

Sports

UNC hopes to have Carter-Finley rocking no more

By JAMIE ROSENBERG

Assistant Sports Editor

The Stones have rolled out of Carter-Finley Stadium, and fans in Raleigh will hear music of a different sort this weekend when UNC takes on N.C. State at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Tar Heel coach Mack Brown and his squad hope to have Wolfpack fans singing the blues, but going up against the country's 18th-ranked team, Brown may have trouble just getting satisfaction.

State had UNC under its thumb last year in a 48-3 drubbing of the Tar Heels in Chapel Hill, and the Pack has jumped to a 3-0 start this season, with all three victories against Atlantic Coast Conference foes.

"The question is, 'Is State as good as they were in the past?'" Brown said in his weekly press conference.

The answer, apparently, is yes.

Volleyball aiming high for busy three-match weekend

By NATALIE SEKICKY

Staff Writer

What, besides lots of sleep, are the keys to success when you're playing three volleyball matches in 24 hours?

Focus, relaxation and aggressive play, according to head coach Peggy Bradley-Doppes.

The North Carolina volleyball team will have ample opportunity to prove that hypothesis this weekend. The Tar Heels host Furman at 7:30 Friday, Ball State at noon Saturday and Wyoming at 7:30 Saturday. All matches will be in Charmichael Auditorium.

The Tar Heels (6-1) have lost only to 12th-ranked Kentucky this season, but the youthful team is still struggling to find its identity, said Doppes. "We're improving each match," she said, "but because we're such a young team, we're fighting to establish our court personality. Sometimes we play unbelievably well. We're very aggressive. We take advantage of our height and quickness. "But sometimes the inexperience gives us a hesitant, quiet, tentative personality."

The team is overcoming that inconsistency by simulating games in practice, Bradley-Doppes said. But this weekend's matches will prove even more useful in solving the identity crisis because the competition runs the gamut.

"They're moving the ball so much better right now offensively than we felt they did last year at any time," Brown said, "and they're still playing the same dominant defense."

So, for the first time this season, UNC (1-1) will face a completely balanced football team. Kentucky was strong defensively and could run the ball, but the Wildcats lacked a significant passing attack. VMI was, well, VMI. Now, in North Carolina's first ACC matchup of the season, N.C. State will come at the Tar Heels from all sides with a veteran defensive crew, a consistent running game and one of the best quarterbacks around in Shane Montgomery.

"They have no glaring weaknesses on their football team," Brown said. "As you look at them offensively, they're balanced. They're the first team we've played that can throw it as well as run it."

From a defensive standpoint, the last person the Tar Heels need to see is Montgomery, who has completed 60 percent of his passes this season for 727 yards and five touchdowns. The 6-1, 178-pound senior may delight in picking apart UNC's inexperienced secondary if the Tar Heels can't keep up.

In Torin Dorn, Reggie Clark and Rondell Jones, North Carolina starts three defensive backs who are new at their positions this year. Having them face Montgomery in their third game is like going to a restaurant in Uganda and trying to order a burger.

"This will be a completely new system this weekend for them," Brown said of his secondary. "It will be the first time that those guys have ever played someone that can throw the ball as well as Shane Montgomery, with the experience that he's got.

Montgomery's favorite target will most likely be senior wide receiver Mike Kavulich. Kavulich, with 18 receptions for 274 yards, is on a pace to break State's single season records in both categories.

Complementing Montgomery and Kavulich on offense will be an adequate running game, led by sophomore tailback Anthony Barber, who leads the team in rushing with 170 yards and two touchdowns this season. Sophomore tailback Tyrone Jackson and senior fullback Todd Varn will also be carrying the ball.

State's defense, which returns All-America lineman Ray Agnew and ACC Rookie of the Year Jesse Campbell at strong safety, presents even more bad news for UNC. The Tar Heels only managed six points against Kentucky, and scoring against the Wolfpack, ranked eighth in the nation in defense last season, won't be much easier.

