Jones for RHA

To the editors:

Too many people ask what the Residence Hall Association is. As seniors who have been here long enough to see several presidents and Governing Boards of RHA, we're glad that there is finally someone running who will turn RHA around. For too long, RHA has failed to work for residents, but if this student body elects Ray Jones president of RHA, the failure of RHA in the past will be replaced by the successes of a new RHA.

Ray's proposals are simple, and they are based on the knowledge that dorm governments can perform functions needed and demanded by residents. What we like most about Ray is not just his ideas but his record of success in implementing them. Few dorms enjoyed the year as Avery has under his presidency, and his has been a great example of the kind of dorm government that is responding to the people in the dorms.

Realizing that students are capable of governing themselves has led Ray to call first for the independence of RHA from the domination of the Housing Department. His plans for the administration of RHA define the specific tasks of the RHA boards. His proposal that a council of hall presidents be established will give the dorms a chance for direct and immediate contact with the RHA staff, reconstituting the two after a separation that should never have occurred.

Ray will lead RHA back to its fundamental purposes: enhancing resident life and representing resident needs. The opportunity is here at last for the voters to choose an RHA that will work and a leader who has proved himself. That leader is Ray Jones.
