Former Tar Heel hoop stars to return for NBA exhibitions

Last October's NBA exhibition game between the Los Angeles Lakers and the Chicago Bulls went so well that Smith Center officials decided to do it again. Twice.

Steve Camp, director of the Smith Center, announced last week that the Lakers will play the Cleveland Cavaliers in Chapel Hill Oct. 24 and the Bulls will meet the Dallas Mavericks on Oct. 31. Both games will start at 8 p.m.

Each matchup will feature a clash of former UNC basketball stars. James Worthy (Lakers), Brad Daugherty (Cavs), Michael Jordan (Bulls), Sam Perkins (Mavericks) and Al Wood (Mavericks) are the ex-Tar Heels who will roam the Smith Center floor.

Tickets will cost $12 each and went on sale Monday, but may be purchased only through the mail at this time. A postage and handling fee of $2 should be added to each order. Checks and money orders can be made payable to the UNC Athletic Association (UNCAA).

Orders can be sent to the UNC Ticket Office, P.O. Box 3000, Chapel Hill, N.C., 27514. Eight weeks should be allowed for delivery.

Though next fall and the NFL season opener seems far off, pro football teams are currently stockpiling their rosters with upwards of 90 players in preparation for summer camp. Nine former North Carolina players had signed free agent contracts as of June 1: defensive linemen Ron Burton and Dennis Barron with the Dallas Cowboys, punter Tommy Barnhardt and wide receiver Eric Streater with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, linebacker Carl Carr with the Green Bay Packers, defensive back Danny Burmeister and tight end Dave Truitt with the Lacrosse player Joey Seivold and gymnast Stacy Kaplan were named to the GTE-CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors of America) District III At-Large Academic All-America teams for men and women, respectively.

For Seivold, a four-year lacrosse letterman at UNC, it was the third time he has been chosen to the five-member district team, which is selected from all NCAA-sponsored sports except basketball, football, baseball, softball and volleyball. District III is comprised of schools in North Carolina, Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

Kaplan, a junior from Rochester, N.Y., was also a repeat selection.

Seivold, who last month received his bachelor's degree in history from UNC, finished his academic career with a 3.827 grade point average. Kaplan and Seivold now advance to the 40-person national ballot.

On the field, Seivold had a distinguished career as well, scoring 70 goals and dishing out 45 assists in 53 career games. Seivold was twice a first-team All-America and was a member of the victorious United States team in the 1986 World Lacrosse Games.

Former North Carolina wrestler Joe Silvestro has accepted a graduate assistant position in the John Carroll University wrestling program.

Silvestro, a 23-year-old speech communications major will assist head coach Kerry Volkmann with the Blue Streak Division III wrestling program. Silvestro will also be responsible for some physical education teaching duties at the Cleveland school.

A 1982 graduate of Cleveland's St. Edward High School, Silvestro spent one year at William and Mary College before transferring to UNC.

Silvestro plans to enroll in Carroll's masters of business administration program.

UNC swimmer Tony Monasterio, a rising sophomore from Ponce, Puerto Rico, has been named to the Puerto Rican swimming team for the quadrennial Pan American Games in Indianapolis this August.

Monasterio will swim on Puerto Rico's 400- and 800-meter freestyle relays at the Pan Am Games, which will run Aug. 7 through Aug. 23. He qualified for the squad by winning the 100-meter freestyle and finishing fourth in the 200-meter freestyle at the Puerto Rican trials in San Juan last week.
