Tar Heels bounce back, thrash Blue Devils, 35-6

By JIM MUSE Assistant Sports Editor

The 13th-ranked UNC wrestling team bounced back from last week's bitter loss to N.C. State and thoroughly whomped visiting Duke in a 35-6 runaway Tuesday night.

The Blue Devils were not expected to be much of a challenge, so 15thyear Tar Heel coach Bill Lam wanted to use the match as an opportunity for his team to work on its execution. "I wanted us to work on our offense and our pin holds, but we still need some work there," he said.

The match began well as 118pound junior Neal Burkhead upped his record to 7-8-1, 1-1 in the ACC, by trouncing Duke's Chris Keene in in grand fashion. a major decision, 9-1.

Duke then showed some talent that gave them a surprising 6-4 lead as they took a pair of tight decisions at the 126- and 134-pound classes. But unfortunately for the Blue Devils, that was all they would get.

Junior Enzo Catullo put a quick stop to Duke's hot streak as he nabbed a tough 5-3 decision over a spunky ex-marine, Chuck Egerton. The decision regained the lead for UNC at 7-6, and that proved to be all the Tar Heels would need.

The 150-pound class marked the wasted no time in showing that he was still one of the nation's top wrestlers, immediately attacking outclassed Jim Amerman, who remained pretty much at Bernstein's

Leading 12-3, Bernstein took Amerman to the mat with 23 seconds left in the match for the first pin of the night.

Senior Stocky Cabe, a little-used but talented senior, showed that he could hold his own by trouncing his opponent, Hank Karsen. Cabe took an advantage after just eight seconds and needed only 1:21 to pin Karsen

Freshman Jay Landolfo, who usually wrestles at 158, moved up a weight class, to 167, and provided the most spectacular match of the night a 5-3 decision to close out the match by picking his man up off the mat and throwing him down on five 4, 1-1. separate occasions. Landolfo's 17-4 superior decision upped his record to 11-6, 2-0 for the year, and gave the Tar-Heels an almost insurmountable 23-6 lead.

Senior three-time All-American Rob Koll got a chance to strut his stuff not one, but two weights up. return of senior Lenny Bernstein, who nation at 158 pounds, took on Duke's had recruited."

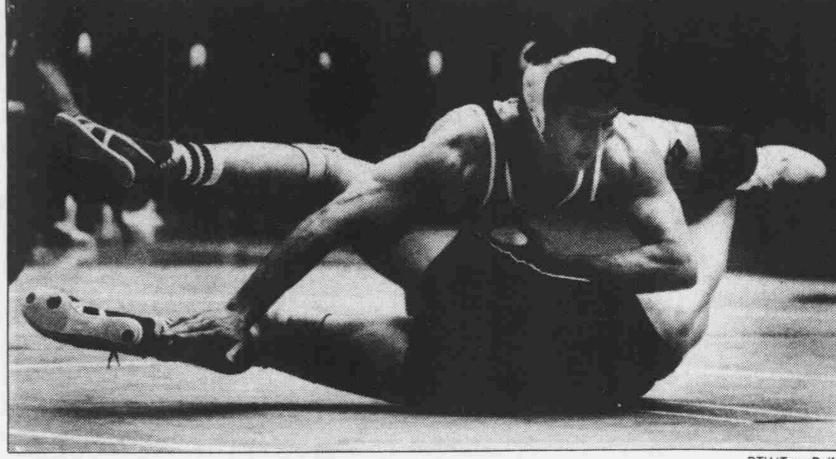

had been out since November with Jim Walsh at 177. After Koll moved a knee injury. The All-American to a 10-0 lead, including a near-pin for almost forty seconds, he finally put Walsh out of his misery with a pin at 6:12.

At 190 pounds, Glen Pazinko provided a little drama (emphasis on little) as he fell behind quickly by two points but worked back to a 6-2 lead with some nice moves. After several opportunities, he couldn't quite pin opponent Brad Weber but still got the 6-2 decision to up his record to 18-10, 1-1. Sophomore heavyweight Pat Crowley took the closest win of the night, a two-pointer over Duke's Rob Kostrebski. With the score tied at 3-3, Kostrebski's second stall resulted in a stall point for Crowley and gave him a 4-3 lead with just 17 seconds left. With riding time, Crowley got and up the Tar Heels' record to 8-

Lam seemed to be a bit relieved with the win, seeing as how some of the closer matches were a bit too close for comfort, but was very happy with his team's effort.

"As of right now we're looking towards Clemson," he said. "They're tough down in the lower weights, and Koll, the number one wrestler in the they have a couple of kids that we

Dean Smith speaks out on shoes

From Associated Press reports

RALEIGH - Shoe contracts worth more than $100,000 for some college basketball coaches should be replaced by tenure to supplement coaches' incomes, North Carolina coach Dean Smith said Tuesday.

Smith was one of several coaches commenting on shoe contracts during a teleconference with ACC coaches after an Atlanta newspaper reported that Georgia Tech's Bobby Cremins had agreed to a $160,000 contract with Nike last week.

"There certainly appears to be (a double standard)," Smith said. "I was ications director of Nike, said the one of the last ones to ever have a company gives colleges about 100 type of contract. Then, I went to the pairs of shoes each year but players university and shared the money with are not required to wear the brand

"No. 1, you are a professor," added Smith, who said he signed his shoe contract six years ago. "But you don't have tenure. I think it would be a good tradeoff to have tenure (instead

Fenner's trial date postponed

From Associated Press reports

VARSITY 182

The trial of former North Carolina ask for the postponement. football star Derrick Fenner on drug and weapons charges was indefinitely postponed Monday, and Fenner's lawyer said he felt sure charges against his client would be dropped.

"I am confident Derrick will come out of this case with no criminal record whatsoever," Fred Joseph said after meeting in the chambers of tion with the drug-related shooting

"I believe that will happen. I will be having discussions with prosecutors and the court on a continuous basis. It's conceivable that this can be resolved without a trial."

Fenner already has made one trip through the county court system. He was charged with murder in connec-

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. - Circuit Court Judge Jacob Levin to death of Marcellus Leach, 19, in the courtyard of a Hyattsville, Md., apartment complex last May. Prosecutors dropped that charge in November, saying they didn't have evidence placing Fenner at the scene.

But Fenner, a former star tailback, still had to face charges stemming from a traffic stop in his hometown of Oxon Hill on April 6.

Fenner was accused of illegally transporting a handgun and possessing cocaine after he was pulled over by county police while driving a friend's truck. When Fenner couldn't produce a registration certificate, police searched the truck and found a .38-caliber revolver and ammunition under the front seat, and a plastic bag containing 25 vials of cocaine in Fenner's jacket pocket.
