8 Are you hungry yet? Here it is folks — the annual Bar and Restaurant Guide to soothe your wildest culinary cravings. We've done our best to provide something for everyone's tastes on seven pages. Choose from Greek, Italian, Mexican and Oriental food, sweets, breakfast fare, expensive dining, plus, a look at some of the local watering holes — AND MUCH, MUCH MORE! Since it's Parents' Weekend, show Mom and Dad how it's done in Chapel Hill! (And get them to foot the bill.)

3 Parental units to arrive Yes, boys and girls, we've established that it's Parents' Weekend. So, show Mom and Dad a good time here in Blue Heaven. We've even provided a handy list of all the goings on for your perusal.

3 A fine old dog Well, actually, it's a new dog. Doug Edmunds reviews Let's Active's new album, Every Dog Has Its Day.

4 What a nice guy That's the impression U-desk staff writer Will Spears came away with after his dream-come-true phone interview with Jim Babjek, lead guitarist for the Smithereens. See if you agree with him.

5 A child porn star grows up Is that possible? Joe Bob explores the possibility in his review of "Not of This Earth." And be sure to stay tuned for some insight into the new TV season's "reality-based" programming.

6 Sick minds at the BBC It's true. In this week's graffiti, Richard Smith reveals the horrible perverted goings on in children's television in his day. It's not a pretty picture.

7 On a random note This week Elizabeth Ellen explains that people really do live in a town called Boring, Oregon — and that's just the beginning...

14 No Joshin' What makes the Greensboro-based band Majosha different from other bands is that they prefer to think about the effect of what they want their music to say before they compose anything. Allison Pike gets the scoop on this lively funk band.

15 Kiss is not dead Another review from way underground, brought to you from our own Randal Bullock. This week he reviews Hell-o from Gwar. Definitely not for the faint of heart.

15 Edited 4 television Asserting that television is good, important and maybe even art, Winston Lloyd introduces his column this week. He talks about quality television and he even provides some scary statistics to back up his claims.

16 Cinema Guide No movies reviews this week, but a few new films are opening in the area over the weekend. Lots of flicks to pick and choose from.

18 It's a Fare for all Whether or not your parents are here this weekend, there's always a good reason to go out. Deciding to go out is no problem — deciding where to go may be. Let Week's Fare help you in your quest.
