

Medicine Man travels world healing the sick

By STEVE FERGUSON
Staff Writer

There is no such thing as an incurable disease, only diseases we haven't discovered a cure for yet, Indian Medicine Man Rolling Thunder said Monday night.

Rolling Thunder a Cherokee Indian, spoke in the Great Hall in a program sponsored by the Carolina Union Human Relations Committee.

The Medicine Man lives in a camp in the Nevada desert, and travels all over the world speaking on the powers of herbs in medicine, life in a camp that is almost self-sufficient, and use of the Great Spirit in his healing practices.

"There is no charge for my healing," Rolling Thunder said, "because it's all the Great Spirit's power." He said he collected herbs and berries for his medicine, and modern science is discovering over and over again that they do have medicinal value.

"When they do more research, they'll learn what we natives have known for 10,000 years or so," he said.

He cited as an example a plant he had collected in the desert which had a natural penicillin in it, but with no side effects. Rolling Thunder also uses thunderwater, which is rain collected during a thunderstorm, in his medicine. "I make the strongest medicines in the world," he said, adding, "I'm very modest."

Rolling Thunder said he had always taught people that happiness was therapeutic, and doctors had told him that people who were happy got cancer 50 percent less often than people who are not happy.

He said the people of his camp in Nevada celebrate birthdays with big feasts, singing and dancing to promote happiness. They don't celebrate Christmas, the Fourth of July or Columbus day.

His camp is named Meta Tanta, meaning "to go in peace." The area is very dry and in some places there isn't a tree for miles around, so visiting North Carolina is like visiting a jungle, he said.

They recently dug a fruit cellar at the camp with a connecting passage to a well, so that the cool air from the well would keep the temperature cool in the fruit cellar. "We call that Indianeuty," Rolling Thunder said.

A sign posted at the entrance to the camp reads: No drugs, no alcohol, no firearms, no violence. The Medicine Man said anyone who couldn't adhere to those rules was sent out of the camp.

"People come from all over to see us grow things where they said things wouldn't grow," he said. They came from all over the world to work and live in the camp. No discrimination is made regarding race or religion, as long as one is willing to work.

"We get no government help, no welfare, and we don't want it," he said. The camp even provides education for its children.

Rolling Thunder said his people fully believed in education and felt their kids were probably three years ahead of children of the same age in the public school system. "Everything in the school relates to nature in some way."

He asked his audience to continue learning, no matter what age. "When we stop learning, that's when we get old and die."

Hustler publisher screams obscenities at High Court

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Hustler magazine publisher Larry Flynt was forcibly removed from a Supreme Court session Tuesday after he screamed obscenities at nine justices.

The justices had just finished hearing arguments in the first of three libel disputes when Flynt screamed at them from the audience section of the majestic courtroom.

"— this court! You denied me the counsel of my choice!" Flynt shouted as police surrounded him and rolled his gold-plated wheelchair away.

He was still hurling invectives at the bench when a red-faced

Chief Justice Warren F. Burger rose from his chair and told an assistant marshal, "Inform the marshal to take that man into custody."

Flynt was arrested and charged with impeding the administration of justice, a federal offense carrying a maximum penalty of one year in prison and a $5,000 fine. He was released by a U.S. magistrate on his own recognizance.

The court had denied Flynt permission Monday to represent himself in a case pitting his sexually explicit magazine against Kathy Keeton, vice president of competing Penthouse magazine.

LSAT

Stanley H. Kaplan
Educational Center

TEST PREPARATION
SPECIALISTS SINCE 1938

Call Days Evenings & Weekends

2643 Chapel Hill Blvd.
Suite 112
Durham, NC 27707
(919) 489-8720/489-2348
or
1-800-672-5919

CHAPEL HILL PLAZA 3

ELLIOT ROAD at E. FRANKLIN
967-4737

$2.00 TIL 6:00 PM EVERYDAY!

