

Where Business Lands.

Jim Sparks/Photographer, Herald-Sun Papers, Copyright

They come from around the world. For research. For production. For distribution. For service.

They come because it's the City of Medicine. The City of Industry. The City of Education.

A newspaper's job is covering the business climate of the area. Whether it's the landing of the world's most sophisticated aircraft at the local airport...or the launching of another pioneer in small business.

The Durham Morning Herald recognizes business as a special beat, a special department. A business section appears in the Herald every day. Keeping you up-to-date on everything from the world price of gold to the promotion of your neighbor.

If you need a daily synopsis of the business community, the stock exchange, the traders and borrowers, the movers and shakers, the builders and financiers, call 682-8181 to subscribe. Or in Chapel Hill call 967-6581.

The Durham Morning Herald. It's the best news of the day.

The Best News Of The Day.