Lakers-Bulls highlight weekend

By SCOTT FOWLER
Sports Editor

In the most exciting sports weekend since UNC played basketball against Georgia Tech and Notre Dame on consecutive days in January, the home football game of the year will be followed by perhaps the best collective basketball talent the Smith Center has ever seen on Saturday.

At 8 p.m., following the UNC-N.C. State football game at 12:15 p.m., the Los Angeles Lakers and Chicago Bulls square off in an exhibition game at the Smith Center. The sold-out contest has been billed as a Michael Jordan-James Worthy one-on-one matchup, but the supporting cast will include such minor role players as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Magic Johnson. Not a bad group.

Many other sports continue their seasons as well over the weekend. The men's and women's golf teams are both involved in fall tournaments starting today. The men's team makes a short trek to Duke to play in the John Ryan Memorial Golf Tournament, while the women go to Lexington, Ky., to play in the Lady Kat Invitational.

The volleyball team has a hectic southern route schedule, playing Clemson tonight and then traveling to Georgia to face UGa. and Georgia Tech on Saturday.

Women's tennis is the only other sport besides football to be home this weekend, as the team hosts Boston College Saturday morning at 10 a.m. at the Tennis Complex. The team will also play Virginia Tech at home Sunday at 1 p.m.

The men's and women's soccer teams travel to College Park to play Maryland Sunday afternoon. The women, 6-0-1 and the unanimous choice for the national No. 1 slot in this week's coaches poll, should have little trouble with the Terrapins, while the Maryland men should play tougher.

UNC cross country dates and updates

By BOB YOUNG
Assistant Sports Editor

When last we saw the North Carolina cross country teams, they were busy stashing away the team titles at their own Tar Heel Invitational. But that was quite some time ago, and so much has happened that we just must bring you up to date.

Harrier Happenings:
Both the men's and women's teams recently competed in invitationals at sites to which they should return later in the season.

Last weekend, the women's team went down to the Furman Invitational in Greenville, S.C., and ran at the course which will host the NCAA Region III Championships (i.e. NCAA qualifiers) in November. Out of the 17 teams competing, UNC finished third behind national power Alabama and Wake Forest.

The team was led by senior Karol Chambers, who finished in seventh place overall with a time of 18:08. She was followed by Vicki Verinder (11th in 18:18), Kim Shuman (15th in 18:26), Heather Zimmerman (17th in 18:32) and Jennifer Sallee (32nd in 19:24).

On Monday, the men's team competed at the University of Arizona Invitational in Tucson, Ariz., the site of this year's NCAA Championships. UNC's total of 227 points earned the Tar Heels an eighth-place finish among a quality field of 25 teams. Arizona (75 points), Colorado (111), Texas (113), Illinois (131), Stanford (145) Virginia Tech (165) and Northern Arizona (225) finished in front of UNC.

Sophomore Mike McGowan was the top performer for the Tar Heels with a 13th-place finish in the 198-man field. His time for the 5.2-mile course was 26:31. Next came seniors Jim Farmer, who finished 20th (26:47), and Reggie Harris, who was 30th (27:04).

The other UNC scorers were Danny Howat (80th in 28:14), Eric Landis (94th in 28:27), Mike Curinder (97th in 28:33) and Johan Boakes (125th in 29:20). For Boakes, a freshman from Great Britain, it was his first competition as a Tar Heel. Men's coach Chris Fox is bringing the former world junior record holder along slowly, since he was still involved in track competition until late August.

Now that you're up to date with the cross country teams, you just may be asking yourself what lie ahead for these intrepid souls. It's the ACC Championships Nov. 1 at Clemson, S.C. That will be followed by the Region III meet Nov. 15 and the NCAA Championships on Nov. 24.

That's all, folks.

DTH Picks of the Week

In a rather uneventful week in the most recent episode of the DTH Picks of the Week, Scott (I'm a Believer) Fowler and Mike (Lionel Richie!! Here!! When?! I'll Pay Anything!) Berardino tied for the best record at 6-3-1.

Jim (My Liberal Mind's Still In Reykjavik) Surowiecki's Ionescoian approach to picking left him with a mere 5-4-1 mark. Bob (Hey, Paul McGuire Hasn't Done That Great Either) Young's hardnosed realist theory served him no better as he limped in at 4-5-1 after two weeks at the top.

There will be 72 rides this year, Brotherton said, including two new ones from Europe. The "Big Wheel," the world's largest ferris wheel at 132 feet high, comes from Holland and should appeal to adults, she said. The other new ride, a double-decker merry-go-round, is from Italy.

The UNC Center for Public Television will have a program featuring a "Doctor Who" traveling exhibit. Mr. McFeeley, the mailman on "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" will be at the fair, along with some "Sesame Street" actors, Brotherton said.

More than 700,000 people are expected to attend this year's fair, which is a day longer than in the past, she said.

Admission is $1 for ages 6 to 12, $4 for 12 and over, and free for those under 6 or over 65. Ride tickets cost 30 cents, and rides require between one and five tickets.

Blue-White Basketball Tickets

Student tickets are available for the Blue-White basketball games, which will be played after the Maryland and Virginia football games on November 1st and November 15th. Both these games will be played in the air-conditioned Smith Center and the halftimes will be only five minutes (so you can get out in time for the rest of your Saturday evening plans). Present your student I.D. and athletic pass at the Smith Center box office between 8:30 AM and 4:30 PM. Students may also purchase guest tickets at $5.00 in addition to their complimentary student tickets. Student groups of 20 or more are welcome to send a representative to the ticket office with the groups' athletic passes for block seating.