"Defensively, they're very much like Kentucky," Brown said. "Ray Agnew is one of the dominant defensive linemen in the country right now. If you take he and Derek Debnam, two senior tackles, they can give us the same type of problems that the two senior tackles at Kentucky gave us last week in the passing game."

Brown plans to stick with Jonathan Hall at quarterback, but even if Hall does manage to get the ball off, he'll still have to contend with Campbell and Fernandez Vincent, who leads the ACC with three interceptions, in the Wolfpack secondary.

After Hall's less than impressive 42-yard passing effort against the Wildcats, Brown may stick to his running game as much as possible, using tailbacks Eric Blount and Randy Joran (126 yards each on the season) and fullback Michael Benefield (six carries for 32 yards against Kentucky).

But even then, UNC will have to get by linebackers Billy Ray Haynes and Bobby Houston, who lead State with 33 and 25 tackles, respectively.

So while on paper North Carolina may be outclassed in just about every category, consistent efforts in the Tar Heel secondary and running game could make this one close.

In the immortal words of 6-5, 264-pound defensive tackle Cecil Gray, "There's no reason to be afraid of anybody we play. We put our pants on just like them."

DTH Picks of the Week

The Dodgers won the Series. The Cold War is thawing. Television shows like "Small Wonder" (with that obnoxious little red-haired girl/robot) get programmed on national TV. What more could happen in this crazy ironic world?

Well, John (I did it before and I can do it again) Bland could go 10-0 to vault into a first place tie in the DTH Picks of the Week. Yep, it happened.

As if that wasn't enough, we pulled off a major coup in the DTH Guest Picker of the Week. Through painstaking effort, we corralled a gem, nay a prize worthy of greatness. We've got . . . (dramatic pause) Kim Conrad boys. Yes, Kim Conrad (we're going to print her name in bold a lot), Playboy center-fold and Hugh Hefner's wife. Suffice to say we expect to sit back and enjoy this one awhile. We may even walk away with some free Playboy propaganda.

We'll even resist the obvious jokes that could be pulled from the fact that she picked two teams named Trojans, one named Gamecocks and every team with a Tiger-like name. Rawrrrrrr.

But on to more pressing matters. Bland's perfect week of picks now ties him with Head Honcho Dave (You'll never guess how I got Kim Conrad — hah, we did it again) Glenn (9-1 last week) for first place with 22-8 records.

The fight for No. 1 on the DTHPOTW panel is tighter than a Cecil Gray bear hug as we head into Week Four. A

Record	Dave Glenn	Andy Podolsky	John Bland	Jamie Rosenberg	Playboy's Kim Conrad
Winning Percentage	(22-8)	(21-9)	(22-8)	(21-9)	(Guest)
Games of the Week	(.733)	(.700)	(.733)	(.700)	(who cares?)

UNC at N.C. State	NCSU	NCSU	NCSU	NCSU	UNC
Maryland at Clemson	Clem	Clem	Clem	Clem	Clem
Duke at Virginia	UVA.	UVA.	UVA.	UVA.	UVA.
Georgia Tech at So. Carolina	USC	USC	USC	USC	USC
Wake Forest at Army	Army	Wake	Army	Army	Army
Michigan at UCLA	Mich	Mich	Mich	Mich	UCLA
Ohio State at USC	USC	USC	USC	USC	USC
Arizona at Washington	Ariz	Wash	Ariz	Wash	Ariz
Syracuse at Pittsburgh	Pitt	Pitt	Syr.	Pitt	Pitt
Idaho at Weber State	Idaho	Idaho	Idaho	Idaho	WSU

Campus Calendar

The DTH Campus Calendar is a daily listing of University-related activities sponsored by academic departments, student services and student organizations officially recognized by the Division of Student Affairs. To appear in Campus Calendar, announcements must be submitted on the Campus Calendar form by NOON one business day before the announcement is to run. Saturday and Sunday events are printed in Friday's calendar and must be submitted on the Wednesday before the announcement is to run. Forms and a drop box are located outside the DTH office, 104 Union. Items of Interest lists ongoing events from the same campus organizations and follows the same deadline schedule as Campus Calendar. Please use the same form.

