 13 others and remained the same in two.

"Claims for unemployment insurance provide a good indicator, and we watch them closely," Jernigan said. "On a weekly average basis, 100,000 fewer people filed claims in September than in January 1983."

desegregation

vent the cutoff of funds, UNC accused HEW of unconstitutional efforts to end desegregation.

One of UNC's main objections to HEW's criteria was the department's demand that UNC end duplicate programming at predominantly black and predominantly white institutions. In the suit, UNC argued that eliminating duplication would hinder educational freedom.

The case continued in court until UNC approved the terms of the consent decree to end the dispute. Under the consent decree, UNC's activities will be monitored by Dupree until Dec. 31, 1986. The document is in effect until Dec. 31, 1988.
