Alleged Infanticide

Sarah Denton, a negro woman, charged with concealing or destroying her infant child, born on 29th ult., was tried on Thursday last before J E. Hill J. P. Col. B. R. Moore the Solicitor of the Criminal Court prosecuted and Hon. D. L. Russell appeared for the defense. The most absurd and blasphemous expressions had been indulged in by the prisoner to account for her former condition and she persistently protested her innocence. The case produced great excitement and interest among the colored people, some of whom doubtless believed the woman's absurd declarations, relative to her previous condition. The Justice required a justified bond of $200 which was with skill and precision. Their left Wilmington, we understand, for given and the defendant discharged.
