

Lendl crushes McEnroe for 1st U.S. Open

From staff reports

John McEnroe was dethroned convincingly Sunday as the U.S. Open champion by an inspired Ivan Lendl, 7-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Lendl, pumping his fists at the air a la Jimmy Connors, whom he defeated in straight sets Saturday, cracked a forehand volley winner at match point for his second Grand Slam championship and first Open victory. In three previous Open finals he had been defeated, while McEnroe had won four Open finals in four attempts at the Flushing Meadows, N.Y. event.

It was a successful weekend for Tar Heel soccer. Friday, the men's team defeated Furman 3-1 and followed that up with a 4-1 victory over Erskine on Saturday. The women, meanwhile, made it a clean sweep of Erskine with a 9-0 win on Saturday and

For the men on Friday, Tommy Nicholson, Dino Megaloudis and David Smyth chipped in a goal apiece. Saturday, Megaloudis and Nicholson each added a goal and an assist as UNC never trailed. Also scoring were Marcus Martin and Perry Nelson. The men's record now stands at 3-0 as they prepare for a Wednesday encounter with Atlantic Christian in Chapel Hill.

The women's team bombarded Erskine with an unstoppable offensive attack. The Tar Heels were paced by Carrie Serwetnyk, who had two goals and an assist, while Jo Boobas and Marcia McDermott both scored two goals as well. Sunday, April Heinrichs duplicated Serwetnyk's feat with two goals and an assist and McDermott added a goal and an assist.

The Tar Heels are 2-0-1.

The men's and women's cross-country teams broke even in their first competition of the year — a tri-meet with Duke and Northwestern in Durham. The men beat Duke, 16-43, but lost to Northwestern 24-32. The women also beat the Blue Devils, 22-39, but lost to the Wildcats, 25-32.

The men's team was paced by individual champion George Nicholas, who had a time of 27:07 for the 5.25-mile course. Other top finishers were Bill Will (fourth), Jim Farmer (seventh) and Reggie Harris (ninth).

Holly Murray finished second in a time of 17:55 in the women's 3.2-mile race. Christine Nicholas (fourth) and Karol Chambers (eighth) were the other Tar Heels to finish in the top ten.

Players happy with win even if it wasn't so pretty

By LEE ROBERTS

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — There were plenty of mistakes.

Six times, Kevin Anthony was sacked. Twice, Earl Winfield dropped touchdown passes. Three or four times, North Carolina defenders dropped easy interceptions.

But when the Tar Heels had finished their 21-19 victory Saturday night over Navy at Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium, there were weary, pleased smiles scattered all around the visitor's locker room.

"I feel great," Anthony said of the season-opening win, a measure of sweet revenge for last year's 33-30 loss to the Midshipmen. "We won. We didn't win pretty — we lost some opportunities to score. But hopefully this'll start us on the road to a good season."

That was the general attitude of everyone in the North Carolina locker room. A win was on the board.

Most of head coach Dick Crum's superlatives were saved for his defense. "Defensively, we played very well," Crum said. "We had to play a lot without Reuben (Davis) and Dennis Barron (who were both injured), but did a good job. We were very aggressive."

Crum pointed out the defensive secondary as excellent, saying that Larry Griffin and Norris Davis went to the ball well and were impressive. "Those two guys are really going to help us in the secondary."

Much of the post-game discussion centered on the controversial penalty on Navy's two-point conversion attempt with 0:53 left in the game. Midshipman quarterback Bill Byrne completed the pass that would have tied the game to split end John Lobb, but the umpire ruled Navy offensive guard Mark Miller had been illegally downfield. The penalty carries with it a loss of down.

A reporter asked Crum if he thought his team lucked out on the penalty. "Well, one of their scores was set up when interference was called on a ball we intercepted," he said. "Those things are going to happen in a game. They even out."

Crum was referring to a play in the fourth quarter, when UNC's Derrick Donald intercepted a Byrne pass but a penalty was called. Todd Solomon of Navy kicked a 47-yard field goal later in the drive.

North Carolina defensive lineman Tim Goad, who had eight tackles and broke up a pass, was happy with the win. "They made the mistakes," he said. "It wasn't our fault. You take the wins anyway you can."

North Carolina fullback Brad Lopp, who had a key late touchdown, seemed to sum up the Tar Heel feelings. "We made some mistakes, but we still won," he said. "If you win with mistakes, you're gonna win when you go without mistakes."

Tar Heel Notebook: It was announced Sunday that Dennis Barron, the Tar Heels' starting defensive guard, is lost for the season following a left knee injury sustained in the first half of Saturday's game. Dr. Tim Taft performed arthroscopic surgery on Barron Sunday at N.C. Memorial Hospital to repair torn ligaments. "This is a great loss to our football team," coach Crum said. "Dennis did a great job last spring and was on the verge of being one of the best players in the Atlantic Coast Conference."

Tar Heel linebacker Carl Carr was immense Saturday. Carr's totals for the night: five unassisted tackles, 22 assisted tackles, one interception and two passes broken up. His total of 27 tackles was 10 more than any other player on either team. . . . Fullback Brad Lopp scored the touchdown that ended up being the winning margin in the game, and led Tar Heel rushers with 72 yards in just 12 carries — a 6.0 average. "I had a chance to get a few more yards," he said. "On that last first down (the second to last play of the game), I should have scored another touchdown." . . . William Humes had 18 carries for 58 yards and a team-leading seven receptions for another 53. "(In this offense) the tailback is an effective weapon coming out of the backfield," Humes said. . . . Speaking of Humes, two of the student managers said that late in the fourth quarter a Navy tackler drove Humes into the North Carolina bench with a vicious hit. Humes' teammates all came to help him up, and asked him if he was all right. "Oh, I like that!" Humes, hopping to his feet, said of the tough pop. . . . Defensive backs coach Marc Dove, whose Mississippi State team of two years ago faced Navy and whose Tar Heel team of last year also faced the Midsies, said after Saturday's game, "That was the best Navy team I've seen in those three years."
