DEAR H. & T.,
Standing on a small, wet sand peninsula, as the tide comes in, the moon pulling the waters closer... the immense expanse of the ocean, the serene vastness of the comforting night air, the stars always are there, a quiet confession, no movements, no sound, a midnight waltz. Stars twinkle, to the ocean's rhythm, forth and back in and out, respiration joins the ensemble, toes buried and discovered, hopes uncovered, a forever profession no movement, no sounds, a midnight waltz. 123

KRISTY—ISTY, What began with a rose at your doorstep has blossomed into a love budding with joy. I love you. —Lawyerman.

MRB - Thanks for five terrific months! I never thought that night in the "sheer" would lead to such an affair! Happy Valentine's Day. Love, Bev

SAMANTHA, Happy V-day gorgeous! Together at last, wow what a blast! Hope you find your socks FRED. Unit next time, FORE!! I love ya! Cline
