

Women's Club Will Entertain Cabinet

The University Women's Club will treat members of the Sir Walter Cabinet to an afternoon of activities on the UNC campus on Thursday.

The Sir Walter Cabinet is composed of wives of past and present members of the Legislature, wives of North Carolina governors, wives of N. C. Supreme Court judges, past and present women legislators, and wives of the members of the Council of State.

The fete will feature a coffee to be held in the banquet room of the Morehead Planetarium at noon. Following the coffee, members of the Sir Walter Cabinet may tour the Morehead Building's galleries and science exhibits. There will be hostesses available to escort them through the building.

At 1:30, the members of the Sir Walter Cabinet will visit the rehearsal room in the new wing of Hill Music Hall where UNC's Dr. Erle Peacock, nationally recognized plastic surgeon and one of North Carolina's three young men of the year, will talk on his work on hand rehabilitation.

The Sir Walter Cabinet members will visit Ackland Art Museum at 2:15 p.m., where Art Professor John Schnorrenberg and Miss Frances Heumer will present talks.

At 3:15 p.m., hostesses will take the visitors through the new seven-story Ehringhaus men's dormitory.

The UNC Women's Club last entertained the members of the Sir Walter Cabinet in February, 1961, when about 325 visitors came to the campus.

All members of the Sir Walter Cabinet are invited to attend this year's program of the Women's Club.

Members of the receiving line at the Morehead Planetarium building will be: Mrs. Roger Kiser of Laurinburg, president of the Sir Walter Cabinet; Mrs. William C. Friday, wife of the University president; Mrs. William B. Aycock, wife of the University chancellor; Mrs. Urban T. Holmes Jr., president of the UNC Women's Club; and Mrs. Carl H. Pegg, wife of the chairman of the UNC Department of History.

Wives of professors in the Department of History will serve as hostesses for the afternoon's activities.

Mrs. E. A. Cameron, social chairman of the Women's Club, is in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Dorothy Mullen is publicity chairman of the club.

Mrs. Don Matheson Appointed Chairman

Appointment of Mrs. Donald S. Matheson of Hillsboro as Orange County membership chairman of the Roanoke Island Historical Association has been announced by Mrs. Luther H. Hodges of Washington, D. C., the 1963 State membership chairman of the R. I. H. A.

The Roanoke Island association produces THE LOST COLONY, Paul Green's symphonic drama which will be presented for the 26th season in 1963, every night except Sunday, June 29 through September 1, in the Waterfront Theatre on Roanoke Island. Special Sunday night performances are scheduled June 30, August 18 and September 1.

Mrs. Fred W. Morrison, another North Carolinian who now resides in the Nation's capital, is chairman of the R. I. H. A. She and Mrs. Hodges, wife of the Secretary of Commerce and former Tar Heel Governor, emphasized that association memberships "are vital to the financial success of the annual LOST COLONY production."

"We are happy," said Mrs. Morrison, "that we operated 'in the black' last year, without any State aid, but it was made possible largely throughout the enrollment of 819 members by county chairmen, under the leadership of Mrs. Sam J. Ervin, Jr."

New Hope Community News

MRS. SAM RAY — Phone 8-3792

Mrs. Mattie Craig has returned to her home from Watts Hospital where she was a patient for two weeks. Her sister, Mrs. Nannie Lloyd of Buie's Creek, is visiting with Mrs. Craig and her daughter, Miss Eleanor Craig. Mrs. Craig is showing continued improvement.

Mrs. John Freeland Sr. is improved after being confined to her home for more than a week because of flu.

May none of your wishes fall in a trap—My Birthday wish for you, Miss Betty Lou Tapp.

Attending a Presbyterian Development Fund "Kickoff Dinner" in Greensboro last Tuesday night were: Mrs. B. F. Spencer, president of the Women of New Hope Church; Elvin Cates, Stewardship chairman; Robert Nunn, treasurer; Sam Blackwood and R. A. Witherspoon, Elder representatives; and the pastor of New Hope, the Rev. Samuel Fudge.