FRIDAY

1 p.m.: The Muslim Students' Association of UNC-Chapel Hill would like to inform you that the Friday prayer will be held at 208 Union until 2 p.m.

2 p.m.: University Career Planning and Placement Services will hold Job Hunt 101: Basic information on how to use the UCPPS office for seniors and graduate students in 210 Hanes Hall.

3 p.m.: The Carolina Committee on Central America will start its 10th year of activism with an organizational meeting in 220 Union. All students who value peace with justice are encouraged to join.

5:30 p.m.: Big Buddy group leader meeting in the Campus Y.

6:30 p.m.: Hillel will have reform and conservative shabbat services and dinner with Duke at Hillel, 210 W. Cameron Ave.

7 p.m.: The CUAB Film Committee will show "Rain Man" in the Union Auditorium. Admission: $1.50. Showings also at 9:30 and midnight.

9 p.m.: The Union Cabaret presents the reggae sounds of Rolly Gray in the lower level of the Union. Tickets available at the Union desk only $2!

SATURDAY

7 p.m.: The CUAB Film Committee will show "Body Heat" in the Union Auditorium. Another showing will be at 9:30 p.m.

9 p.m.: The Union Cabaret: Audience suggestion guides the numerous antics of the Transactors Improvisational Theater troop in the lower level of the Union. Tickets available at the Union desk. FREE!

SUNDAY

11 a.m.: The UNC Gaming Club will be holding a meeting in 210 Union. All are invited to come.

2 p.m.: The UNC Field Hockey Club will practice on the Astroturf.

4 p.m.: The UNC Music Department presents the UNC Faculty Brass Quintet Concert in Hill Hall Auditorium. FREE! Members James Ketch, Don Eagle, Pam Halverson, Keith Jackson and Dan Sipes will feature works by Giles Farnby, Verne Reynolds, Jan Bach, Joseph Lamb, Tom Turpin and Fats Waller.

7 p.m.: The CUAB Film Committee will show "Forbidden Planet" in the Union Auditorium. Another showing will be at 9:30 p.m.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Big Buddy applications are due today by 5 p.m. at the Campus Y.

UCPPS: Students interested in qualifying for positions with the National Security Agency must take the PQT Exam on Oct. 28, 1989. (Register by Oct. 13, 1989). Booklets are available in 211 Hanes Hall. The PQT Exam is NOT required for students majoring in math, computer science, Slavic, Asian and Middle Eastern languages.

Elections Board applications are due at the Union desk or Suite C today!

The Graduate and Professional Student Federation offers information on the in-state tuition application process. Check the bulletin board outside Suite D in the Union for details.

Carolina Union Underground invites you to join a league! Sign up now until Sunday, Sept. 24 in the Union Underground to join a bowling league. Games will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

UCPPS is collecting all resumes of seniors interested in working for non-profit organizations after graduation. Bring your resume to 211 Hanes Hall between Oct. 16, 1989, and Jan. 19, 1990, for inclusion in a book from UNC, NCSU, NCCU and Duke to be sent to NPOs.

Auditions for the UNC Pauper Players' production of "Grease" will be held from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Sept. 25 in Person Recital Hall. Actors, singers and dancers prepare one song (accompanist provided) and one monologue. Questions? Call Scott Gold or Angela Coin: 933-2881 or 933-2968.

Field Hockey gears for ODU

Unbeaten Heels look to topple nation's best

By NEIL AMATO

Staff Writer

The scene: Norfolk, Va., November 13, 1988.

The game: NCAA field hockey quarterfinals — No. 1 Old Dominion versus second-ranked UNC.