3:00 • 5:05 • 7:10 • 9:15
William Hurt
"First class!" —CBS-TV
The Big Chill (R)

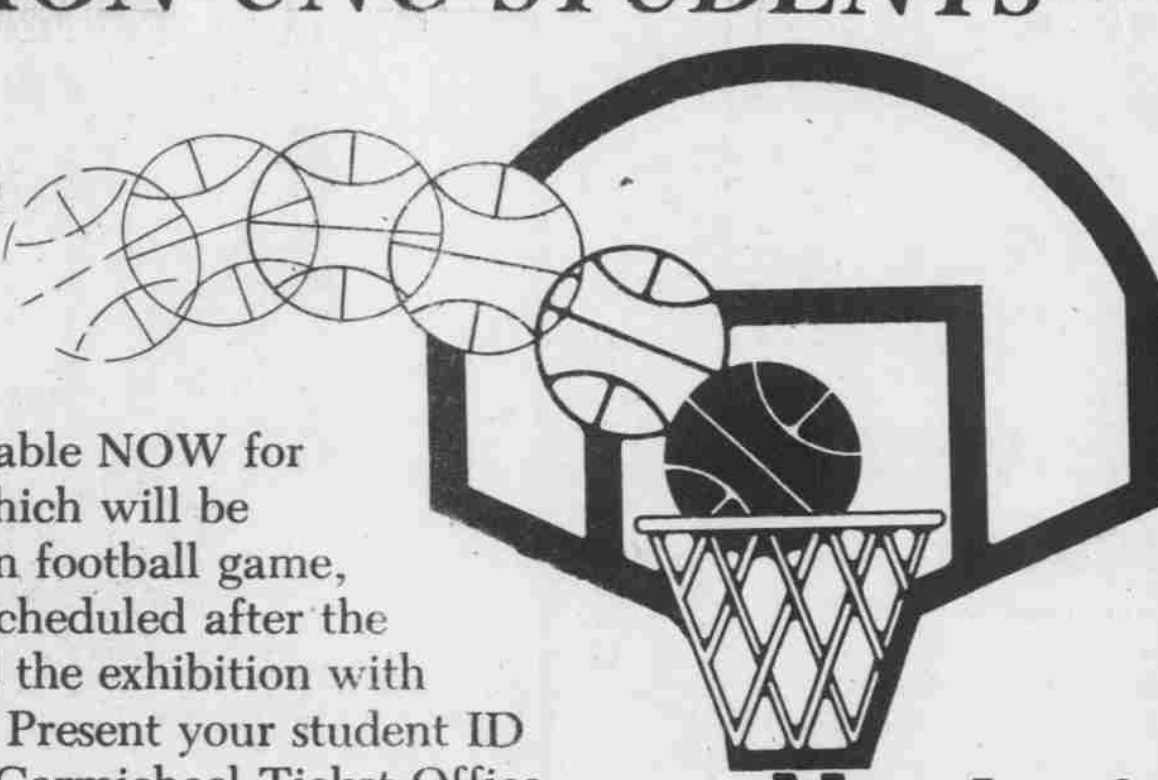

3:00 • 5:10 • 7:20 • 9:30
Michael Caine
Educating Rita (PG)

3:05 • 5:10 • 7:15 • 9:20
Burt Lancaster • Dir. by Sam Peckinpah
The Osterman Weekend (R)

SHOW TIMES FOR TODAY ONLY

ATTENTION UNC STUDENTS

BASKETBALL TICKETS

Student tickets are available NOW for the Blue/White game which will be played after the Clemson football game, the second Blue/White scheduled after the Duke football game and the exhibition with Yugoslavia on 11/23/83. Present your student ID and athletic pass at the Carmichael Ticket Office between 8:30 am and 4:30 pm.

Hardee's

COMING SOON.

Look for
THE MOVIE
MAGAZINE in an upcoming issue of your college newspaper.

DON'T MISS IT!

Evaluations show most had good time

Students, faculty respond positively on evening

By BEN PERKOWSKI
Staff Writer

The reactions from students as well as faculty members were positive following Sunday night's An Evening with the Profs.

