We take it, that every one will admit that party organization and discoulinh are necessary to party +ffi grantey and success. When the proper is field, no one has a right to bult, on if dissatisfied. Much less has by one, to lend himself to the opposition, to defeat the candidate of the party. If any man, it matters not who, does so, it will not do to reward him by favors and confidence in the luture. Such a course would be putting a premium on unfaithfulness and ambitious place-seeking. It would weaken the organization, and tend to demoralization. The idea that any man or men are above party, or that the party cannot get along without any one man, or any dezen men, principles and organization of the party are paramount to the claims of | relief. The trouble is constitutional and any man or set of men. Ary man has a right to lay his claims before the people-any section has a right would prove an injury, in the end, by to present its services and ask ree g its leading to imprudence in bunn as nation; yet, if the people-the masses and fostering extravagance in living, of the party-through their properly organized agent, do not allow those claims or reward those services, then is at present. It gives us sincere pleasure to copy the above. Hon, W. R. Cox is one of our public men of whom every rue North Carolinian feels proud He is a model man and judge and richly deserves all the encountries heaped upon him. He would dignify and honor any position.

The Committee on Military Affairs of the House of Representatives have agreed upon a bill making an appropriation for the support of the Federal Array, omitting to insert a clause forbidding the unlawful use of troops in the South. There are Democrats in the House, however, who do not fancy the omission, and we think they are right. We think Mr. Hayes ought to be sternly rebuked for undertaking to apport a standing aimy by means unknown to the Constitution and laws of the country. Such a gr. ss usurpation of unlawful authority ought no to be allowed to pass without formal and serious rebuke. In addition to this "fast bind, fast find" is our motto. it may be that Mr. Hayes will not use the army unlawfully, but we are not willing to trust him or any other man just now.