ODU freshman Marije Jurriens flips a penalty stroke past UNC goalkeeper Evelien Spee with less than 18 minutes remaining. Jurriens' goal gives the Monarchs a 2-1 lead and a trip to the Final Four, where they'll be crowned national champion.

This weekend, however, the 4-0 Tar Heels are looking to crown the Monarchs themselves in Norfolk as they take on still-No. 1 and still-undefeated ODU Saturday night at 7 p.m. Sunday, the Tar Heels tangle with another tough squad, sixth-ranked Northeastern.

North Carolina coach Karen Shelton said her squad is up for the key contest, but it's not exactly an item of revenge for UNC, whose only two losses last season came at the sticks of ODU.

"I don't know that it's so much revenge," Shelton said. "I think they're just excited about the challenge. It's not the biggest game of the season, but it's the biggest game of the moment. ODU definitely has a mystique."

Shelton got to view the Monarchs in a preseason scrimmage when her squad was very young, especially at the backline. But defensive inexperience is something ODU has also had to get over.

"They're very similar to our team," Shelton said. "They lost a lot in their backfield. They have a very young defense, so they're in the same boat as we are. Originally, I thought they were stronger defensively, but with the development of our defense, we've come a long way and we now have a weapon in our defense."

So far, the Tar Heel backs have performed almost flawlessly. The four-some of Terri Buck, Nancy Lang, Jennifer Clark and Beth Taterosian have aided goalkeeper Evelien Spee in giving up only two goals in four wins. And Shelton was quick to point out that the two goals scored against UNC haven't come versus the starting backline.

But Shelton didn't want to say that Old Dominion isn't deserving of its No. 1 ranking.

"I do think Old Dominion and North Carolina are the two best teams in the country," Shelton said. "I don't think that's a fluke thing by any means. I really think person for person we are a stronger team, but it all comes down to how those 22 young women perform at the given time."

Two of those 22 players are midfielders Imke Lempers and Maaike Hilbrand, a pair of Netherlands on opposite sides. The Tar Heels' Lempers, a freshman who was named ACC Player of the Week for her seven-goal performance in two wins, will be assigned to mark ODU's most dominant player, the imposing Hilbrand.

Shelton thinks that honorable mention All-America Laurel Hershey can take care of another Dutch player, Winnifred Sanders. With that setup, the Tar Heels will boast Leslie Lyness against a basically untested and unknown Monarch middle.

"If we can neutralize those players and take their effectiveness away but still maintain our effectiveness, then we're going to win the game," Shelton said.

So far this season, Shelton has had nothing bad to say about her squad. How can you criticize a team that's scored 29 goals in four games? Yes, the Tar Heels haven't exactly been playing top-flight competition, and that's one reason UNC is ready to take on the Monarchs.

"I feel really good with the young women we have in there," Shelton said. "I really feel they'll rise to the occasion, because they're excited about this game. I hate to say it, but winning 5-0 and 6-0 and 11-0, it gets old. That's not fun."

"The fun is to match wits against an opponent of equal or better ability. Everyone looks forward to playing the tough games."

Parking Problems?

solution...

A Honda Scooter!

on sale now with savings up to $400!

HONDA

Come ride with us.

TRIANGLE CYCLES

4503 Chapel Hill Blvd., Durham • 489-7478

4503 Chapel Hill Blvd., Durham • 489-7478

TAR HEEL SPORTS SHORTS

SATURDAY

VOLLEYBALL VS. VOLLEYBALL

VS.

BALL STATE VS. WYOMING

12:00 Noon 7:30 pm

Carmichael Auditorium

Hardee's

4503 Chapel Hill Blvd., Durham • 489-7478

HE'S NOT HERE

on the Village Green.

presents

Trinidad North

(Reggae)

FRIDAY, SEPT. 22

And Don't Forget

Our Tuesday Night Specials!

Blue Cups $1<sup>50</sup> Pitchers $2<sup>50</sup>

4503 Chapel Hill Blvd., Durham • 489-7478