A PRESENT SOCIAL EVENT.

WAS THE ENTERTAINER in Honor of Miss Roseman.

On the evening, August 13th, 230 Market Bowers delightfully entertained a number of her friends for an supplementary to her guest, Miss Roseman, of Enfield.

At nine o'clock the guests seated their tables and awaited the skill, science and "luck" of the card game, until eleven-thirty when the scores were being reviewed. Mr. J. W. Cotton secured the highest score among the guests for which he was awarded the title of "king of cards."

The "Little Pilgrims" were Miss Ellen Speed and Master Luther Purpington, who had come from the land of China seeking "Mother Church," who was personified by Miss Anna B. Clark.

These little folks had the chief dramatic action of the play and did their parts admirably, while Miss Clark rendered her part in her usual effective style.

Troy Anderson was Christopher (Christ bearer or carrier) and acted as the conductor (or bearer) of the different personified officers of the Book of Common Prayer. He ushered these personified officers of the Prayer Book into the presence of Mother Church and the Little Pilgrims, where each office in turn instructed the Pilgrims as to its history, use and meaning.

The symbolism was carried out in minute detail, the ratification, preface, calendar and all, being visibly put before the audience.

When the entire book was completely "bodied forth" Messrs. Troy and Douglass Anderson, representing Edward VI., "sometime King in merry England," who collected, correlated and arranged the English Prayer Book, bound the parts all securely together by means of broad red bands, and presented the bound book to the "Little Pilgrims" from the Land of Darkness.

There were over fifty in the cast, and the play was very quickly gotten up. In spite of these two facts the results obtained did great credit to the abilities of the managers of the performance.

The spectacular feature of the play should not go unmentioned. The scenic effect was pleasing in the extreme to the artistic eye, while a well trained choir, which sang between the entrances of the various characters added much to delight the ear.

Miss Lucia Privett, of Goldsboro, who gave three selections on the violin, was a grateful addition to the program and one which was enthusiastically received by the audience.

The music was under the direction of Miss Robe Shields. Mrs. Albertson and Miss Cornelia Josey assisted the managers.

The proceeds were for the benefit of Thompson Orphanage. The music was under the direction of Miss Robe Shields. Mrs. Albertson and Miss Cornelia Josey assisted the managers.

AT BELL'S SCHOOL HOUSE.

Most Enjoyable Social Affair Given by The Young Men.

Reported for The Commonwealth.

On Friday evening, August 16th, quite a large company of friends and visitors from various and sundry places assembled to witness and enjoy the banquet tendered them by the young men surrounding the country of Bell's school house.

While we are all aware that the prospects looked very bright for rain, the young people rushed on and into the dancing hall until it was filled to its utmost. Seats were arranged both on the inside and the outside of the building until every one was accommodated.

The banquet and the lacteal combination was presided over and managed in such an order as to regulate the sustenance for the inner man between each individual present.

After every one was supplied with all that hunger or thirst could demand, some one announced there was a cake to be contested for, and the best looking girl present was to receive it. There were several nominees of beauty, running with all the speed their friends saw fit to give them, Misses Lelia House, Inez Gray and Della Roebuck, of Williamston, were in the lead, Miss House winning the cake on the first ballot. The managers decided to extend the time and cast a second ballot, which resulted in Miss Roebuck's favor by a very small margin.

Mr. Chas. L. Staton, of Scotland Neck, in presenting the cake, congratulated Miss Roebuck on her successful run over such strong competition. While Mr. Staton spoke very complimentary of the Halifax girls and emphasized the fact that they held a place in the very first ranks in the battle of beauty, and while he was a little partial to the Halifax girls, he stated in his presentation that the young men on this particular occasion showed good judgment when they cast their ballots for Miss Roebuck, of Williamston.

The orchestra led by Prof. E. P. Weeks played many beautiful selections. Waltzing, two-stepping, the Boston dip, the Canadian turkey trot, were some of the features and pleasures of the evening. The spectators were lending an eager ear to the soft touch of the music and taking every advantage of private courtship while the music was bearing the secrets from one to another with all its sweetness and melody. Regardless of the warm weather, and the like of electric fans, each every one declared that it had been one of the most enjoyable occasions this summer.

Mr. Gray's Dinner.

Reported.

Friday the splendid country home of Mr. John B. Gray, just out of town, was the scene of perhaps one of the most delightful social events of the season, when a reunion of a house party, composed mainly of Scotland Neck young people, recently held at Va. Beach.

The party gathered for the picnic, about fifty in number, drove out to the home of Mr. Gray in automobiles and by midday a happy company was ready to do full justice to the elegant spread of barbecue, brunswick stew, chicken, ham, and, as one put it, almost everything in the "eating line."

Besides the local members of the house party there were present Miss Lucia Privett, of Goldsboro, W. A. Wyatt, of Raleigh, Rev. O. A. Moore and J. C. Kelly, of Roanoke Rapids.

At a late hour in the afternoon the merry company composing the 1912 Scotland Neck-Virginia Beach house party dispersed, declaring it to be the crowning event of all the many pleasant gatherings of these happy young people during the summer of 1912.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J.