"We are tremendously happy with the feedback we've received so far from both students and faculty," said Jon Reckford, chairman of the Special Projects Committee which sponsored the event.

Reckford said that nearly 300 students met with 45 professors and administrators in groups of about 15-20 students per house. Most of the houses were hosted by two faculty members and a student coordinator. Cookies and apple cider were provided by the committee.

The major theme of the two hour meetings was student-faculty interaction, but conversations moved through a wide range of topics. "The enthusiasm and attendance were truly outstanding," Reckford said. "It appears that everyone enjoyed themselves." "While some students very much enjoyed just meeting and talking with a professor in an informal setting, others were particularly interested in the discussion of student-faculty interaction."

Reckford added that members of the committee and other student leaders involved in the event would get together and discuss plans for something similar in the future. Evaluations which were taken from all participants after the meetings, will point to which areas should be emphasized in any future event, he said.

"We hope this will be a kickoff for many more such events," Reckford said.

Joseph Hall, a student coordinator and member of the committee, said the evening went fantastically. "Gerald Unks was really open with us and we had a great discussion," he said. Unks is an associate professor in the School of Education.

Hall said that Unks gave the students some tips on breaking the ice with professors in their offices. "He said for students to pick something in the room that is incongruous with the rest of the office and comment on that," Hall said.

Lars Schoultz, associate chairman of political science, said that he felt very positive about the evening and that all the professors he had spoken to enthusiastically supported the entire concept of more student-faculty interaction.

Schoultz said the discussion centered on what type of relationship was appropriate between a professor and a student. In his opinion, the focus of conversations between students and professors should be in an area enjoyable for both."

Schoultz added that he looked forward to the re-opening of Lenoir Hall as a nice place to grab a cup of coffee and have the opportunity to converse with students in a relaxed atmosphere.

Junior Lucia Halpern, Carolina Union president, said she was very pleased with her group's meeting with James Cansler, associate vice chancellor of Student Affairs, and Lujan Desaix, lecturer in the biology department.

Halpern added that she thought everyone felt comfortable. "Our conversation soon drifted off just faculty-student interaction and we began discussing Reagan, Grenada, Lebanon and anything that came up," she said.

All of the evaluations of the evening indicated an interest in doing something similar in the future, she said. "Both the professors and students overwhelmingly agree they would like to do it again."

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Compiled by Reggie Holley

Public service announcements must be turned into the box outside the DTH offices in the Carolina Union by 1 p.m. if they are to be run the next day. Only announcements from University recognized and campus organizations will be printed. All announcements must be limited to 25 words and can only run for two days. In the event that the Calendar does not run because of space limitations, groups should turn in announcements at least two days in advance to ensure they run at least once.

TODAY'S ACTIVITIES

The Alan Cranston for President Committee will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the Student Union. Check the Union desk for the room number. Everyone is welcome.

Study Break: Take a study break at the Newman Center from 4 p.m. until 6 p.m. Apple cider and other treats will be provided.

Environmental Seminar: Dr. John Dugon, staff director for the Subcommittee on Energy Research will present "A Congressional Perspective on the Nuclear Waste Policy Act," at noon in 103 Beard Hall.

Career Planning and Placement Services will conduct "Careers in Retail" at 3 p.m. in 210 Hanes Hall.

The Anglican Student Fellowship invites everyone to Holy Communion at 10 p.m. at the Chapel of the Cross.

Career Night for majors in sociology, industrial relations and other social sciences will be at 7 p.m. in the Great Hall of the Union. The event is being sponsored by the Industrial Relations Association.

Looking for Internships? Find out how at an Internship Workshop, at 3:30 p.m. in the Campus Y Lounge.

COMING EVENTS

Fellowship of Christian Athletes will meet Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in the Union. Albert Long will be the guest speaker.

The Senior Class Committee will meet at 4 p.m. Thursday. All committee members are asked to be present.

