Gontram runs for class secretary

By WILL SPEARS
Staff Writer

Jeannie Gontram, a junior business administration major from Raleigh, has announced her candidacy for senior class secretary.

Gontram began planning her campaign before Christmas and plans to continue right up to the Feb. 21 election date.

"If you're not willing to work for it, you're not willing to do the job," she said.

Gontram said she wants students to respect the office of senior class secretary and to realize the importance of their vote.

"I want people to care about who they're putting down," she said. "I don't want this to be a poster campaign."

Gontram said the senior class officers were important because they continue to represent their class after graduation as members of the Alumni Association.

"The job doesn't stop after graduation," she said. "The senior class keeps doing it forever."

This year's senior class officers have done a good job, but there is always room for improvement, she said.

Gontram said she would work to improve the agenda for Commencement Weekend by planning events for the entire weekend.

Gontram said she would also help plan programs and publications to help prepare seniors for graduation throughout the whole year. "I think it's important to emphasize life after graduation from the beginning of the year," she said.

She also said she would try to get the class together as a whole more often. She said this year's senior class meetings did not seem to have an "open-door policy." Gontram said she would try to involve as much of the class as possible next year.

"The only way to increase awareness is to get people to the class meetings," she said. "If I could ask for two things, I would ask that everyone vote and that everyone listen when I come talk to them, because I have something to say."

Gontram has given campus tours for the Admissions Office since her freshman year. She was a hall officer when she was a freshman and is currently a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

Ferris, Zeeman enter race for senior class positions

By WILL SPEARS
Staff Writer

Bobby Ferris, a junior chemistry major from Winter Park, Fla., and Greg Zeeman, a junior political science and economics major from Wilmington, have announced their candidacy for senior class president and vice president.

The candidates' campaign, "Focusing on Your Future," centers around strengthening traditions and providing a fresh focus, Ferris said.

Ferris and Zeeman said they would expand commencement by planning an entire weekend of activities for students and their families. These activities would include a band party on Friday, and a barbecue and Baccalaureate service on Saturday, Ferris said.

Ferris and Zeeman also said they planned to create a Senior Resource Center. The center would allow seniors to gain access to alumni in their field of interest and graduate school contacts, Ferris said. The center would also serve as "a future roommate finder," Ferris said, helping students to find potential roommates after graduation.

Ferris and Zeeman said they planned to have senior social events scheduled for the entire 1989-1990 school year. These include a spring "Almost Senior Night Out," senior specials at downtown bars, a Fall Germans dance, and a spring all-campus ball.

Ferris and Zeeman said they planned to create a Peer Advising Program, which would allow seniors to share their experiences with underclassmen.

"One of our real strengths is that through experience we know how to tackle problems," Ferris said. "We think the senior class is strong, but we want to strengthen it through experience and innovation."

Ferris served two terms on Student Congress, was the congress finance committee chairman and is an aide to Student Body President Kevin Martin.

Zeeman has served as president of Magnum Residence Hall, is a member of the Residence Hall Association (RHA) Governing Board and is RHA treasurer.

Witness testifies in case against airplane hijacker

From Associated Press reports

FRANKFURT, West Germany — U.S. Navy diver Robert Stethem said shortly before he was slain on a hijacked TWA jetliner that he was ready to die to save the lives of other passengers, a witness testified Wednesday.

Australian Ruth Henderson told a Frankfurt court how she tried to comfort Stethem after he had been badly beaten by the hijackers of Flight 847 in June 1985.

Stethem was later shot to death and his body thrown onto the runway at Beirut airport.

Henderson, 20, was testifying at the trial of Mohammed Ali Hamadi, a Lebanese Shiite Moslem charged with air piracy and murder in the hijacking of the Athens-to-Rome flight.

Hamadi has admitted taking part in the hijacking but denies shooting Stethem.

Henderson said she sat next to Stethem on the plane for several hours after Stethem, 23, of Waldorf, Md., had been beaten.

The witness, her voice often shaking, said she tried to lift Stethem's spirits by talking about everyday things.

"He was quite badly injured, and he was crying," she told the court. "His injuries included a bleeding head and back. His wrists had been tied very tightly and he had no feeling in

Officials raid homes, offices in Libyan plant investigation

From Associated Press reports

BONN, West Germany — Authorities Wednesday raided the offices of three companies and the homes of 12 people in an investigation of allegations that West German firms helped Libya build a suspected chemical weapons plant.

Some politicians, meanwhile, accused Chancellor Helmut Kohl's government of bungling West Germany's initial response to the allegations, and a magazine reported that companies had helped Iraq build a rocket factory.

Customs authorities searched the offices and homes "on suspicion that export laws had been violated" with deliveries to the Libyan plant, said Hubertus Voegele, spokesman for the prosecutor's office in Offenburg.

He declined to identify the businesses searched, but confirmed that the Imhausen-Chemie firm of Lahr was among them.

Imhausen-Chemie is suspected of playing a major role in building the factory in Rabta, about 60 miles south of the Libyan capital of Tripoli.

U.S. officials say Libya intends to produce poison gas at the plant. Libya says it is a pharmaceutical factory.

West German officials who conducted the searches in cities throughout the country seized a huge quantity of material, especially from Imhausen-Chemie, that will take time to examine, Voegele said.

Allegations of West German involvement in the Libyan plant came to light late last year.
