Calvin and Hobbes
 I'D SAY I'VE HAD A PRETTY GOOD LIFE SO FAR.
 IN FACT, LOOKING BACK, I HAVE ONLY ONE REGRET.
 WHAT'S THAT?
 I REGRET I WASN'T BORN WITH OPPOSABLE TOES.

 "GOTTA BE. LOOK! IT'S TYPED! BOOP-SEE CAN'T TYPE!"

Name
 is a distinctive association of that name with Chapel Hill.
 Alumni are the most ardent supporters of the bill. Donald Boulton, vice chancellor for student affairs, said: "I've been hearing that debate for all the 19 years I've been here. It's an emotional issue. It's something that means a great deal to the alumni of this institution."
 But some members of the University community oppose the bill.
 J.P. Regan, a sophomore from Lumberton, said: "I think they should leave it Chapel Hill because the name Chapel Hill for so long has meant prestige."
 Former University President William Friday said, "I think it's a mistake. It's

Graduate
 Richard Danek is a second-year graduate student who is completing his master's degree in speech communication.
 "I enjoy being a graduate student," Danek said. "It gives me a chance to work with the professors more closely.
 "I also am able to study more of the subjects which I'm really interested in," he said.
 Right now, Danek is working on his graduate thesis. "The thesis is the last big hurdle of graduate school," Danek said.
 After completing his thesis, Danek will attend law school at UNC.
 Only three of the many different graduate students at UNC, Nitoli, Roper and Danek all agree their lives are very different from the life of a typical undergraduate student. They all hope, however, to be able to work with undergraduates in a constructive manner - inside or outside the classroom - to accomplish their goals.
