Wrestler Koll caps outstanding career with Patterson Medal

Well, Rob Koll has done it again. The senior from State College, Pa., has won another award. This time it's the prestigious Patterson Medal, given to this institution's most outstanding senior athlete.

All Koll did to earn it was win the NCAA wrestling championship, becoming only UNC's second national champion, and trashing school and conference records in the meantime. His career has seen his accumulate almost every wrestling award and superlative possible.

Koll was ranked the number one wrestler in the country for the entire wrestling season, as he posted a 37-0 record against collegiate competition and a 41-1 record overall.

In February, he defeated Glen Lanham of Oklahoma State in the National Wrestling Coaches Association All-Star tournament, winning that for the second year in a row. Last summer he was chosen to travel with an NCAA all-star team which went to Italy.

In addition to his individual accomplishments, he has helped the team win three ACC titles and a second-place finish this year. The team has finished in the top 20 each of Koll's four years, including two top 10 appearances.

The Patterson Medal was established in 1924 by Dr. Joseph Patterson in memory of his brother John Durand Patterson, and each year a committee of athletic officials, faculty members and student representatives gather to select the winner.

The medal is awarded to a UNC senior who has demonstrated general excellence in athletics throughout his career. The award is based on athletic accomplishment, sportsmanship, leadership, and general conduct.
