

Take a study break, enjoy a drink at a Chapel Hill bar

Carolina Coffee Shop
138 E. Franklin St.

Dark wooden booths and tables, long red drapery and elaborate hanging lamps highlight the Coffee Shop's striking medieval decor. In the midst of such surroundings you expect the Knights of the Round Table to appear at any moment and join you for a few drinks. Although Robin Hood and his friends never arrive, you are guaranteed a stimulating conversation with the interesting group of professionals and one of the few places where you can get an alcoholic drink as early as 9 in the morning. Couples can retire to a cozy booth and enjoy a late-night drink with one of the Coffee Shop's fabulous desserts. Ordering a drink becomes a chore at the Carolina Coffee Shop as you must choose from a long, impressive list of wines, liquors and mixed and hot drinks.

Colonel Chutney's
300 W. Rosemary St.
Happy Hour: 4:30-6 p.m. every day

Colonel Chutney's has to be one of the top late-night spots in Chapel Hill, and it just may be the most well-rounded. Plants and latticework surround all the booths and help create a cheerful atmosphere that is hard to beat. Chutney's late-night menu offers finger foods, sandwiches, salads, soups, chili, gourmet burgers and the renowned prime rib sandwich that keeps people coming back all the time. The bar specializes in mixed drinks and offers 23 different brands of beer. Once the dinner crowd clears out at 9, rock 'n' roll tapes are played and the bar turns into a lively spot for fun and conversation.

He's Not Here
112 W. Franklin St.
Happy Hour: 4-7 p.m. every day

One of these Tuesday nights, be sure to take a study break and head for He's Not Here. You've probably never seen anything quite like it, and you definitely won't study on Tuesdays anymore: in offering 25-cent drafts and pitchers for $1.50, He's Not Here kills about 30 kegs. A total of four bars are in operation Tuesday, serving as many as 51 different brands of beer. You'll mingle with a sampling of the various people you pass on campus every day, which means anyone from a prep to a jock to a punk rocker. He's Not Here gears much of its entertainment to its college crowd by bringing in rock 'n' roll, bluegrass and New Wave bands every few Saturday nights. There is a huge selection of video games and pinball machines as well as two televisions inside.

Henderson Street Bar
108 Henderson St.
Happy Hours: 3-7 p.m. Monday through Friday, all day Wednesday

Most people have heard of the Henderson Street Bar but cannot give you any more specific directions than "It's somewhere on Henderson Street." The fact is that Henderson Street Bar is quite an inconspicuous drinking hole. It mostly draws locals and graduate students who enjoy the reasonably priced beer and the easy-going atmosphere. Some of the regulars from the recently closed Upper Deck Tavern have now adopted the Henderson Street Bar as their new home. All-day happy hour on Wednesday would be the perfect time to break up the week's busy schedule and try Henderson Street Bar.

Jordan's Le Charolais
157 E. Rosemary St.

A line out the door on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights has become a familiar sight at Jordan's. This bar has been growing in popularity each year, most significantly among students. Jordan's may not razzle and dazzle you with an extravagant interior, but it does draw an interesting blend of people, play some hard rock 'n' roll, and have a good selection of domestic and imported beers and mixed drinks at reasonable prices. Highballs, for example, cost $1.25 — quite low when compared to other area bars. You may want to try the house drink, Kentucky Bowlegged Woman, which some say originated at Jordan's.

Linda's
110 N. Columbia St.

For those of you sitting around the dormitory room and thinking to yourself "What am I going to do tonight?" — round up a group of friends and head over to Linda's. You say you don't know anyone named Linda? Well, don't fret. You see, Linda's is a bar uptown where you can grab a table, a few pitchers of beer and drink the night away over conversation or beer games. Linda's turns into a beer-lover's paradise every Wednesday night when pitchers are as cheap as $1.75 a piece from 9 to 11 p.m.

Mexican Underground
149½ E. Franklin St.

Dive into the depths of the Mexican Underground, and you will be pleasantly surprised. This new restaurant has tried to imitate the characteristics of a Mexican "canteena," a gathering place of food and drink. Such an approach appeals to many students who like a late-night spot where reasonably priced drinks and Mexican food is available. The Mexican Underground frequently presents 50-cent draft specials.

Molly Maguire's
136 East Rosemary St.

Aye, me lads and lassies — Molly Maguire's can bring out the wee bit of Irish in all of us. While you can't label it an Irish pub, the bar's physical surroundings do produce the cozy and cheerful atmosphere so characteristic of all Irish pubs. It's conspicuous awning of bright orange, green and white (the colors of the Irish flag) welcomes you to the establishment. Rugby players can feel right at home in the side room, where memorabilia from past matches adorn the walls. Molly's offers its customers a wide assortment of beers, another trademark of Irish pubs.

Papagayo's
NCNB Plaza
Happy Hours: 4-6 p.m. Monday-Friday; 10 p.m.-1 a.m. Wednesday

If the parrot perched at the entrance to Papagayo's could talk, he'd have a lot say. Papagayo's is quite a lively place. Every Thursday and Sunday evening you'll find a crowd assembled on Papagayo's large outdoor patio to hear live performances of folk, blues and even reggae music. Wednesday nights are busy, as the late-night happy hour crowd invades Papagayo's.

Pyewacket
431 W. Franklin St.
Happy Hours: 4-7 p.m. Monday-Friday

Pyewacket's bar is one of the more fashionable in the Chapel Hill area. Green plants enliven its large seating area, and attractive stained-glass panels above the dark wooden bar are an exquisite touch. You'll discover this to be a comfortable setting to view the live entertainment provided every Wednesday and Thursday evening. Jazz fans will be pleased to know every Wednesday is Jazz Night, while on Thursday evening the type of performance varies.

Spanky's
101 East Franklin Street
Happy Hour: 3:00-6:00 p.m., Monday-Friday

Diversity is what bargoers discover at Spanky's. Its brass and brick decor allows you to enjoy a few drinks in a classy yet casual environment and its late afternoon happy hour crowd provides good company. You're in for quite a change of pace on Tuesday nights as students jam into Spanky's for Men's Night. Ladies, be sure to mark next Tuesday on your calendar as it is the night for you to patronize Spanky's and scope this highly male-populated crowd.

Troll's Bar
157 East Rosemary Street
Happy Hours: 10 a.m.-7 p.m., Monday-Friday
All day Sunday

Everything about Troll's Bar is intriguing. As you trek down the long stairway to Troll's entrance for the first time, you wonder what you're getting yourself into. Once inside you can't believe how crowded and dim it is. As you look around, you can't help but notice that most of the bar stools and booth seats are torn, and the tables are no longer smooth-surfaced wood but instead contain the etched names and proverbs. You soon realize it is evident that thousands of people before you have enjoyed Troll's. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights are always packed.

Tijuana Fats
403 West Rosemary Street
Happy Hours: 3-5 p.m. and 9 p.m.-midnight Monday and Tuesday; Sunday — Champagne Brunch; Marathon Happy Hour — 11:30 a.m.-midnight Wednesday; 75¢ off Margaritas during lunch — Monday-Friday.

Tijuana Fats offers its customers about the widest variety of promotions and specials than any other local bar. Every Monday and Tuesday, Tijuana provides both afternoon and evening happy hours, and on Wednesday happy-hour prices apply all day long. Margaritas are the big seller at Fats, but they become even more popular on Margarita Mondays when you receive 75 cents off the regular prices.
