

Landfill site challenged by Chapel Hill residents

By SCOTT GREIG
City Editor

Area residents urged the Chapel Hill Town Council last Tuesday to drop a proposed new landfill site from the town's land use plan. New multi-family areas that are proposed as part of the same plan spawned discussion also.

The majority of the four-hour public hearing centered around the proposed landfill site off Rogers Road. Residents asked the council to drop what would become the new Orange County landfill from the plan, saying the site has not been adequately studied.

"This site has not been approved yet," said Bill Rohe of 16 Conner Rd. "Putting it on the land use plan would go a long way towards getting it approved without a serious study."

Concern was also voiced about new multi-family areas proposed in the plan. Residents say these developments could aggravate traffic problems that already exist in these areas.

Judy Jones of Huntington Drive said a new multi-family development could possibly endanger children who walk to Estes Drive Elementary and Guy B. Phillips Junior High schools by creating more traffic.

The hearing on the land-use plan was held at Chapel Hill High School and was attended by about 200 people. More than 40 people addressed the council.

The proposed new landfill site could endanger the area's groundwater supply and possibly cause health problems by attracting wild animals, resident said at the hearing. They also complained that the site was not adequately studied before it was purchased by Chapel Hill, Carrboro and Orange County two years ago.

Don Francisco of the Chapel Hill Planning Board said the board would recommend that the new landfill site be dropped from the land use plan because of questions and concerns about the site.

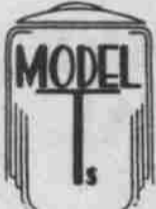

Community Planning Task Force Chairman Berry Credle said the task force recommended that the site remain in the land use plan. He said a change in sites should be made if a better alternative can be found, but he added it should not be taken out of the plan until a change is ready to be made.

The proposed land use plan would serve as a guideline for Chapel Hill's future development. The town council is scheduled to vote on the plan at its July 14 meeting.

The plan would update the current land use plan, which was passed in 1977. It would call for preserving Chapel Hill's existing neighborhoods and establishing acceptable and defined boundaries for future town limits.

Delivery Pizza
Dine In-Take Out
$3 Off 2 Item—Large
$2 Off 2 Item—Medium
$1 Off 2 Item—Small
Not good with other coupons or specials.
Expires 7/10/86

Willow Creek Shopping Center
54 By-pass and Jones Ferry Rd.
929-6593

Penalty against Duke Power reduced

From Associated Press reports

ROCK HILL, S.C. — The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has reduced a proposed civil penalty against Duke Power Co. from $64,000 to $20,000 for allegedly giving bad performance reviews in the early 1980s to an employee who pointed out safety violations at a construction site near Rock Hill.

The commission announced the revised proposed fine Tuesday.

The finding of the violation was based on a partial decision issued by the NRC and the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board on June 22, 1984.

The licensing board concluded that a quality control welding inspector foreman had been poorly rated in performance appraisals from 1981 to 1983 because he and his crew had brought safety concerns involving the construction of the Catawba nuclear power plant near Rock Hill to the attention of Duke management.

A $64,000 fine was proposed in August 1985 for the violation, but Duke asked that the fine be mitigated.

The commission said that after reviewing the company's response, the commission staff concluded that the severity level of the violation and the proposed civil penalty should be reduced.

The commission said the reduction was warranted "because the incident was a relatively isolated event, and the licensee's management of the quality assurance and control program at Duke was relatively good."

Duke Power has 30 days to either pay the fine or request a hearing.

Mary Boyd, spokeswoman for Duke, said the company "was pleased that the NRC reduced the civil penalty because it recognizes the good management of our quality assurance program and that we acted promptly to resolve personnel issues."

"We will be reviewing the NRC's new proposal and make a decision based on that review. We will take the time we have and make a determination on whether we will pay the fine."

CORNICOPIA . . .

Plenty of Racquets, Strings, Shoes, Balls, Bags, Etc., Etc., Etc.

Runners! We have Tunebelts.

CARR MILL MALL
933-0069
Hours:
M-Sat 10-7

Restaurant Atrium Lounge
The place Chapel Hill is looking for. Complimentary hors d'oeuvres.
5:30-8:00, Mon.-Fri.

Chapel Hill's
Holiday Inn 15-501 Bypass
929-2171

Treatment for AIDS

From Associated Press reports

WASHINGTON — More than a thousand AIDS patients are expected to enter experimental drug treatment studies shortly as 14 medical centers establish new federally sponsored therapy evaluation units, it was announced Monday.

About $20 million per year is to go to the centers over the next five years in an effort to coordinate studies and test potential treatments against Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, said Anthony S. Fauci, director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases.

Fauci, whose agency is part of the National Institute of Health, said it expected as many as 1,000 patients to be enrolled at the AIDS Treatment Evaluation Units within the next six months. This would be in addition to the estimated 3,000 AIDS patients now in experimental treatment trials, he added.

Five of the chosen centers are in California and three are in New York.

Other centers selected on the basis of their grant proposals are Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.; Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.; University of Miami; University of Pittsburgh; University of Texas; M.D. Anderson Hospital, Houston; and University of Washington.

For Information Call 968-2769

Shared Ride and E-Z Rider Services 968-2772

CHAPEL HILL TRANSIT

Save Your Car • Save Your Money • Take The Bus!

SUMMER BUS SCHEDULE

Chapel Hill Transit is running its reduced service schedule all summer long. We have also added the S Route — South Campus shuttle this summer. You can pick up schedules in the UNC Traffic Office. There will be no bus service on Friday, July 4th.

JOY!

THE YOGA PLACE
452 W. Franklin St. • 967-9686

1986 Summer & Fall Schedule
July 8-Aug. 7 • Sept. 2-Oct. 23

Tues. 12:00 beginning	Wed. 6:00 beginning
6:00 intermediate	7:30 intermediate
7:30 beginning	Thurs. 6:00 intermediate
	7:30 beginning

Continuous registration.

for fun, flexibility, strength, endurance, concentration, relaxation, joy!