A World Mission Program followed a fellowship supper last night in the fellowship hall of New Hope Church. Members brought covered dishes which were served buffet style. Benny Freeland carried his mother, Mrs. Louis Freeland, to Greensboro last Friday night where they attended a showing of the "Ice Capades."

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ray send Birthday Greetings to their son, Sam Jr. who had a birthday on Friday.

Dr. George Hyatt, director of Agricultural Extension in N. C., was guest speaker for a Community meeting held Tuesday night in the fellowship hall of New Hope Church. Dr. Hyatt gave a practical and interesting message. He is in touch with what is going on in rural N. C. Refreshments were served during the social which followed.

The New Hope Home Demonstration Club met on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Foster Tapp. A very informative and interesting demonstration was given on "Selection of Men's and Boys' Clothing." Following the demonstration and business meeting, Mrs. Tapp served a sweet course with coffee to the eleven members present.

Women Trustees Will Visit Campus

The women members of the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina will visit the UNC campus February 25 and 26 to tour the newly completed University buildings and to meet UNC women students, as guests of these women students.

Special features of the trustees' visit will be a luncheon in the South Room of Lenoir Hall on Tuesday, February 26 at 12:30 p.m. Women students of the University will have lunch with the trustees.

Another feature will be a reception in the newly renovated women's residence hall, Cobb Dormitory, at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, immediately preceding the luncheon. All women who are in the graduate school are urged to attend this reception to meet the trustees. The last campus visit by the woman members of the Board of Trustees was in February, 1960.

The trustees will arrive at UNC Monday afternoon, and will dine at 6 p.m. at Spencer Dormitory, the only women's residence hall with its own dining room.

At 7:45 p.m., the trustees will witness a women students program explaining women's campus organizations to be given at the home of Consolidated University President and Mrs. William C. Friday.

Members of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority will give a coffee in honor of the trustees at their sorority house at 9:45 p.m. UNC student officers will also attend the reception.

While on campus, the trustees will stay in women's residence halls and will attend dormitory house meetings held in each dormitory after closing hours. At these meetings, the trustees will witness the self-governing procedures of each dormitory.

The trustees will inspect the University's new language building, Dey Hall, at 9:45 a.m., Tuesday. Dr. Sterling Stouedemire, professor and chairman of the Department of Romance Languages, will take the trustees on a tour of the building. Julian Mason, assistant professor of English and director of Student Financial Aid, will address the trustees on financial aid, and Joe Galloway, director of Student Placement, will speak on placement.

Following the 12:30 luncheon in Lenoir Hall, the trustees will tour Ehringhaus Dormitory, one of the two new men's dormitories completed last summer. The trustees will complete their visit with a tour of the newly completed School of Public Health. All deans, heads of administrative divisions, and Consolidated University officials will meet the trustees at this time during the tour of the new building.

Arrangements for the trustees' visit are being handled through the office of Katherine Kennedy Carmichael, Dean of Women.

Hillsboro Buildings Labeled 'Historic'

Ten Hillsboro buildings are to be designated as Historic American Buildings in the near future, according to the Eastern office in Philadelphia of the National Park Service, U. S. Dept. of the Interior. This will bring the town's total of Historic American Buildings to eleven. The Old Courthouse, designed and built by John Berry in 1844-45 and usually regarded as his masterpiece, was so designated in 1962.

Charles E. Peterson, eminent Philadelphia architect, in December made the recommendation that the National Park Service add ten Hillsboro buildings to its Historic American Buildings Survey. The recommendation was made on the basis of the extensive documentary research now being carried on by members of the new Hillsborough Historical Society. The State Dept. of Archives and History, in endorsing the ten nominations, noted that the citations would "really... put Hillsboro on architectural and historical maps."

An architectural photographer from the National Park Service will arrive in Hillsboro on April 8 to make sets of architectural photographs for each building and also possibly for additional buildings. Measured drawings will then be made in the summer by State College School of Design students and professors. Finally, detailed, authoritative written documentation from deeds, wills, and various records will be deposited in the Library of Congress.