The Presbyterian Campus Ministry will meet for supper, a program and a workshop Thursday from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. in the Presbyterian Student Center, 110 Henderson St.

Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity will sponsor a party Thursday at Polaris. An admission fee of $1 will be charged.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Career Planning and the Liberal Arts Student is a course for freshmen and sophomores who are undecided about career direction and major (Special Studies 90, Section 2, Spring Semester). To register, contact the instructor in Nash Hall.

Sign up for the Union squash tourney at the Union desk Nov. 1-11. Men and women of all skill levels are welcome. Prizes will be awarded. More information is available in Room 200 of the Union.

The Student Part-Time Employment Service is a free service designed to help students find part-time jobs. Come by Suite D of the Union Monday-Thursday, 1 p.m. until 4 p.m.

Join the new Carolina Field Hockey Club. Practices are Monday, 4 p.m.-5:30 p.m., and Tuesday and Thursday from 6:45 p.m. until 8 p.m. on Ehringhaus field.

The brothers of the Psi Delta Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity will be coming around the dorms during the week of Nov. 7-11 to collect canned and dry foods for needy families. Please help them to make Thanksgiving a happy holiday for everyone.

The UNC Women's Squash Club practices every Sunday and Tuesday from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. at the Fetzer squash courts.

The Women's Volleyball Club is now holding practices from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. every Tuesday in Fetzer A-2. For more information, call Michelle at 967-2030.

Attention College Work-Study Students: Time sheets for the pay period ending Nov. 13, 1983 are due in the Student Aid Office by noon on Wednesday, November 9.

The Department of Classics will sponsor a special lecture (A New Discovery) Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the studio art building room 117.

The Law School Admission Test registration deadline was Nov. 3. Late registration accepted for $15 extra if postmarked by Thursday, Nov. 10. Applications are available in Nash Hall.

Applications are now available for the Orientation Commission. Come by OI Steele Building immediately.

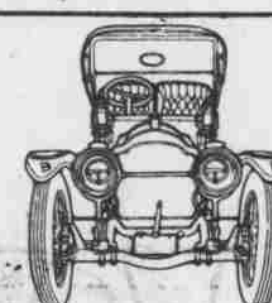

What is PMST? Counselor Judy Norris will hold a program on understanding and coping with premenstrual syndrome at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9 in the Morrison social lounge. Sign up at Morrison desk.

Maramba Ministries invites you to meet the Living God Saturday night at 7 p.m. in room 224 of the Union.

The CGA will elect officers for the current year and handle other business at the business meeting Monday, Nov. 14 at 7 p.m. in the Union. Check Union schedule for meeting room.

