A SUPPLEMENT TO THE DAILY TAR HEEL

COVER: The Oral Roberts' Crisis

The man says he has raised money for the City of Faith and seen God in the California desert. Now God has given him an ultimatum: "Raise $4.5 million or die." The countdown to March 31 — deadline — continues and ministers and spokespeople all over the country have comments to make. Chris Cain covers the issue.....6

Parlez-vous Francais?

So maybe taking French 2 was a total disaster, but who cares? You can still speak chic every day — and already do. Writer Angela Hampton explores French words we use in common parlance, and a few they've snagged from us.....3

Jim Jack Ron John Joe Bob Briggs

Talk about random zaniness! This week, Joe Bob and his menagerie are back as always. Faith "Dream Girl" I'm-a-yogurt-fanatic Jeridan, a 300-pound fortune teller, and one transvestite. Not exactly the type of folks to write home to mommy about. But reading a tiny little piece sure can't hurt much, can it?.....4

Spinning toward the top

Writer Ellen DeRosset tempts Teasing the Korean members to bare all about breaking into the music biz, puts a little push on the Pressure Boys about cutting EP's, and brings the secrets of Billy Warden and the Floating Children's down to earth. Hint: start with balloons... and these hot newcomers.....5

Polar bears, foreign lands and Faulkner

Talk about a prodigy. Ever since the writing of Daphne Athas' first story in her seventh tender year, things have gone, well, nowhere but up. Cathy McHugh chats with the woman who made Time's 10 Best Fiction of the Year list in the 1970's.....8

Dadada turns to DuDuDuDu

That's Husker Du. WXYC disc jockey Courtney Hochmuths says her stuff about the group's new album, Warehouses: Songs and Stories. And she likes it. But wait, there's more. Athens, Ga., Inside Out gets critiqued.....9

Kulture

Still sitting at home picking the fuzzies off your carpet? Stop this life-threatening compulsion immediately. Force yourself to take a trek around town and check out some culture. Week's Fare.....10

College Tour USA

Okay, so they might not be lucky enough to have a Pit or an Undergrad Zoo, but other campuses across the country have stories behind their monuments. Visit the Plaza at Berkeley, the Lamoon building at Harvard, the graffiti tunnel at State.....11
