

Pope opens his trip to North America in Quebec

The Associated Press

QUEBEC — Pope John Paul II came to Canada on Sunday for one of his longest foreign pilgrimages, kissing the ground where missionaries and martyrs founded a sturdy New World church four centuries ago.

"I greet you, Quebec, first church in North America, first witness to the faith," the pontiff said in an airport statement after arriving here at 11:23 a.m. aboard his green-and-white Alitalia DC-10 jetliner.

Welcoming the pope, Governor General Jeanne Sauve said Canadians "receive you as a prophet, for ... you have been successful in identifying the causes of our universal anxiety."

The white-clad, 64-year-old pontiff arrived on a brilliant, autumn-like morning at Quebec's city airport. In the gesture that has become a papal hallmark, he knelt at the bottom of the airplane steps and kissed the ground.

Besides Sauve, Queen Elizabeth II's representative in this former British colony, he was welcomed by Prime Minister John Turner, Canadian bishops and 600 other dignitaries.

Seven children representing Canada's ethnic groups presented flowers as a 21-gun howitzer salute boomed.

Switching between French and English, Canada's two languages, in his arrival statement, the pope said he would like to speak to Canadians "about the issues of our times, concerning culture, the community, technology, the family, sharing and justice."

Beyond the airport, throngs of welcoming Quebecers waited to greet the pope as his motorcade rode to a park at the St. Lawrence River waterfront to meet with newly confirmed children.

His schedule also included a visit to the tomb of Francois de Laval, the 17th-century Quebec archbishop regarded as the father of Roman Catholic Canada, and a Mass at Laval University.

For months, the impending papal visit, 23rd foreign trip by John Paul, had stirred excitement and anticipation across Canada, whose 25 million people include 11.4 million Catholics.

As he crisscrosses Canada, John Paul will visit 10 cities, cover 8,500 miles and pass through all six time zones of this vast nation. It is the first visit by a pope to Canada, although John Paul has been here before, coming in 1969 as a Polish archbishop.

Church officials estimate 6 million people, including at least 1 million Americans, will journey from home to catch a glimpse of the pilgrim pope. In far-off Fort Simpson, an Indian town near the Arctic Circle which John Paul is to visit Sept. 18, authorities expect travelers to begin camping out one week ahead of time.

Government-owned Canadian Broadcasting Corp. plans to broadcast 100 hours of pope coverage.

The upbeat mood belies some fundamental disagreements over the pope's staunch defense of traditional policy.

Within the Canadian church, "there are signs of a tendency to polarization," the Most Rev. John Sherlock, president of the of the Canadian conference of Catholic Bishops, acknowledged in an article last week in The National Catholic Register.

A recent newspaper poll shows that large majorities of Quebec Catholics disagree with church prohibitions against artificial contraception, divorce, married priests, and the ordination of women as priests.

A Quebec-based feminist group has urged members to mail their baptismal certificates to diocesan officials in symbolic protest of what they describe as John Paul's "anti-woman" positions. One mixed group of Catholics and non-Catholics said it planned a march Tuesday in Montreal to protest the pope's views.

As always, security is a major concern during this papal trip. The pope was wounded by a Turkish gunman at the Vatican in May 1981, and escaped another assassination attempt a year later in Portugal. Last Monday, a bomb blast killed three people in a Montreal railroad station. An incoherent note delivered earlier to the station included the words "Kill Pops." A man is being held in the case.

Lebanese suicide squads get prepared

The Associated Press

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Shiite Moslem leader Nabih Berri, a leading figure in Lebanon's national coalition Cabinet, said Sunday that more than 50 young Lebanese are trained and ready for suicide attacks against Israel's occupation forces in south Lebanon.

The justice minister, who also serves as minister of state for south Lebanon in the Syrian-backed Cabinet, said, "I challenge Israel to remain in south Lebanon ... I have begun issuing orders to more than 50 young men like Bilal Fahs," who crashed his bomb-laden Mercedes automobile into an Israeli armored personnel carrier June 16.

Israel said at the time that five Israeli soldiers were wounded, but local reporters and Lebanese police sources said some soldiers were killed. Fahs, 20, has since been eulogized as the "bridegroom of south Lebanon." His pictures fill the streets of Shiite Moslem-inhabited parts of Lebanon.

"We shall blow them up and blow ourselves up with them," said Berri of the Israelis, who have occupied south Lebanon since invading it in 1982.

Mondale Renews Tax Offensive

Walter Mondale asserted again Sunday that "everyone knows" President Ronald Reagan will raise taxes after the election, while the president told Polish-Americans that his administration is not "any less dedicated to peace because we want a strong America."

The Democratic presidential nominee renewed the volatile tax issue by scoffing at Reagan's "last resort" stand on increasing taxes.

"Everyone knows that taxes must go up," he said. "But who will pay if you have a president who favors millionaires and big corporations, he'll sock it to families of average income and leave his friends alone. That's Mr. Reagan, not me."

Reagan, meanwhile traveled from the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md. to a Polish festival in Bucks County, Pa., where he appealed to the patriotism of people whose native land he said still suffers "under the oppressor's boot."

News in Brief

Florida braces for tropical storm

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — Tropical storm Diana lashed Florida's northeast coast with high tides and wall-like waves Sunday, and worried patrons of at least one beach resort packed up and fled what forecasters said could be a hurricane by the time it strikes land.

Forecasters said sluggish overnight movement gave the storm more time to build its power over the warm Atlantic waters.

"The delay ... may allow further strengthening, and winds could approach hurricane strength by this evening," the National Hurricane Center said in a Sunday morning advisory.

Gov. Bob Graham kept in touch with forecasters monitoring the storm's movement to help him decide whether evacuations were necessary, disaster experts said.

Helms called a Reagan asset

WINSTON-SALEM — Secretary of the Treasury Donald Regan, campaigning Friday for Republican Sen. Jesse Helms, said the incumbent is an asset to the Reagan administration despite his opposition to certain administration programs.

"On balance, he is very supportive of the president's policies," Regan said. "When push comes to shove ... Jesse Helms is there."

But Regan said the administration did not support Helms' plan for reducing the federal deficit.

"In theory, it might work, but I'm not sure we could get it through Congress," said Regan. "We think ours is the preferable way."

Helms has proposed cutting almost all federal programs across the board by 10 percent, sparing only defense and Social Security.

The Reagan administration wants to reduce the deficit through more economic growth in the private sector and slowing the rate of federal spending.