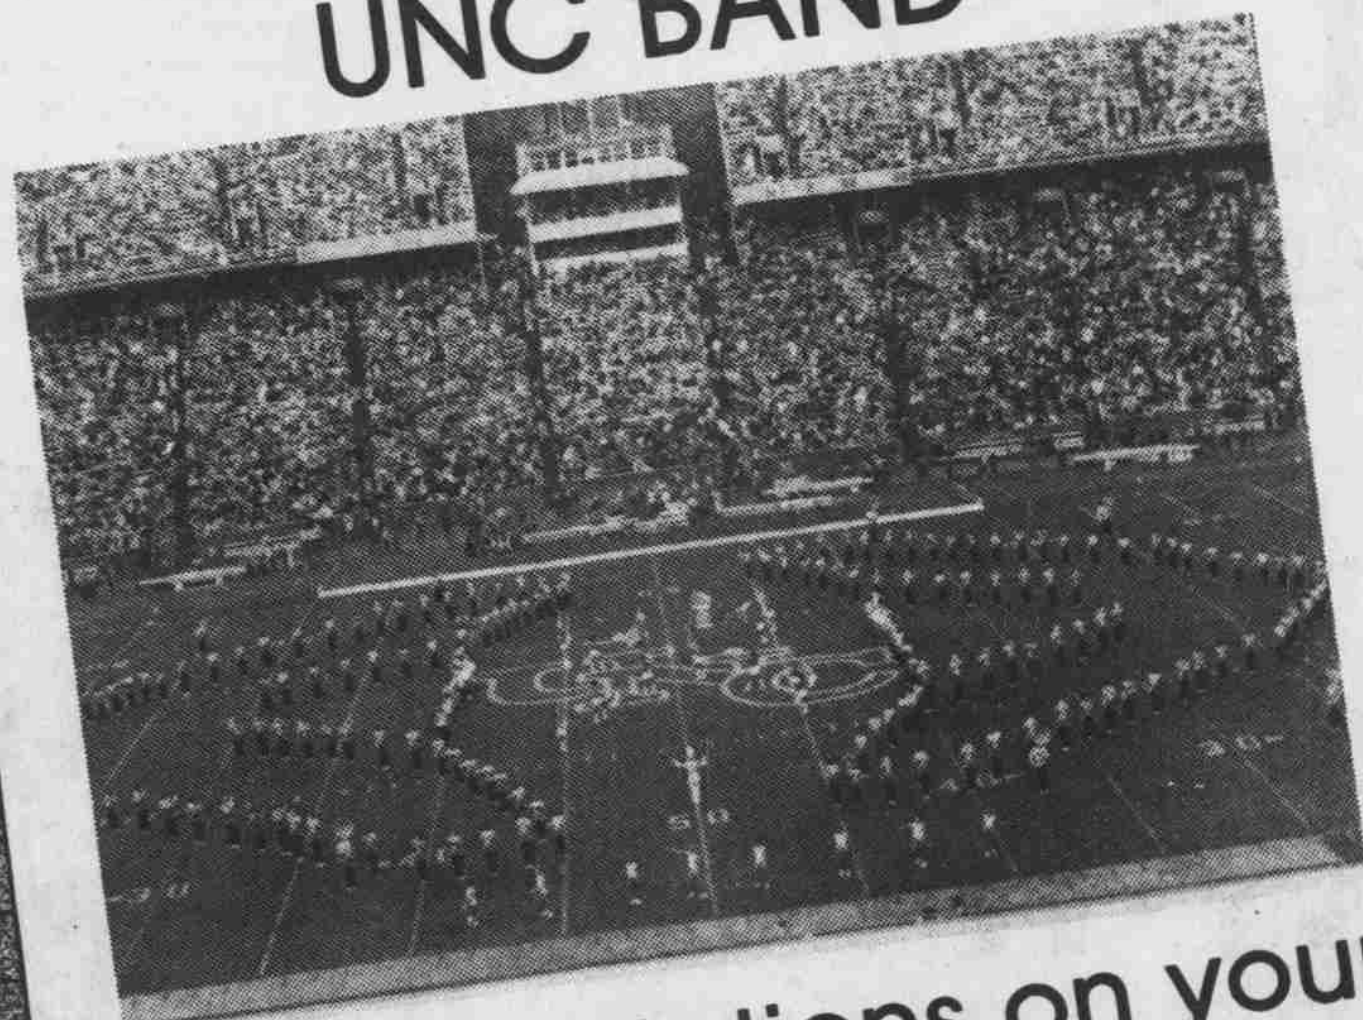

Health Science Job Fair will be Tuesday Nov. 15, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. in Carrington and Berryhill halls and Pre-Clinical Building.

Kappa Alpha Psi will sponsor a musical bake sale in the Pit Monday, Nov. 21.

Do you need riders?
Advertise in
The Daily Tar Heel

COORS TO YOU UNC BAND

Congratulations on your 80th year anniversary!

The best of the Rockies to the best of the Tarheels

THE BEST OF THE ROCKIES IS YOURS.

For Your Party Needs Your UNC Campus Rep is Lynn Gaddy. 933-3151

Chapel Hill-Durham Distributing 942-0337

Distributed By Durham Distributing Company

© 1983 Adolph Coors Company, Golden, Colorado 80401 - Brewed of Five Grains Since 1873