The list of buildings to be cited will not be announced until the entire procedure is completed. "This will add an extra touch of interest to our Spring Pilgrimage on April 27-28," Mrs. H. W. Moore, General Chairman of the Pilgrimage, said. "Our visitors this spring will just have to guess whether they are walking through an official Historic American Building or not. Eventually, of course, markers will indicate the ten buildings." Historical Society members are hoping that the eleven honored buildings can be pictured and described in a separate picture folder.

BACK FROM MEXICO

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Holland and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Tillman returned to Chapel Hill last week from a 10-day trip to Mexico. In Mexico they visited Mrs. Tillman's parents at Cuernavaca.

MRS. EVANGELINE DARITY

Women's Honorary Taps Mrs. Darity

Mrs. Evangeline R. Darity of Chapel Hill was tapped into the University's highest women's honorary, the Order of the Valkyries, in pre-dawn ceremonies last Tuesday.

Mrs. Darity was tapped as an honorary member of the Valkyries, which is limited in membership to two per cent of the coed student body. The organization corresponds to the men's Order of the Golden Fleece, and was founded in 1941 to replace Alpha Kappa Gamma, national women's honorary society.

The citation naming Mrs. Darity called her "one whose life is lived beyond our modern mental barriers, whose vitality will not be curbed," and continued, "Mrs. Darity's work has been motivated by the ideals of human rights and world peace, and to this work she has brought her personal warmth and patient understanding. For two years, Mrs. Darity has been a valuable addition to the community as a teacher, as a board member of the Chapel Hill Pre-School, as a participant in the adult-education program and in other University and community organizations. Her life and work express her tolerant perseverance against those customs and beliefs which stifle human potential."

Members of the Valkyries are recognized for character, leadership, scholarship and service.

Shower Is Held For Miss Williford

On Wednesday evening, Miss Carolyn Williford, bride elect, was entertained at a lingerie shower by Misses Freida Gulledge and Virginia Pack, bridesmaids.

On arrival the bride was presented a pink sweetheart rosebud corsage by the hostesses. The bride elect was radiantly dressed in a winter white wool sheath dress accented by crystal pink jewelry.

The guests were presented individual pink Bride's Books as favors which were made in shape of a wedding bell with a bow and small pink butterflies on front. The Bride's Book consisted of a toast to the Bride and Groom as well as various bridal games.

The guests then were invited into the candlelight dining room. The table was overlaid with a beautiful imported white Italian tablecloth. A pink parasol was the decorative centerpiece with pink roses, butterflies, and birds which were handmade. Pink punch with floating flaming candles and bridal cakes decorated with pink roses and bells carried out the decor. Tasty butter mints and salted mixed nuts were also served.

One side of the dining room contained wooden built-in shelves which beautifully displayed the many gifts. This was decorated with a large wedding bell centering the shelves which was balanced by two smaller bells on each end, all of which were decorated in the festive bridal colors. The shelves were then decorated with small handmade birds, flowers, and butterflies which displayed themselves between the gifts.

The bride received many lovely and useful gifts.

The WSCS of the Carrboro Methodist Church held a study course, "Responsible Adults for Tomorrow's World," last Sunday afternoon at the church, led by Mrs. H. C. Watson, Jr. The course had two sessions, broken by a covered dish supper.

My community was saddened last week by the death of Mary Vaughn, whose lot adjoined mine from the back. She and I often talked while we both were busy working in our yards. She was always busy working at something. A resident of Carrboro for many, many years, she was a quiet woman and loved by all who knew her. She is the second neighbor I have lost within three months, the first being Mrs. Margaret Bryson.

Sick list: Joe Parker, Offie Durham, Mrs. Alice McKnight, Tete Lloyd, and Earl Perry. They are improving.

Mrs. Fletcher Strickland of Argo, Illinois, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bradshaw and other relatives, and was stricken with the flu this past Sunday while at church. She is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Friddle and daughter Theresa, visited Mr. and Mrs. Deward Pepper the past Sunday, and a family party was held in celebration of Theresa's third birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Jordan of Hillsboro visited Mrs. Mary Hollingsworth Sunday.
